New Telephone Almanac Is Now Available Here

The "Telephone Almanac," one of the most widely distributed publications of its type in the country, now is available in the Farmington business offices of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

The theme of the 1949 almanac is "pioneering," describing and illustrating 15 important inventions or discoveries of 100 years ago which still today affect the daily life of everyone.

As usual it contains astrological information, timetables for the sun and moon, and a chronology of important events.

ENGAGED

HELEN E. BURY

Mr. and Mrs. Leon W. Bury of 121st Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Elizabeth, to Paul F. Wooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Wooley, of Highland Park.

A fall wedding is planned.

W. C. CARPENTER, JR. WEDS LILLIAN RACE IN LANSING CHURCH

A very pretty wedding was celebrated on Thursday afternoon in the Lansing Plymouth Congregational Church, Lansing, Michigan, when Miss Lillian Jean Race, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett N. Race of Lansing, was united in marriage with William C. Carpenter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Carpenter of Farmington.

Rev. Robert M. Bartlett officiated at the three o'clock service. White satin ribbon tied the pews, and candles and greenery decked the altar. The soloist was Miss Nancy Murdock, accompanied by Miss Patricia Perry.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a street-length white moire suit for her wedding. The jacket featured a peplum back and the skirt was slimcut. She wore pearls and a matching hat of moire. Her flowers were pink carnations.

Miss Mary Leo Nett was maid of honor. She wore a green moire suit styled like that of the bride. Her flowers were yellow carnations.

Edward Longcore of Chicago served as best man. Ushers were William Wheeler and Dick Walker. Mrs. Carpenter, the mother of the groom, wore a gray dress with many accessories and her corsage was gardenias and pink carnations. Mrs. Race, the bride's mother, chose a gray dress with maroon accessories. She also wore a corsage of gardenias and pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining room. The bridal table was festive with crystal candelabra, tiered cake and flat flowers.

After the reception, the newlyweds left for a short wedding trip to Detroit.

Remodeling Completed At Maccabee Building

For some weeks past the Maccabee Hall at Grand River and Eight Mile Road has been undergoing repairs and a considerable amount of improving. Among the new features are new and modern rest rooms.

The new custodians, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Best, are already greeting old friends and new ones with enthusiasm, and are eager to render friendly and competent service to all patrons.

FRUIT GROWERS TO HEAR NEW METHODS AT MSC JAN. 13-15

An instructional three-day short course for fruit growers has been planned by the Michigan State College horticultural department from January 13 to 15 in East Lansing.

According to Dr. H. B. Tukey, head of the MSC horticultural department, growers will take part in a comprehensive program on fungicides, diseases, brown rot, thinning, and pruning. Many practical hints on fruit growing will also be presented.

Copies of the program for the conference can be obtained from county agricultural agents or by writing to C. A. Langer, Horticultural Building, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

MSC Summer Session Is To Be Shortened

A single six-week session of summer school will be the program of the future for Michigan State College.

During the past six years, the college has offered a 12-week term in addition to two six-week sessions for the benefit of veterans and war-time students.

FURNACE EXPLODES

An oil furnace explosion at the residence of Leo Coffman, 26449 13 Mile Road, last Wednesday afternoon, caused damage in excess of $4,000.

The explosion, caused by a backfire of an oil furnace, started a floor fire immediately over the furnace.

The quick response of the Farmington Fire Department confined the fire to one area, although it took nearly half an hour to extinguish the blaze.

Coffman stated that the Farmington firemen did an excellent job. He added that if they had smashed any of the windows the smoke-filled house might have burst in flames.

PARATROOPER

PULL UP A CHAIR

We wanna talk to yuh. You know the first of the year in a business is a mess — it's taxes and inventory and taxes and no money and taxes and not much help. Idle doesn't live with us anymore — and we've ran a matrimonial bureau so long we've finally got all our men married off — that is all but George — and he's too young — so if you wanna WORK you might stop around to see us — but if you wanna dress up pretty in a white uniform you'll have to step across the street and talk to the guys over there.

We got our inventory counted and we found more stuff. We're gonna put prices on it and throw it in baskets so you can mail it over. Remember how much fun you had last year? This year there's gonna be some stuff without labels so you gotta take your chances with us. It'll be worth your while to give these piles of stuff a quick look see.

Cause we're so busy we gotta cut this short this week — but tell us sumthin' — do you want us to keep this up fer another year or is one year enuf? Come on now, tell us. Don't fergit we're still open fer business anyhow. The service might be lousy, but you'll have fun while you're waitin' we betcha.
