Big Stuff . . .

that might be what you would call the $118,000 budget for the City of Farmington for the year 1950-51. At least, it is quite a pile of money to most of us.

As was mentioned at the City Commission meeting last week, it is an astounding jump from a few years ago. And if that is astounding, what about a few years from now? Are we ready for it? Are our minds and hands reaching for the future?

The time to look ahead is before we get to the crossroad — not after we pass it. The City of Farmington needs a manager just as any $118,000 business needs a manager. But it isn't that easy. We need the courage and the determination to go ahead, we need the foresight to plan.

City Manager type of government is new and different to Farmington. It must be sold to the public. A start has been made in the Exchange Club through a series of informative talks by experts. This program should be expanded by other service clubs. Thus a nucleus of organization will be formed. This can be the start of an overall planning program so urgently needed in Farmington.

It can't be done by just talk, aggressive, constructive action is needed, and it must, if it is to be realized at all, start with the leaders in our community. It is the responsibility of these leaders, through organized service groups, to investigate, plan and inform so that Farmington can look ahead as it moves forward.

Putting Your Foot Down . . .

is alright, in fact, when you're governor of Michigan it is necessary at times. But even the governor should take a quick look first to see if there are any thorns around.

Governor Williams has put his foot down as far as Louis Kunzig, director of the Liquor Control Commission, is concerned. The result may be painful. At least a few people remember back when the liquor business in Michigan was more a problem than anything else. They demanded and got business management devoid of politics.

Now it would appear that the Governor and the majority of the Commission are ready to junk a policy demanded by the people only a few years ago. The governor can't understand the opposition to the removal of Kunzig. He contends, and rightfully so, that the Republicans are harping for government economy and the removal of the director means a saving of $10,000. But does it?

The state liquor business is big business for the state. It is big enough so that a manager is needed. Kunzig has done an outstanding job if comparison with the past and comparison with other states means anything. Up until now it has functioned clear of politics.

If the governor is looking for ways to economize, he should be able to find it easier than that. There is no economy in curtailing important sources of revenue to the state. There are other reductions in payrolls that can be accomplished without taking business organization and efficiency out of government. Stripping a man of his duties is no answer to the problem — if those duties are necessary to continued good management. They definitely were necessary duties — why aren't they just as necessary now?

The state could use plenty of the "putting your foot down" tactics, but not on a thorn — it can be pretty painful.

Weather Report . . .

on the industrial front: It is an early summer. The first heat strike was called last week, while last year it was July before workers struck because of the heat.

Last week's strike was at Briggs Manufacturing Company when a few hundred went out. The result, 5,100 workers idled. We can forget about the 5c cigar now — what this country needs is 12 months of winter to keep production rolling. That is, all but those two weeks for fishing.

BIBLE COMMENT FOR JUNE 18

Faith in Christ Means More Than Believing Miracles

ONE of the most valuable lessons we can learn from a study of the Bible is found in John 6:35: "I am the bread of life; he that eateth of this bread shall never thirst."

It is this Golden Text which should warn us against committing an error in the matter of faith. Take, for example, the two miracles of the feeding of the hungry multitudes. The first was of 5,000 people, and the second was of a similar feeding of a multitude which had been for three days with Jesus.

Their interest, as Jesus Himself reminded them, was not upon a high plane. "Ye seek with this miracle, but because ye did eat of the loaves and were filled."

In a somewhat different way, but in much the same spirit, we may make the same mistake. Our interest and attention may be so concentrated on the physical wonderment of the miracle as to miss altogether its spiritual meaning and significance.

The miracles, as is frequently pointed out, occupy a strange and limited place in the New Testament records. They never dominate the story or take the place of the supreme figure and the supreme fact of Jesus' mission. And His mission as the Saviour of men. That has always seemed the greatest miracle of all.

Those who believe in the miracles need no helpful word. As for others, fix your attention on Christ. It is by faith in Christ, and not by belief in the miracles, that men are saved and made strong.

But your chief thought upon the Golden Text and the wonderful working Saviour of men's souls. Simple faith is not only its own reward; the blessing to be derived from it are magnificent in scope, and to be sought after beyond anything else in life.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By GENE ALLEMAN

Whether it was courage or foolishness, Governor Williams' veto of General Kunzig's salary from the legislative budget has had the practical effect of grabbing on to an angry bull by the tail.

And so when the Democratic majority on the state liquor commission fired Dr. General L. A. Kunzig as its business manager, they flouted the power of the civil service commission.

A suit was filed with the Michigan Supreme court to test the liquor commission's right to abolish Kunzig's position. The Supreme Court ruled that the commission erred; it ordered the Commission to restore Kunzig to his job.

With such a Supreme court mandate, you would assume the liquor control commission would give up the fight and put Kunzig back to work.

Actually, Kunzig was restored to the payroll, but the commission stoutly declined to assign him any duties.

One way out of the dilemma would be for Governor Williams to go to the commission's rescue: Wipe out the general's salary from the legislative budget. Such was within the governor's power as the state's chief executive.

But to do this would be to put the governor technically in a position of nullifying the intent of the State Supreme Court. A good many persons did not think the governor would deliberately choose to put himself on the spot.

Governor Williams, either through courage or foolhardiness, chose to veto the Supreme court decision for all practical purposes. We list the two alternatives for it now appears that the governor's move was a political mistake of first magnitude. The Republicans have a brand new issue. The governor is on the defensive — something he has astutely tried to avoid.

Robert H. Dunn, legal adviser to the civil service commission, has announced a suit would be filed in the State Supreme Court to restore full duties to the ousted business manager. He denounced the governor's veto as "illegal" — interference with the Supreme court's decision. The word was strong, as if the governor was about to defend himself in an impeachment proceeding.

Williams countered with a declaration that Owen J. Cleary, former chairman of the liquor control commission and now Republican state legislator, would be named to the post.

Looking Back Through The Enterprise Files

Forty Years Ago (June 17, 1910)
Commencement Week
The usual exercises which mark the closing of the school year will be given next week. The graduating class is composed of Lucie A. Sprague, Cassie M. Goodrich, C. William Fly, Forrest A. Dickerson, and Lloyd S. Gullen. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Rev. G. E. Gullen in the Methodist Church next Sunday evening. The Junior reception will be given Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Crawford.

Auto Notes
The council of Pontiac has been asked to levy a tax of $1 on every horse and pony and 10 cents for each horsepower of automobiles, the money to be used to keep in repair the streets of that city. Nelson T. Taylor, of Detroit, driver of the auto that struck and killed Edward Buchbinder, a laborer at Birmingham, was fined $25 and costs for violating the state auto laws.

Ten Years Ago (June 30, 1940)
Approve Township Water Plan
First steps were taken Tuesday night by members of the Township Board to provide a long-desired water system for persons living in the southeastern portion of the Township. Petitions were presented to the board signed by 150 persons who agreed to subscribe for the service if it were obtained. Harry Christmas, who has been canvassing the area for subscribers, stated that there would probably be more persons who would want the service after it had been started.

Census is 1950
The official population of Farmington, as shown by the recent census, is 1500 persons. This represents an increase of approximately 20 per cent over the 1930 figure which gave Farmington a population of 1243. While these figures are preliminary and subject to correction, they are believed to be substantially correct.

Five Years Ago (June 14, 1945)
Pass City Budget
Commissioner Bagnall submitted the final budget estimate for the City of Farmington for the year July 1, 1945 to June 30, 1946, at $48,142.00 at the Commission meeting Wednesday evening. The budget is based on tax collections at the rate of $15 per thousand on the city evaluation of $3,692,717.00.
