Methodist Church Starts Junior Service

Beginning Sunday, December 11, there will be a Junior church service at the Methodist Church for children six to 12. Rev. A. Stanley Stone announced Tuesday. The new service will be at the regular church hour, 11:15 a.m. A nursery will be provided for children three to six.

According to Rev. Stone, the children will participate in the regular church service for the first half-hour, and then retire to another room where Mrs. Stone will teach children's songs and tell children's stories. Mrs. Stone has had long experience in the art of story telling, and according to Rev. Stone, will teach the youngsters many good things while their parents are attending the adult service.

Children of the Methodist Sunday school, ages six to 13, are to be the guests of the Methodist Children's Village on Six Mile Road for a Christmas party on Saturday, December 10 from 6:30 to 8 p.m. The children will meet at the church in time to leave at 6:15. Rev. Stone has asked parents of primary children to call Mrs. Stone at 6232 to notify her if the children are able to go, and if the parents will be willing to drive cars.

SAUSAGE MUFFINS

Muffins, hot and tasty, are appealing for any meal of the day. To make them all the more attractive, brown bulk pork sausage and add it to the muffin batter.

LONG WAY TO GO—

Making a bicycle trip from Quebec, Canada, to the home of Mrs. John Wetlow, 30725 Haggerty Highway Saturday evening, December 3. Mrs. Nelson was the former Miss June Seely, daughter of Guy Seely, 50455 Haggerty Highway. About 50 relatives and friends attended. Seven tables of cards were played. Gifts were taken from a prettily decorated basket and unwrapped by the honoree. After the unwrapping of cake, coffee and ice cream was served.

John (Widow of Haggerty Highway) was pleasantly surprised when 21 old friends dropped in Sunday to help him celebrate his 78th birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gleiger were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heliker.

A French and a party of five others have returned from a two week hunting trip.

Several people from here will attend the kick-off of subscribers to the Farm Bureau membership drive Monday evening at Clarkston.

Pie, Raymond See came home after being in service. He is married and will start living in the new home at Grand Point.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tamm and family, Fred Tamm were Thanksgiving Day dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gilson, Grand River Cut-Off.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray RoOla of Detroit had dinner and made a recording of Mrs. RoOla's mother, Mrs. Anna Westlake singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Murdock of 11073 13 Mile Road, Walled Lake, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at an open house at their home. The Murdocks were married November 30, 1899, at the Methodist Church of Walled Lake and have lived at their present farm home the past 50 years. They have one son, Hilton, one daughter, Mrs. John Kleer, and two granddaughters and one grandson, of Walled Lake.

Meadowbrook Murmurs

By Mrs. Dean Eckert

Our friend did better this year, by golly. He got his buck. Only the Billings was the green, looking variety and he found it in the snow. However, most of our neighbors didn't even have that much luck this year. Carl Harbourn and son Bob brought their wives home, two bacon... venison, we mean. And if there are any other proud hunters in the neighborhood we'll be glad to hear about them.

Floyd Hopkins of Scouten Street, who is Earl Billings' "shadow," accompanied the Clarence Billings family on a wonderful week of hunting over the Thanksgiving holidays. The Billings, of 2124 Middlebelt, have a cottage at Van Eitan Lake near Oceoda and they make good use of it. Just about every other week end... the whole year "round they're "roughing" it up there and loving every minute. The 183 mile trip is just a hop-skip-and-a-jump to their second home. Mrs. Billings loves it too, even though her time is divided between keeping food on the table and worrying about her men getting lost! Neighbors, the James Zimmer family of Haynes Street, are neighbors with us, too, with a cottage just down the way.

Chapter two of last week's cook-story: Mrs. Richard Vesely of Dresden Street did get that dinner out, but she had a palmed up time. Friend hubby very superbly took over on the serving and the party went smoothly. Then, as the happily-fed guests departed, our valiant host had a palmed up time. Friend hubby very superbly took over on the serving and the party went smoothly. Then, as the happily-fed guests departed, our valiant host had a palmed up time. Friend hubby very superbly took over on the serving and the party went smoothly.

Along with other hints to Santa, the "Unit of Meadowbrook Subdivision, Farmington Township, Oakland County, are praying for a shiny new, automatic, blinking, red, green and yellow, traffic light for that corner of our town. It's at Eight Mile and Middlebelt, Santa, and we'd much rather you'd bring us that this year than another gruesome batch of accidents. If you do remember there are two schools near this corner, both with record-breaking enrollment. Most drivers on Eight Mile to the drivers... that fact nor do they realize our Middlebelt Highway even exists.

Why about leaving a big stocking of goodies at each of the community groups you much on while they go to work on it... and soon.

Six-year-old Maris Bury, 28219 List Street, has a palmed up time. She proudly pulled a tooth, then buried it under her pillow, finding coins there instead the next morning. Now she's off to the doctors... that's an old trick! But that's an "old trick" we never knew and that's something new. According to our deflated parents, this party never had anything, particularly if we got paid for it.

Marie's next door neighbor, Joan Ellis, who is only five, is so read-up on this sort of thing she's getting way ahead of herself. She's sporting a new tooth behind one which refuses to budge. And she'd like to collect her change while the fairies are still around.

You can send that "welcome, new neighbors" card to the Bernard Wyzles now for at last they have a mail-box. That was the one thing missing at their new residence at 21214 Roosevelt, and with Christmas on the way and a mail-man who refused to leave mail in a pile on their sidewalk, the lack was a headache. Now they're beg-ing Santa for a phone and they'll be settled at last.

White you're at it, how about a cheery card to Dan Elliott of 21110 Roosevelt? That much-dreaded operation is a thing of the past and, now home again, Mr. Elliott can wave in terms of the future. Now getting him know you care should make the recovery even speedier. Or why not drop by for a visit?

So many readers (yes, we actually do have some) have been asking about that missing, frisky, name of Cowboy. No, he hasn't turned up yet and the Eckerts are wondering what he'll think when and if he does get here. We did miss that howling, ankle-chewing, purrstone cat so, and we just couldn't say no to his tiny baby brother who came down from the same farm last week. Especially when he was such an exact replica of the animal that used to reign over our "Happy Half-Acre."

Neighbors across the street, Allan and Christine Snider and Leo and Geneva Hanley have new additions to their families, also truthfully named "Baby" and "Trouble." Our young 'un, poor thing, gets called everything from "Ragpet" to "Charmaceutical!" We just can't think of anything original... that fits. And every new kitten that anyone ever has owned... when it reaches the leaping, frisky age of ten weeks... is as exciting and different as can be. And certainly most original.
