S. C. Collects Soap Wrappers

In cooperation with the Swan Soap Company, the Student Council is sponsoring a program to send soap to European countries. For every two empty wrappers sent in, the makers of Swan will send one bar of soap overseas.

A contest has been set up to see which grade can be responsible for sending the most soap.

Season basketball tickets are being sold by council representatives. Both student and adult tickets may be obtained. With this program there will be no pre-sale of student tickets and those who do not have season tickets must buy tickets at the door at the adult price. A.R.

EDITORIAL

YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SHARE

Thursday, November 24, is the day we celebrate as Thanksgiving. A tradition of our country with its roasted turkey, homemade cranberry sauce, Mom's spicy pumpkin pie, and the fire blazing on the hearth.

This is a time when the family should feel especially close. Older brothers and sisters return home and for one day the whole family relaxes and laughs together.

This is Thanksgiving as it should be; but in many places this day will be no different from any other. In many homes it will mean no more than the usual struggle to survive — an ordinary day of huddling near a rickety old stove for warmth. There will be no games or excitement for the children; the mother will try desperately to add a festive touch to the meager meal in celebration of the occasion.

As we sit at our overloaded tables, being piously thankful for our snug, secure lives, how many of us give any thought to those others?

If we tried, we could provide a happy Thanksgiving for more than just ourselves. If we wanted to, we could take the trouble of sharing our food and ourselves we could see that a few more families enjoy this Thanksgiving.

This is, once more, the old plea to share, to share your smiles, your food, and your energy. There is still time this year to give some unfortunate people real cause to be thankful.

Debators Hold Practice Session

A practice debate was given for the third hour Journalism class on November 17 by four members of Farmington's debate team.

Charles Tully, sophomore, and Myrna Hurkett, freshman, who defended the affirmative, opposed a negative team composed of Jim Whitman and Richard Schreiber, both seniors.

The four debated on the topic "Resolved: That the President of the United States be elected by a direct vote of the people."

Since this debate was merely a practice one, it was not judged, but the results of a poll taken of the Journalism class indicated that they favored the negative team. A.P.

Hamlin Tops Bowlers Again

For the second time this fall Ruth Hamlin led the girl bowlers with a high game of 170 and high series of 402 on November 14.

Florence Wallace came through with 145 to lead her team, the Pin Ups, to the top of the league standings. They were followed by the Lazy Loafers, Team 11, Lucky Strikers, Three Hundreds, and the Gutter Or Nothings. A.P.
