BACK TO SCHOOL ADVICE GIVEN TO PARENTS

When your children are asked the standard question, "Are you glad to go back to school?" is their answer pleasing to you?

Their answer, whether yes or no, reflects back on you as a parent. Parents can do a great deal to help Johnny do his best at school and enjoy himself there. Advise Mrs. Lennah Backus, child development specialist at Michigan State College.

If your child brings home a poor report, what do you do? If Johnny is not doing his best then he needs your help and understanding rather than scolding. If it is arithmetic that bothers, let him help you with your use of it around the home.

Let Johnny keep score while playing games and his interest in numbers and spelling will take on a new meaning. Tying arithmetic in with daily living will make it interesting for him.

Interest in reading and liking books is developed more easily through the story hour when children are young. But it can be greatly aided at a later age by suggesting that they take turns with you in reading aloud. Here again encouragement rather than criticism is the recipe for success.

SAYS FOOD VALUES JUNKED BY POOR PREPARATION

Food costs are high; you want to get all you pay for. But the chances are you are pouring some of your food values down the drain; holling them away or tossing them in the garbage pail.

These facts deserve special attention to Michigan homemakers, according to Mrs. Alice Smith, Chief Nutritionist of the Michigan Department of Health.

The food value of vegetables depends on their content of vitamins and minerals which the human body needs. Much of the vitamin and mineral content is lost when vegetables get old or wilt, when they are stored improperly, when they are allowed to stand in air, in water or when they are cooked too long or in too much water.

Only those vitamins and minerals left in the food your family eats counts as food value for your money, Mrs. Smith says.

Here are some suggestions for getting the most from your vegetable dollars. You get more value from money in dark green and yellow vegetables — this includes leaf lettuce and green celery. Buy only vegetables in peak condition. Wash them at once and store them in the hydrator of your refrigerator or covered, in a cold blemish. The cold, moist air keeps them fresh and holds the vitamin C. Pick garden vegetables as near the time of use as possible.

Peel, shell and chop vegetables just before they are to be used. Shredded cabbage and chopped salad greens lose vitamin C if they are allowed to stand in air. Vegetables lose part of their vitamins and minerals if they are allowed to stand in water, either before or after cooking.

Cook vegetables for a short time in as little water as possible in a covered pan. Serve immediately. This preserves both sight and taste appeal, as well as food value.

Save pot liquor for use in vegetable juice cocktails, soup or gravy. Don't bother to peel potatoes or carrots. They have more food value when cooked in their skins.

Many Michigan people have a taste treat in store when they first eat properly cooked vegetables.

MICHIGAN
Motoring

With the approaching of the new school term, all the teen-aged youngsters in every neighborhood seem to bang together in "hordes," filling in the old jalopies for quick trips to the football practice fields, the beaches and the movies.

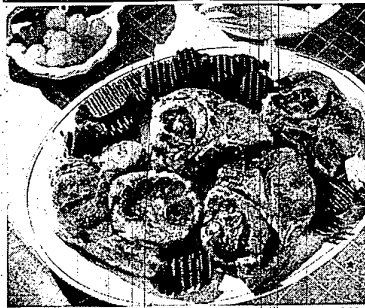

These supposedly innocent amusements can turn into THREATS unless parents are constantly on the look-out for the overworked car... the lad who gets into the car, speeding, the "gang" who laugh and boast about the chances they take in an auto. If you as a parent, if you see careless driving among the youngsters your boy or girl are associated with, it is your duty to reprimand the driver. And if you are wise, you will forbid your child to enter such an auto.

These precautions may be the means of saving your child's lives. But that is not enough. You must do your part in keeping other children safe — by discussing the dangers of speed and careless driving with your youngsters and their friends — and by doing everything within your power to drive that Safety message "home".

Right now, at the beginning of the school term, is the time to double your own safety precautions, and to instill safety in the minds of every driver — and every automobile passenger — in your family! Play safe — and save lives!

Mary Ann Isley Married

The Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church of Farmington was the scene of the wedding Saturday evening of Miss Mary Ann Isley, daughter of Mrs. George Isley and the late Mr. Isley, 33224 Oakland Avenue, to Don Emerson Prior, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Prior, Sr., 35500 Nine Mile Road.

The marriage vows were spoken at 7:30 in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

Rev. Carl H. Schultz, church pastor, performed the single ring ceremony. Mrs. Murel Burdick, organist, played hymnal music, and Miss Robert Isley, brother of the bride, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

For the wedding occasion, the altar was banded with palms and baskets of white gladioli, flanked on either side by candelabra containing burning white tapers. White expers also lined the inner walls of the church aisles.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. A. N. Scott of Detroit, wore a white lace gown, the bodice being styled with long tight sleeves and a plunging neckline. The skirt, gathered in fullness in the back, terminated in a long train. Her fingertip veil of white marquisette was adjusted to a join cap of white lace trimmed with a narrow white satin ribbon. She carried a shawl bouquet of white gladioli and stephanotis.

Miss Nancy Isley, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Betty Prior, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Both wore gowns of crinkled organza fashioned along the same lines as that of the bride and wore picture hats of marquisette. They carried bouquets of gladioli. Miss Isley's gown was a yellow shade, and Miss Prior's was white.

Jack Prior, acted for his brother as best man, and the ushers were George Isley, brother of the bride, Frederick C. Martindale, Oscar W. Aiken of Farmington, and Cleatus Willbanks of Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Isley wore a powder blue crepe gown with matching hat for her daughter's wedding, while Mrs. Prior chose a gown of blue lace and marquisette with a white hat. Both wore shoulder bouquets of gardenias.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held at the American Legion Memorial Home in Farmington. Approximately 350 guests were served. Mrs. A. N. Scott of Detroit, aunt of the bride, and Miss Emma Gray of Plymouth poured at the reception.

Mr. Prior and his bride left for a honeymoon in northern Michigan. Upon their return they will make their home at 19473 Garfield, Detroit.

Miss Winnifred Long of Detroit was the week-end guest of Mrs. Evangeline Pettibone of N. Lomb Street.
