MSC To Survey Michigan Health

How Michigan people feel about their health needs and medical ser-vices is the subject of a current study being conducted by the So-cial Research Service of Michigan State College.

clail Research Service of Michigan State College. Specifically, the group wants to ascertain the extent of 'Ill health in Michigan and relationships between poor health and certain so-clo-economic factors such as income and residence. The researchers also want to find out the extent to which people-use available medical facilities and their opinions of such services, according to Dr. Charles W. Hoffer, chairman of the group.

Interest of the property of the group.

Intensive research will be made in two communities, one having no resident doctor and the other having numerally and will attempt to compare the adequacy of medical care for the average citizen in the two communities. The over-all curvey will include all of Michigan with the exception of Wayne County.
