NOTICE OF FIDUCIARY SALE
 A certain mortgage made by Veryl L. Hatch, sometimes known as Veryl Lee Hatch, and Lucille Hatch, his wife, to the Farmington State Bank, as Trustee, in and to certain premises, to-wit: certain premises owned by the said Veryl L. Hatch, and situated in the City of Farmington, Michigan, as shown on the plat thereof, in the office of the Registrar of Deeds of Oakland County, Michigan, bearing date of 1944, in Liber 107, Page 355, Oakland County Records, being in default, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due this date for principal and interest, Seven hundred and thirty and 10/100 ($730.00) Dollars, and no proceeding at law or in equity has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Pursuant to the Statute in such case made and provided, I, the undersigned, Trustee, on Tuesday, January 4, 1949, at twelve o'clock noon, (Eastern Standard Time) said mortgage is hereby given that on Tuesday, January 4, 1949, at twelve o'clock noon, I will foreclose by sale at public auction at the County of Oakland County Building, in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, of the premises described in said mortgage, as described as follows:

Lot No. Seventy-six (76) of Supervisor's Map Section No. one (1) Subdivision, being a part of the E. 1/4 of S.W. 1/4 of Section 11, and the South 1/2 of the E. 1/4 of N.W. 1/4 of Section 11, N. 1/2 of S. 1/2 of E. 1/4 of Section 11, Township 36 N., Range 18 E., 4th Meridian, Oakland County, State of Michigan, described in the Record of the said Oakland County Records, a Subdivision of the Section 11, Township 36 N., Range 18 E., according to the plat thereof, as recorded in Liber 20, Page 23, of the Oakland County Records, dated: October 6, 1948

The Farmington State Bank, a Michigan Banking Corporation, this said mortgage, as described as follows:

WASHINGTON DIGEST

 year, that snook is delicious. And so to bed.

Next day I go after a different species of marine fauna. Mermaids aren't as hard to find as they used to be before that ingenious creature, homo-sapiens-sapiens, was discovered and carefully cultivated by the chambers of commerce of all energetic resorts.

Although I didn't intend to make a bumman's holiday out of my vacation I couldn't help getting one or two interviews.

I called on Douglas Silver, president of the local chamber of commerce. I had known him when his beat was Broadway and the New York advertising district. His office was as busy as any in the Merchandise Mart or Radio City. "Do you like it any better here?" I asked him. "In some ways it's worse," he said.

I nearly fell off my chair. Such a statement from a Floridian! He saw my consternation, immediately realized my misunderstanding, and hastily proceeded to put me right.

"I see you don't mean what I mean," he said. "I thought you were asking me if I like work any better here. Frankly, I have the same allergy to useful effort that you have. But work for you up north is all you have to do. Now look out there." He pointed out the window to a gentleman in wrinkled slacks and a faded khaki shirt sitting in a boat out on the river.

Even from where we stood we could see the look of almost childlike contentment on his tanned face. Just then he stood up and began reeling in his taut line.

Silver gave one look and pushed back his chair. "Listen," he said. "I can finish up what I have to do in about 15 minutes and we'll get right out there. But to answer your question: work is no better here than any place but that difference here is that when you quit you don't have to take a train or a plane to get where you really want to be—you're there already."

SHRIMP ALSO AROUND THERE

The lizard has moved over to get into a patch of sunlight leaking

Some shrimp boats are coming in through the inlet. This is probably the biggest shrimp port south of Savannah. I think I will go over and see if I can't get some nice fat ones. Bill Turner will clean them when they are sweet and delicate as a newly opened plover. They will be boiled with just the right amount of salt. They will be chilled (not drowned in ice water until they are mushy).

My wife will do something meticulous in the sauce. How long for that dish. Why I haven't had a long shrimp for I don't know how long—it must have been as long ago as yesterday at lunch!

FOOT PIERCE HAS HISTORY.
 Port Pierce was a real fort once—built in 1838 as one of the chain of east coast defenses against the Indians. It was a strategic point on the Indian river because a natural opening to the sea permitted easy water communication with the north. Settlers came tonight off the Indians, planted their pineapples, citrus groves, and vegetables for the winter markets. Later the artificial inlet was dredged so the big ships could dock.

Florida played more of a part in the Civil War than most textbooks record. It was the food basket of the Confederacy and also one of the great blockade running bases, and I have no doubt these cuts sheltered many a contraband cargo going to or from Cuba or the Bahamas as they did in the days of the rum runners.

The town felt the shock of World War I, literally felt it, for the submarines crept close to the coast and explosions rocked the houses far inland. Wounded survivors were brought in and cared for here as in other coast towns. Later, because land and water conditions could be simulated to resemble the terrain in the Pacific, it became the country's largest amphibious training base.

Feed costs can be reduced if old non-laying hens are culled from the poultry flock, say poultry specialists at Michigan State College.

OAKLAND FARMERS CAN AID 'CROP' BY GIVING MILK, WHEAT

Oakland County farmers, through their Christian Rural Overseas Program committee, are being asked to help meet the county goal of one carload of wheat and one carload of powdered milk to be sent as their share of contributions to the needy people of Europe.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, National Grange, Michigan State Farm Bureau and Michigan State Grange have all endorsed the CROP plan. Dr. John A. Hamsh, president of Michigan State College, is chairman of the state organization. Walter R. Cook is chairman of the Oakland County organization of CROP.

Cook stated that during the period of contribution, farmers would receive from their milk haulers a tag which they can fasten to one or more of their milk cans consigning the milk to CROP. The dairy companies, in turn, have agreed to turn the cash equivalent of the contribution over to the county committee which will purchase a carload of dry milk to be sent overseas.

Farmers are also asked to take one or more bushels of wheat to their local elevator which in turn will convert the contribution into cash and forward it to the county committee which will purchase a carload of wheat with the proceeds.

Anyone who has neither wheat nor milk to contribute to the program can give a cash donation.

MSC Bulletin Tells Of Good Milking Methods

Information on good milking practices is available to Michigan farmers in a new bulletin recently issued by the Michigan State College Cooperative Extension Service.

The publication describes various ways of making milking chores easier and faster. Both machine and hand milking are discussed.

STRONG ARMS FOR TELEPHONE POLES—
 Ever stop to think how much extra weight an ice storm can add to telephone wires? Cross-arms on telephone poles must be strong enough to stand up under the strain. Here you see a Bell Laboratories hydraulic testing machine bearing a cross-arm from the breaking point. Southern pine and Douglas fir cross-arms can carry nearly 2 tons weight.
ONE UP ON NATURE— During the war Bell Laboratories scientists found a way to grow synthetic crystals better in some ways than natural quartz. A "seed" crystal is produced by evaporating chemical salts, then rotated in a chemical solution which causes deposits to build it up to many times its original size. Crystals vibrate at exact frequencies, separate the many telephone messages travelling over a long distance line.
BETTER AND BETTER— In the 72 years since the telephone was invented, there have been more than 18,000 additional inventions — an average of 260 a year — that have contributed to its development. Many recent ones are playing a part in Michigan Bell's big service improvement program in rural areas.
