THEY'LL BE A CHEERING ... and a stomping and a mighty tearing of hair down at the football field this Fridag raterroom. It's the annual bitter battle between Farmington and Charenceville. There'll be pleaty of splitt and pleaty of football come 3:30. And color! Both Farmington and Charenceville bands will be out in full force. Don't forget the time - 3:34 at the the Farmington u uni rorce. non't forget the time -3:30 at the the Farmi field. Come early, too. Additional bleachers are being ins t the seating capacity to $00, but you want to get there are of one of those 50 yard line seats.

LING the set indefinite, was the situation prevailing at the main section of Farmington Road and Grand River last Tuesday. The hight blow a fade and so did several molorists walting for the hight tog one. One good hing — it was the green light that to function, not the red one. But it existing green light that to function, not the historesetion with his foot close brake and a guilty conscience bothering him.

All THAT FUSS. about the bonanza blossoms we had hast week was highly unfair — unfair to several other overgrown botanical spedimens. No sooner hub the issue been published when we got more reports. Mrs. Ward's 52 inch-zinnias were shrunk by bonne 80 int zinnias. Juria Mrs. Baster Jay bonning in the style of the there place. Which gees to show that Farmington gardeners are not the ordinary variety, nor are Farmington gardens.

THOSE SAME FARMINGTON gardeners are doing something else on a large gale. This Saturday in the date set for the annual Farmington Garden (lub Benefit card party ThereII be 100 tables of bridge and probably Cahasta, which is a lot o cards in motion at the same lime. The party will be so large it's being the in mouton at the same time. Ine party wir we so ange is o on all in the high school gymnousium. Even so, here's such a deman places at the tables (what with all those prizes and all) that these poing availity fast — there won't be any spid at the door. So u want to come to the party, better call up and snag some tickets quit TOOTHPASTE ... might have been the stuff applied to the while posts in the guard fences along Grand River Avenue. We say toothpaste because the way so many cars flash by Grand River the posts mult look like a fine tooth comb. At any rate, the posts have all been refurfished, and can go back to their job of collecting wayward fenders from reckless drivers. But no matter how hard the wear they get, somehow they still won't more out of the way for a hapless car.

HOWEVER there is something not missing in The Enterprise this week. It's the Characeville school page. You'll find it here this week on page four Again, we're asking for opinions on this as well as other Enterprise features. Now we have both the Farmington and Characeville high schools well represented in the paper -- wonder if there wont be a bit of journalistic rivairy between the two papers how? With this issue it seems particularly fitting that the Characeville high school paper is included. It's National Newspaper Week.

WE'VE HEARD OF IT . . .

EVE HEARD OF IT ... t didn't think we'd ever see anyone with enough of a very particular pe of gall. But we did. Last week no small sited crowd collected wn town to see a strangely decorated automobile. At first sight we ought it was an advertisement for some citris fruit grower — and we remembered the story of the dissatisfied car buyer who painted when we remember his new car and parked it in front of the deal we're glad to say the decorated auto seen in Farmington last some from here — it was an out of town car just passing th aler's agency
