THE BLUE AND WHITE

For the next three months the Blue and White will be written by the members of the Upper Class Chapter of Quill and Scroll.

The six active members of this organization will be chosen to elect the Quill and Scroll last year for work on journalism on the Blue and White and the Falcon staffs.

The regular journalism class will take over some time in December, when they will be prepared to apply their instructions in active news writing.

Until then, although our number is limited, we hope to retain the standards set for us by our predecessors, and to present the news to you accurately, adequately and interestingly.

School Opens With Assembly

School opened at 9 o'clock on Thursday morning in the auditorium in the gymnasium, when Mr. Gall welcomed a welcome to all students. After his brief greeting, he introduced Jack Boyce, president of the Student Council, who announced election and dance plans.

Preceding the closing of the assembly, Mr. Harrison directed the students to their advisory groups, where locker assignments were made. He also gave the day's schedule of activities, including one full-hour afternoon class.

Upon dismissal, all students proceeded to their designated groups and then to their classes.

S. C. Prepares For Football Season

In order that all students may obtain tickets for the football homecoming, the Student Council has named chairman to manage ticket sales.

One representative from each grade was appointed to select a committee from his class. These chairmen are: Donna Bryan, 12th grade; Barbare Eichler, 10th grade; and June Turner, 9th grade.

The Student Council has distributed printed football schedules to all high school students. Various stores in town will have them on hand for the convenience of the townspeople.

New Bleachers Improve Field

With the addition of new bleachers, Farmington's football field is assuming a professional look. For this, Farmington townpeople and students have the Athletic Association to thank.

The bleachers are comprised of five sections, each with a seating capacity of one thousand.

During the exhibition and visiting cheerleader sections appear on the south side of the field. Those energetic rooters who customarily follow the "pinkies" should bring their track shoes as human traffic will detour around the seats. This policy will be strictly enforced by the guard station at each end of the bleachers.

Falcon's Nest

Sports New Face

When the students of Farmington High School returned to the Falcon's Nest, they noticed some changes.

Ed Maas, manager, did some re-decorating during the summer. A new heating system has been installed, and with the snow out of the Nest, there is considerable more room.

A juke box that plays 24 records is also a new addition to the Nest.

Do you remember back a few years, to the days when you were a small boy or girl just beginning a new hobby? Do you remember the fun you had, getting acquainted all over again with your classmates? Can you recall the excitement of hurrying home from school with two new "friends" who lived near you? Do you remember the way you used to dash out of school at night— to hurry to the park or playground for a game of ball?

While primarily a wildlife restoration project area of the state game division, the Stanton tract is open to the public and will provide other recreational facilities such as fishing and swimming on the several lakes within its borders. The new game area, 12 miles northeast of Greenville and bordering M-68, is within pheasant range and offers ruffed grouse, deer, fox squirrels and cottontail rabbits.

Two wildlife flooding projects may be undertaken later.

And that's why it's time for you to grow-up to take care of your present safety habits, especially when you're driving an automobile. Because you remember how easy it is to forget the safety lessons taught by teachers and parents, it's up to you to be doubly careful now, make up for the carelessness of the younger years.

Drive carefully every second you're behind the wheel! Especially near schools...at school crossings...near playgrounds where the youngsters spend their time. Don't let the school year begin with TRAGEDY legate baseball game played?
