PRETTY SNAPPY was the by-word around Farmington over the week end. That's how local residents catalogued the weather during the last big holiday of the summer season. There was definitely a fouch of fail in the air and, although the change brought out jacktes and aveaters, most people liked it. At least the weather was a little more appropriate than last week as far as the football teams were concerned. Farmington's team worked out Monday in their first scrimmage and the water wasn't pouring off from them, either. That's more than we concern last week at this time. Although summer officially still has a couple of weeks to go, the end is definitely near. It's

GARDEN ENTHUSIASTS ...

It is built head at the Farmington Methodist Church this year. So if you like flowers and vescitables and other garden treat, you work want to miss this year's show. THAT LAST FLING

THAT LAST FLING.... If the long Labor Day week end, which ever you want to call it, occub-side the attention of most Farmington residents during the past faw lays. From a glance at the efforts of our various correspondents, you set the idea that no one was in town. However, Friday and Saturday vere big days in Farmington according to local merchants, in fact, one it he biggest. And by the looks of the cars and people on the street, re believe it. So evidently a lot of tolks enjoyed the holiday right Im heir own back yard. This seems to be further borno out by the fact hat taffit through and around Farmington was not as heavy as was specied. expected.

WE'RE COLLECTING .

WE'RE COLLECTING ... miniatures these days. In diametric contrast to inst year's bonanza of oversige vegetation, this trip we have the opposite end of the scale. Another economy size package of the giant Farmington typo vegetable was-brought in here last week by Mrs. Mary Nett, who lives out at 2338 Ruth Street. She toted in a tomato. The vegetable is precisely 7/8 of an inch in diameter and is fully ripeed. The commercial possi-bilities of such produces are infinite, once you stop to think about it. Maybe this small site tomato would be given the whole the over the stop of the stop of the stop state with a 10c ham-burger (whatever happened to those things?). Or perhaps it might be used to advantage to paste the had vaidefile actors on a small itelevision set. We have a feeling Mrs. Net! has stumbled across some thing.

IF YOU HAVENT ... already noticed it, the kids are back at school now. So you'll have to already noticed it, the kids are back at school now. So you'll have to start remembering that once again those "school none" signs mean something. They mean you'd better keep both cycs open and one to close to the brakes. Remember, too, that it is absolutely impossible to predict with any accuracy the morements of youngsters. One may solved in the brakes is the prediction of the school to you may see one already sitting on your front bumper the hard way. So give the kids a brake — IfI take a little more time, perhaps, but it'll keep you out of court and him out of the hospital.

WE REAR our township supervisor is out of the hospital now. He's had a rough boat with the medical men, but once again he's back in chape. He'll be back at Board meetings and all again, although he still must take it easy for a while.
