Wanta Have a Good Time Wolverine Raceway Lists

If Wolverine Raceway fans thought they had reached the ultimate when the track opened with free admission to the grandstand and then celebrated St. Patrick's Day two nights later with free admission to all wearers of the green, they are in for a big surprise.

Those are only two of the programs planned by Vice President and General Manager Dick Wilson aimed to make 1973 the most interesting ever for harness racing fans.

Remember last year when Albatross, the greatest pacer of all time, headlined the "Good Ol' Times" nights and brought more Coming as it does on a Friday night, it will give parents a chance to take the kids to the races, get them well fed with the things they like best-- hot dogs-- and still have a rather cheap evening.

Here are a few of the things Wolverine will offer during the 82 nights: senior citizens will be admitted nightly to the grandstand for $1 by presenting a medicare card; students will be able to take care of a special rate of $1 to the grandstand with proper ID card; singles will be admitted to the grandstand on Wednesdays free of charge until 7 p.m.; and family than 18,000 into the plant and the first million dollar handle in Michigan history for a harness track?

SPRING'S HERE and now its back to work...that appears to be the thought of this pacer who yawns at the thought of getting back to the races over the big mile track at Wolverine Raceway.

This year, it will be the $40,000 Matron three-year-old pace and the $50,000 Matron four-year-old trot and the annual celebration of the good old days on Friday, June 15.

That should be one of the best winning combinations of the entire year. Three big features on the same night, including a chance to see the standout candidates for the Little Brown Jug pacing classic and the top four-year-old trotters.

"Good Ol' Days" is a night for fun and frivolity. Prices are scaled back to those of the turn of the century with dime hot dogs, nickel bags of popcorn and peanuts, reduced prices on soft drinks and additional entertainment throughout the evening.

nights will be announced as the season progresses.

On the planning board but still not arranged are: a polka night, a Detroit-Windsor Freedom Festival night; a May special for bartenders and barmaids; and a special contest in which an automobile will be presented to the winner.

With emphasis being placed on gimmick betting, Wolverine is the first Michigan track to adopt the quadactor, which has been very popular in tracks in the south, north and along the Atlantic seaboard.

The track will have three gimmicks including the nightly double on the first and second races, a trifecta on the sixth race and the quad which has been termed as the superfecta on the 10th race.

This is in addition to the regular betting on each of the 10 races. If
