Better Dressed Babies?

In order to learn about selecting children's clothing, the Home Ec. class visited Lil's Infants Wear Tuesday, March 1.

The girls saw clothing for babies and children up to seven or eight years. They discussed the points to consider when buying these articles.

A school bus took the two classes on their field trip during third and fifth hours.

ENGLISH CLASSES SEE PULITZER PLAY

Approximately twenty students from English III classes traveled to the Shubert-Lafayette Theater in Detroit on Saturday, March 12, to see the Pulitzer Prize-winning play, Harvey.

It was generally agreed that the star, Frank Fay, who played Elwood P. Dowd, was an outstanding personality in the comedy.

The play concerned the friendship between an imaginary white rabbit, six feet tall, and Elwood P. Dowd. Because of Mr. Dowd's strange conception of Harvey, his relatives considered him slightly crazy and attempted to commit him to an institution called Chumley's Rest. Here many complications set in. Hoy Mr. Dowd and his relatives became entangled and disintegrated in the hilarious goings-on held the interest of the audience from the beginning to the end.

Miss Rowe and Miss Dwellie accompanied the students on the school bus, which left Farmington at 12:30 noon and arrived here again at 6:30 p.m.

HERE AND THERE WITH THE ALUMNI

Hi, Kids!

Ernie Tyler pleasantly surprised one of our Junior girls by turning up unexpectedly last week. Take it from me, the Army is full of surprises!

Pvt. Harold Turney is stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas, where he is awaiting entrance to Officers' Candidate School. Farmington seems to be well represented at this camp — with Pfc. Bob Augur and Pvt. Jerry Miller. Turney and Miller are graduates of the Leaders' Course.

Mrs. John Simpson, the former Clara Billings, visited in Miss Damm's room recently with her two-and-a-half months old son, Richard. Nice little chap.

Fred Hamlin is a junior at NSC. Ira Carley, Class of '48, is and has been working at Gilmore's Department store in Kalamazoo since graduation last June.

We all want to extend our heartfelt congratulations to alumnus Norm Potts on his recent engagement to Jo Brodel. He's a lucky fellow.

That's all for now, Kids.
As Ever, Barb.

The Navy's giant transport plane, Constitution, holds as much fuel as a railroad tank car, 10,000 gallons.

TRIP CLUB PLANS MAY FASHION SHOW

A Fashion Show by the Senior Trip Club will be presented May 13, in the High School Gymnasium. Models, who will be both girls and boys of the senior class, will feature the latest spring and summer styles, obtained from Lou's Smart Apparel Shoppe and from Ed Schwelzer's Men's Clothing store.

Miss Mary Alice Lyngkilo, Miss Alice Montes, and Miss Ann Metzger, three of the teachers, will also participate as models.

Refreshments will be served afterwards by the senior mothers. The fashion show is under the direction of Miss Margaret Lingo, who is assisted by Marge Maas.

STUDENTS HEAR VOICES FROM PAST

Thursday, March 10, the speech, history and government classes had an opportunity to listen to recorded excerpts from famous speeches.

These recordings were from an album called "I Can Hear It Now." Edward R. Murrow, noted commentator, as narrator, related the famous words of Eisenhower, Roosevelt, Duke of Windsor, Churchill, Chamberlain, Truman and others.

A very stirring description, by Arthur Godfrey, of the late President Roosevelt's death and funeral procession was a highlight.

There are ten sides in the album. R. G.

Alumnus Makes Good

This story might be considered an addition to my usual column "Back Through the Years", as it is about one of our alumni.

Her name is Shirley Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Johnson.

When she was graduated from Farmington High School in '45, she was valedictorian of her class. There is a recent picture of Shirley, who is now a graduate nurse employed at the Butterworth Children's Clinic, posted on the bulletin board in Miss Damm's room. Mrs. Luce clipped it from the Grand Rapids Press and mailed it to the Journalism class.
