

SENIOR CLASS SPONSORS PARTY TO HONOR PLAYERS

Thursday evening the seniors honored those who participated in the production of the Senior Play at a party held in the gymnasium. Among the guests were Bill Gardner and his winning ticket selling team.

Mixer dances, the Virginia Reel and modern day dancing formed the evening's entertainment. Later in the high school building.

Whenever Latin Christmas carols begin to issue from Miss Ruth L. Hally's classes, the other students definitely know Christmas is on its way. For every year, about two weeks before Christmas, the singing of the Christmas songs pervades the halls of the third floor in the high school building. B. J.

Here And There With The Alumni

Hi Kids!
Better late than never — but we do want to congratulate Mrs. Sigmond Indyke (Shirley Overmyer) on the birth of her baby girl on November second.

We hear Lorraine Miner is now working at Buick Sales.

We're wondering how Jimmy Brodel is liking the briny deep — Atlantic?

Albin, too, has a fine crop of U.S. students.

John Anderson and Bob Weaver, John Hunt, his wife, and Little

Laura have just moved into their new house on Albion Street.

Ernie Mitchell, Doug Bell and Bill Van Hulle are now employees of Michigan Bell.

Any of you can give us dope on alumni. If you have older brothers and sisters, drop a note about them in the box in the Journalism room. And you alumni — send us a card — a penny postal will do.

As Ever, Barb.

Library Club Is Educational

"To acquaint students with the principles of operating a library" explains the organization of the Library Club. This club helps them in using any library. Miss Wilma Brandenburg, advisor, stated the group is not really a club but a group of students who are interested in working with books and people. A half credit is given for this course.

Miss Brandenburg also said that to work in the library the student should have: a "B" average; one free period in addition to a study hall; and four academic subjects.

The members meet every Wednesday morning in the library before school. Here they receive their assignments and plan activities.

Keeping the room neat and books in order, helping students find information, checking incoming and outgoing books, and making the library displays, is all in a day's work for the club members. The displays in the gym and library for Book Week were made by the Club girls. They also presented the annual faculty tea.

The staff this year consists of six girls. They are Florence Wallace, Jackie Rudberg, Isabel Weller, Joyce Gunneth, Betty McKaye and Donna Bryan. R. G.

FHS GRADUATES ATTENDING COLLEGE ARE INTERVIEWED

Mr. G. V. Harrison has completed the annual conferences between college freshmen and their high school principals.

On November 9, he interviewed Harvey Barnes, Edridge Duncanson, Carolyn Early, Patricia Everly, Janet Louys and John Pettibone, who are enrolled at the University of Michigan. Velma Adams, Helen Early, Doris Greskowiak, Priscilla Johnson, Lee Lathrup, June Toth and Elliot Tyler, all of whom are attending Michigan State College, were interviewed on December 1.

These conferences were held to help with the problems of college adjustment of individual students early in their first semester, to secure information for the high schools helpful in preparing future college freshmen and to aid the University in getting information which helps it better to meet its problems in dealing with freshmen.

Questions were asked concerning the use of the library, English, speech, Spanish, American government, and study habits. Many students expressed a wish that they had studied harder while in high school and had followed the advice given them.

Although some are encountering a few difficulties, Farmington graduates are making at least average grades.

As a result of these conferences in a few difficult, Farmington graduates have been able to adjust their programs for the benefit of the students. A.R.

Journalism Class Adopts Small Girl

Soon, somewhere in Italy, little Elena, a young Italian girl, will receive her Christmas box of food and clothing. This box was sent to her by the Journalism class and included everything from sweaters to jewelry. The class has decided to mail her a gift parcel on Christmas, St. Valentine's Day, Easter, and her birthday.

Elena is eleven years of age and is very interested in art and classical music. Making considerable sacrifice, her family somehow manages to give her music lessons. The family consists of her grandmother and father. Her mother died last spring of cancer.

Staff Receives First Place Award

The Blue and White staff of 1947-48, managed by John Pettibone and Peggy Labadie, has brought F.H.S. another International First Place certificate for "distinctive work in scholastic journalism."

The first and last three copies of the year's publications are submitted to Quill and Scroll Critical Service for rating. They are judged by the Journalism Department of Northwestern University, Chicago. Since the Blue and White reporters worked on the Falcon, three copies of the Falcon were judged also.

Publication staffs have been rated for three years only — the first year they earned second place rating; the last two, first place.
