WEST POINT PARK

By MISS L. A. AULT
TELEPHONE FARM. 1461-M

Mr. and Mrs. John Ackerman and daughter, Barbara, from Dearborn, were Friday night guests of Mrs. Ackerman's sister, Mrs. M. E. Ault, on Mayfield Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts of Mayfield Avenue, spent a few days this last week with their daughter and husband, the Bob Padots, in Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Johnson and daughters, Marion Lee and Anne, of Clarita Avenue, spent the last week end with relatives in Grand Rapids.

Mr. Ernest Owen, who has been on the sick list, is reported considerably improved.

Mrs. Ernest Tallman and Mrs. Alice Vance were visiting in Canada Thursday.

Wayne Ault accompanied friends on a visit to Ann Arbor Sunday. In an accidental fall down her basement stairs, Mrs. James Simpson of Mayfield Avenue received painful bruises and injuries which threaten to keep her within doors for a few weeks.

Miss Maude Gallagher, of Mayfield Avenue, has been seriously ill for the last several days. Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook and their new baby are guests for the time being of Mrs. Holbrook's sister, Mrs. Williamson, on Mayfield Avenue.

Mrs. Yeoman of Parker Avenue had another attack of serious illness this last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Schmidt and children and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Roberts, from near Howell, were all dinner guests of Mrs. Schmidt's and Mrs. Roberts' par-

MIDWEST WILDLIFE CONFAB IS HELD IN ANN ARBOR

Verbal gymnastics, with the experts — administrative and research variety — taking oral jobs at the other's working policies, opened the three-day Midwest Wildlife Conference in Ann Arbor on December 9.

Representatives from eight states heard Michigan conservation commission, Harold Ottus, open the general session with the address, "The Commissioner Looks at Researchers." J. W. Leonard of the conservation department's institute for fisheries research followed with "The Researcher Looks at Administrators."

Convening at the Rackham building, conference members included game and fish specialists from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and midwestern universities. Over 200 wildlife workers representing Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio and Wisconsin attended the first program held at Ann Arbor since 1936.

The general session continued with coverage of "Effects of New Insecticides on Fish and Wildlife," "Soil Erosion and Aquatic Life," and "Water Levels: Tendencies and Effects." Ben East, field editor of Outdoor Life magazine, concluded the evening with a film and lecture, "Blue and Snow Geese of James Bay."

By conference closing time, December 11, fifty papers on varied phases of fish and wildlife management were presented to members.

ents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Coolman, on Shadyside Avenue.

Joyce Varhol, from Detroit, was the Thursday evening guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Varhol. Mrs. Herman Schult, who was ill in bed most of last week is now much better.

Mrs. Clyde Buckingham and children, David and Carol, were callers Thursday at Henry Ford Hospital.

The window-peeper who of late has been peering in a certain section of the community is credited with being able to run like a deer. Indignant residents declare that a shotgun can reach such a fleet-footed individual.

Mrs. John Altkama, with five other Eastern Star ladies of this locality was in Ann Arbor Saturday attending the White Shrine dinner and installation.

Herman Schult has returned home from several days stay in Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Galloway, from Garden City, were Sunday afternoon guests of their aunt, Mrs. Walter Rehahn. Mr. Galloway, who has been quite ill in a Jackson, Michigan, hospital, is somewhat improved.

The Goodfellows seemed to be putting serious effort into their work Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rehahn were visiting University Hospital in Ann Arbor this Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Updgrove, from Inkster, were Saturday night guests of their daughter, Mrs. Forrest Ault and her husband on Shadyside Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, of Farmington Road, are expecting to be established in their new home near Novi for New Year's Day.

Word from St. Petersburg, Florida, states that Mrs. George Stueben, a one-time resident of West Point Park, has been gradually recuperating from a long illness. Her mother, Mrs. Leslie Mansfield, another former West Point Park resident, and who is now going on her 93rd year, was a Thanksgiving Day guest of the Strassburgers.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Ault and children were Sunday evening guests of Mrs. Ault's sister, Mrs. Leo Woods and family, at Inkster. Mrs. Horton and her new little son, who, after leaving the hospital, were with Mrs. Horton's mother for several days are now doing nicely at the Horton home on Shadyside Avenue.

From present indications, carolers will be singing in front of West Point Park the Thursday evening before Christmas. Shut-ins are to be especially favored. However, anyone desiring a visit need only leave a light in a front window.

The Livonia Methodist ladies have postponed until after New Year's the presentation of the play for which they have been so faithfully practicing.

Boys and girls, from three to sixteen, of the Neighborhood Church section, are cordially invited to go to the chapel at 7 p.m. Friday evening, the 17th, for a Christmas party. There will be much carol-singing and a Christmas story. A grab-bag exchange of gifts will also be in order. Boys should bring gifts for boys and girls presents for girls, since two containers will be handy. Parcels must be neatly wrapped, with no names attached. Parents are invited to escort their children and witness the festivities.

The Christmas program for the Neighborhood Bible School is scheduled to be held in the church on Wednesday evening, December 22, at 7:30 o'clock. It is at this time that remembrances for members of the Sunday School will be distributed. However, parents and neighbors are all welcome.
