ATTENDS CONFERENCE

DOWN THE RIVER

By Bob Kettler

Friend of ours dropped in the rriend of ours dropped in the garage for an after-vacation car check-up and told us about his trip. He said he had reversed the usual order of things and had gone south for the summer. Saw a fellow sitting along side of the road and stopped for a bit of direction but the localite didn't seem to know much about the country.

"Well," said our friend, "you mean to tell me you know as little about the country as you do, but yet you've lived in this out of the way place for thirty native.

"Darned," said our motorist,
"if I see what you can find to keep you busy."
"Neither can I," was the answer, "that's why I like it."

"Neither can I." was the answer, "that's why I like it."

Been a rather hectic week, what with people rushing in with money and rushing out with hrand new 1950 Studebakers. The last couple of days they've had to be content with just rushing in with the money, we didn't have enough cars to go around. As a matter of fact, we're a couple of weeks behind with orders right now. However, being of a sanguine frame of mind, we do not believe that the current Korcan episode will upset American economy or manufacturing schedules. We'll take orders as we get them and make delivery just as rapidly as the cars roll in.

Talked to a landlord last week.

Talked to a landlord last week, who complained about how difficult it was to raise the rent these days. May be just a coincidence, but a couple of tenants were making the same complaint

Random thought: middle age

What with one thing and another the shop has been right housy of late, but not too busy to give that car of yours a "perky" time-up to help you enjoy your vacation trip that much more not too, just to make sure that everything is in tip-top shape for a trouble-free drive during the vacation you've awaited for such a long time.

Golly, how these food prices do jump around. By the time we get through mashing our pota-toes, the gravy is too expensive
