Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gottschalk were hosts to 16 members of the Bureau when it met October 18 at their home. The group also decided to ask Ed Alchin, County Agent, to speak at its meeting in November or January.

PORT OF WINTER—As she passed through the Chicago River locks into Lake Michigan recently, the U. S. Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinaw brought thoughts of the chilly months ahead. The hard-working vessel, 78 feet in diameter, was the closest fit ever to pass through the 60-foot locks.

Salem Bazaar End; Replaced by Fair

The annual bazaar, presented by the Salem Women's Guild, is no more.

Instead of the bazaar this year the Guild, hampered by a small staff, will present an "Autumn Fair". It will include all the festivities that go with a fair.

At least one advantage of the fair over the bazaar is the fact that young folks instead of just adults can join the fun. And the famous "Frankenmuth style chicken dinner" won't be entirely gone with the bazaar. This traditional dinner will be replaced by a "fair style" dinner, to be served at noon on Thursday, November 10. The food for the fair is under the supervision of Mrs. Louis Fendt.

The Homesteaders

Mrs. L. Wadenstorer FARM, 0527-J

"There's a very good reason for my absence the last three weeks: It's Spring Fever. The weather has been so nice that it's too pretty for fall, it's not Indian Summer, so it must be spring." Except for the silently falling leaves, and the not-so-silent hunters, it's bona-fide spring. Short winter, wasn't it?

Mr. and Mrs. Denny Dever arrived home from Bangor, Maine. They are living with Mrs. Stanley on 12 Mile Road.

Mrs. Vlady Regentik, Sr., of Howard Road, was rushed to St. Joseph Hospital early last week with a serious nasal condition. The doctors reported last Friday that her condition had improved.

Mrs. Clara Gossett last week visited her son, Frank, who has recently started basic training at Ft. Riley, Kansas. On the motor trip she was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bill McDurmit, from Walled Lake, who also visited her son, Jim, at camp.

Miss Nancy Wiles of Walled Lake has been visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Frazier Wadenstorer for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hess of Pontiac were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Resin.
