MSC To Highlight Women's Program

Homemakers who would like to start off the New Year with a worthy collection of bright and shiny new ideas will plan to come to Farmers' Week at Michigan State College.

Farmers' Week will be held for the thirty-fourth annual time at East Lansing from January 24-28. Homemakers meetings have been planned for Tuesday through Thursday, Dean Marie Dye, School of Home Economics, announces.

PRACTICALITY STRESSED
All phases of homemaking will be discussed by well-known personalities in the various fields. New and practical information of use to farm women will be emphasized.

Rachel Martens, whose articles you have read with interest in the Farm Journal magazine, will discuss the latest ideas in her special field of home furnishings.

Getting your money's worth in household equipment is a problem and a subject that will be reported by Daisy Davis of Ohio State University's school of home economics.

STYLE REVIEW
Last year's packed house for the style revue by MSC home economics students was evidence of the popularity of the event which will be held again this year. Traditionally it will be held under the capable direction of Marion Hillhouse of the MSC department of textiles. Foreign students representing countries will present glimpses of women in their home lands. Jeanette Lee, assistant to the dean of home economics, will lead the discussion.

Agent Karl Bailey Is Honored For Outstanding Work

Distinguished Service Wins National Award

Oakland County's agricultural agent, Karl D. Bailey, was recently given national recognition for his outstanding work with the Michigan Extension Service award.

The award was made at the annual meeting of the National Association of County Agents in Chicago, November 30.

Bailey, who is retiring president of the Michigan Association of County Agents, has served the residents of highly populated Oakland County since 1931.

Born on a South Dakota farm, Bailey graduated from Michigan State College in 1921. He taught vocational agriculture at Holly, Michigan, for 10 years before joining the Michigan Extension Service.

Since 1931 he has developed extensive and diversified programs in general farming, home gardening, orcharding, dairying and 4-H Club work. Bailey has built up an outstanding youth program in the highly industrial areas around Pontiac and Detroit, and more than 2,000 boys and girls are enrolled in the 4-H Club work in this county this year.

It is largely through his efforts that the county continues near the lead in agriculture, in spite of the highly industrialized development that has taken place in Oakland County in recent years.

A soil conservation program, now getting under way, has been one of Bailey's recent projects. Two other Michigan county agents who were also given the distinguished service award were Leo Arnold of Ottawa County and Arthur Gilden of Grand Traverse County.

Reports Featured ON CROP Project

News of the progress of the Oregon Rural Overseas Program is being featured on a special broadcast each week from WKAR, the Michigan State College station.

Heard each Tuesday on the Farm Service Hour at 12:15 to 12:30 p.m., the program gives the latest details of the CROP drive to help the needy people of Europe. CROP is asking each Michigan farm family to donate produce that can be sent to aid these people. The WKAR program ends January 25.

The Farm Service Hour will cover spot news on all days as the CROP campaign develops in the state, especially during CROP Week, December 26 to January 2, when progress reports of house to house canvass will be made.

Grant Salisbury, director of farm programs for WKAR, asks that anyone having news of the CROP campaign in his county or community, send it to WKAR for use on the program.

KNOWING HOW isn't always enough . . .

All your knowledge about farming won't be of much use if your farm equipment isn't ready when you need it.

Remember, every machine must be working just right to get a good job done in each crop. And to make sure they'll be 100%, it's best to have them checked over and repaired plenty of time ahead of work seasons.

To get all equipment in first class shape, do this first: put your tractor and implements on our Early Bird Service Schedule. Then, during their idle time, we'll do a top-notch IH Blue Ribbon Service job on each one.

That combination of Early Bird scheduling and Blue Ribbon Service can prevent any time lost in the fields from breakdowns!

"Look! ...an Electric Blanket!"

JUST WHAT
I'VE ALWAYS WANTED!"

"Right you are, Sis," says Dad. "Electric blankets give real, honest-to-Morphy sleeping pleasure. automatic controls adjust to meet temperature changes—without disturbing your comfort."

Mother's as pleased as Punch about the practical luxury of electric blankets. "One takes the place of three old-fashioned blankets—cuts down on bedmaking, storage space and laundry bills. That's real saving!"

"These slumber-numbers are fool-proof, too," says Brother. "They're constructed like electrically-lined flying suits—they're built to last for years. Make mine an electric blanket next Christmas!"

Beautifully made of virgin wool, bound with satin, electric blankets are available in many pastel shades at your favorite appliance shop or any Edison office.
