CIVILIAN DEFENSE IS STOCKPILING PIPE LINE UNITS

Four hundred and fifty miles of emergency-type pipe line units to supply water for fire-fighting and other vital services in the event of an enemy air attack are being stockpiled by the Federal Civil Defense Administration in critical target areas across the nation, including Michigan.

Each unit consists of about 200 parts, pump, tee, couplings, gate valves, pipe caps, and includes 3,500 feet of pipe (172 twenty-foot sections). FDCA units are being stockpiled in the ground on surfaces by the thousands of feet within a remarkably short time to draw water from brooks, rivers, lakes and reservoirs.

Units can carry 1,500 gallons or more water per minute and may be hooked up to existing water mains and street hydrants by means of malleable couplings and flexible hose connections.

Pipe sections made of 12 gauge metal weight about 10 pounds to the foot and are eight inches in diameter. They can easily be handled by two men. Pipe fabrication closely resembles that used by the Army for pipe lines to support invasion troops in World War II. Unit material contracted for the fiscal year of 1952 will cost the Federal government $4 million, $2 million less than the $6 million authorized by Congress for that purpose.

Set Fall Hunting Season Dates

More liberal small game hunting seasons will face next fall's hunters.

Continuing the maximum 22-day pheasant shoot allowed by statute, the conservation commission also has approved some extension of ruffed grouse, partridge, chicken, sharp-shin, snowshoe and cottontail hunting. Bag limits will be the same as last year.

Start of the lower peninsula hunting season has been set back ruffed grouse season October 20 to November 10 instead of October 15 to November 5 as last year. Re-opening is a 10-day upper peninsula season from October 15 to 10 continued again to that part of Menominee County south of US-2.

Ruffed grouse season, upper peninsula or Zone One and northern lower peninsula or Zone Two, runs October 1 to November 10 except no shooting on Bois Blanc, Drummond and Beaver Islands. Before dates were October 15 to November 5 in Zone Two and October 1 to 10 in Zone One. Zone Three or southern lower peninsula hunting period will be October 20 to November 15 as compared to October 15 to November 5 in 1951.

Other seasons are: Cottontail and snowshoe—zones one and two, October 1 to March 1 (Zone Two closes January 31 before); except no hunting on Beaver Island. Zone Three dates are October 20 to January 31 (October 15 to December 15 before).

The conservation commission is expected to set deer hunting seasons at its August 7-8 meeting at the Higgins Lake training school. Action has been referred until August to give more time for consideration by the public and the commission.

SCHOOL PROTESTS

In addition to the property owners' petitions, the Board of Education of the Clarenceville School District have filed a letter of protest against the proposed dump with various City of Livonia officials.

The protest action started last week when five property owners, Mrs. Edna Dohany, Vivian Hales, Maureen A. Thomas, Helen Ely and Tracy Ely, petitioned the City and Livonia for permission to zone the bottom lands of the Rouge River in Section 1, as a Detroit City dump for trash. The present zoning code calls for such an area to be residential and urban farm. The City Council has turned the petition over to the Board of Appeals and the City Engineer for study and recommendation.

It was recommended that the city fire call arrangement be changed from its present set-up so that all calls would be handled through the police department, which is located in the fire hall building. A separate phone would be established for fire calls. The matter was tabled until the Township Board can be contacted.

City Manager James Tennant recommended to the Council that the alleys in the Floral Park section be vacated with the exception of those which abut on commercial property. The City Attorney was directed to draw up the legal forms. It is necessary that a hearing be held and that public notice of the hearing be advertised.

Vandals Active At State Parks

Vandalism is stalking Michigan's park system again this year, as vandals continue to find smashed tables, broken windows, upturned trash containers and valuable property stolen.

Vandalism has been so bad, the conservation department's parks division reports, that reduced facilities are available to the public in certain sections of southeastern Michigan parks. Generally, repeated damage occurs in sunny spots of the bigger recreation areas which do not have the manpower for extensive patrolling.

One favorite practice of park vandals is to chuck picnic tables into rivers and lakes. Park personnel pull the tables from the water, only to have the same chore the following week.

Another problem is with wasteholes in picnic stoves. Expensive and hard to get, the stoves often are stolen.

If vandals can get into buildings, tables and chairs are broken, cupboards are ripped from walls, windows are smashed, and doors are ripped from hinges.

Much park damage is known to be done by minors, and acting on this, New York City is considering an ordinance that makes minors liable for damage done by their children to city parks. In Michigan, police action is used against violators, but apprehension is difficult.
