Civic Association Starts Petitions

The Southeast Farmington Township Civic Association was officially formed Thursday, June 16, with a group of interested citizens meeting at the Assembly of God Church, Middlebelt and Grand River. The purpose of the meeting was to form an organization to petition for zoning ordinances for Farmington-Township. The group's membership is composed of residents and property-owners living between Inkster Road and Orchard Lake Road, and from 12 Mile Road to Eight Mile Road.

Officers elected were: C. F. Westlake, president; S. B. Turner, vice president; Mrs. Betty Brewington, temporary secretary; J. Spaller, treasurer, and directors, E. Schaeffer, E. Marks, M. Ward, E. Hallock and S. Taggart.

The group is currently campaigning for additional members. Already 100 people have joined. The association desires another 400. Another feature of the Thursday meeting was the presentation of petitions, drawn up by attorneys. Over 200 people have signed the petitions to date. The petitions read:

"We, the undersigned, being residents and/or taxpayers of Farmington Township, Oakland County, Michigan, do hereby petition the Township Board of Farmington Township, Oakland County, Michigan, to enact an Ordinance which shall amend Ordinance No. 400, to direct the Township Health Officers, of Farmington Township, Oakland County, Michigan, to take all steps reasonably necessary to insure sanitary conditions and/or conditions inimical to the health of residents of Farmington Township, Oakland County, Michigan."

New Cotton Fabrics Are High Fashion 37-1c

So many and varied are the cotton fabrics available this year you could easily plan a whole wardrobe using lovely cottons.

Even some of the old familiar cottons have taken on a new personality, reports Marjorie Eastman, extension clothing specialist at Michigan State College. Striped chambray, metallic thread glen plaid and lovely iridescent fabrics are definitely on the glamorous side.

You will also find crisp cotton (taffeta or moire. Wool-like cottons include tweeds, herringbones, sharkskins and covets. Damask waves or jumps and blouses are also new.

Your old favorites are all available — percale, chambray, broadcloth, voile, organdy, pique and a host of others. Variety in cotton fabrics makes for a greater variety in your cotton clothing.

1949 cottons offer possibilities for street or town, for rainwear and travel costumes. Cotton lingerie is being promoted for wear under cotton dresses. Afternoon and evening costumes of cotton are competing with rayons and silks.

Whether you look through collections of high-style designers or in the budget departments, you'll find these lovely new cottons. They are fashion news and practical for you to add to your wardrobe.

Modern Housewife Studies Her Job 37-1c

What are homemakers interested in learning more about these days? Judging by the information they requested in Michigan home demonstration groups, just about the answer includes just about everything.

In the field of home management alone they attended meetings about everything from using DDT to making wills. Olevia Meyer, extension home management specialist at Michigan State College, reports a great deal of interest in the phases of home planning and improvement.

One lesson presented to home demonstration groups through the home demonstration agents and local leaders concerned improving the appearance of homes both inside and out. Thousands of improvements were made in and around Michigan homes as a result of this lesson.

A very popular and worthwhile project was the study of decent and distribution of property and wills. Many homemakers in checking over papers, deeds and wills found discrepancies that they were very happy to know about. Young couples learned that they should plan for wills at an earlier age.

Homemakers also made an intensive study of kitchen cupboards and planned improvements for their own homes. They investigated the subject of buying large household equipment and armed themselves with facts to help them choose appliances.

Since money management is important to the homemaker who tries to be a good manager they studied the use of the family dollar and budgeting.

Saving time is important, too, so home demonstration agents spent some time learning how to use new and more efficient methods of housekeeping.

CLASSIFIEDS BRING RESULTS 37-1c

Molotov Cocktail Too Much For Boy, 4.

Perhaps it was the influence of communist infiltration, or maybe just too much Russian influence via headlines, but little John Wood, 4, of 2174 Waldron, last week tried blowing a true Molotov cocktail — half a quart of kerosene. A neighbor called the Farmington police department, reporting the unauthorized refreshment. As no car was immediately available to the Waldron Street family, Farmington police took the child to Redford Receiving Hospital, where his stomach was quickly pumped out.

The child, except for strict admonishment by his parents and the displeasure of a stomach pump, suffered no ill effects.

Capture Vanishes In Cloud Of Smoke

What might have been a thrilling capture by police officers vanished in a cloud of smoke Monday night when police broke into the Vetway Market at Orchard Lake and Grand River to extinguish a fire.

Arnold L. Green, of the ambulance service across the street, phoned police when he heard glass shattering and saw a figure enter the door of the market.
