Members are asked to bring materials and containers. Flower arrangements will be made under the supervision of Mrs. Guy Durgan and Mrs. Glenn Leland.

Dessert will be served at one o'clock and will be followed by the business meeting. Mrs. J. B. McCulloch is chairman of hostesses. She will be assisted by Mrs. Russell Gaston, Mrs. E. Guttiker, Mrs. Clara Grace and Mrs. Austin Grant.

OVERCOOKING VEGETABLES

You are wasting the riches of minerals and vitamins in vegetables if you overcook them, use a large amount of cooking water or hold them too long before serving, say Michigan State College home economists.

Cook vegetables until they are just tender — not mushy. Use as little cooking water as possible.

Two New Kitchen Aids Expedite Summer Meal Preparations

BY EDNA MILES

IN the heat of summer, any gadget that will make getting a meal more pleasant and efficient is welcome. Among the newest are a portable, hand-operated mixer that's really inexpensive and a wall-type coffee mill.

The mixer handles various jobs around the kitchen in record time, thus cutting down the hours spent over a hot stove. It will beat four egg whites stiff in 45 seconds — fast enough for anyone! Further, all of the liquids are drawn into its counter rotating blades so there's no splashing as you work.

There are extra attachments for this mixer, including a fast cream whipper and a beater. All of them are easy to clean.

Lots of men like the taste of freshly-ground coffee but get it all too rarely. They can have it every morning now via a new coffee-mill that, once attached to the wall, grinds beans coarse or fine and shells out enough for 12 cups at one time.

To release the cup, the housewife just presses a button on one side of the mill, then snaps it back on ready for the next round. And at breakfast, the whole family sits down to the kind of coffee grandmother once served.

Coffee mill turns out freshly-ground makings for 12 cups of coffee. It hangs on a wall and comes with a convenient transparent, graduated cup.

Non-splashing mixer beats four egg whites stiff in 45 seconds. It's easy to clean and extra beater and whipper are available.

REPORTS ON STUDY OF LAUNDERING AGENTS, METHODS

The many new types of detergents for laundering clothes have brought numerous queries from housewives as to what their best use and the possible effect on wear, shrinkage or color of fabrics.

Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, home demonstration agent, reports on a recent study made at the Kansas Experiment Station. This study determined that:

1. The amount of synthetic detergent needed for home laundering was about half the amount of other detergents (soap, for instance) required for cleanliness.
2. No one type of detergent or method of laundering caused more shrinkage of fabric than any other.
3. The dresses that were subjected to overlong washing showed a loss of weight, an indication that subjecting fabric to too much friction in washing may cause wear.
4. The length of time fabric is washed appeared to have more effect on loss of color than the detergent used. Generally, the commercial laundering process is longer than home laundering in an automatic washer, and this may be one reason for color loss in commercially laundered garments.

This is a cue to the housewife to run the washing machine only long enough to get clothes clean. To avoid the need for long or hard washing, colored clothes especially should be allowed to become badly soiled before laundering.

Only 13 per cent of America's nine million trucks are operated on a for-hire basis, the rest are privately owned and operated.

Keep Children Occupied During Waiting Period

Never underestimate the curiosity of a child — it will lead him into all sorts of "trouble" and places. With that in mind, Shirley Newsum of the Michigan State College child development department, recommends a little keep-them-occupied strategy.

Well selected toys for the toddlers is Miss Newsum's recommendation for long periods in a doctor's waiting room. When she says "well-selected" she means this: a pre-school child on the loose with rolling beads or pull toys in a crowded office can be a terror to everyone, but a youngster who has simple construction materials that fit together or a doll to dress and undress is happily occupied and blessedly quiet.

Miss Newsum points out that it is possible to keep a child occupied without benefit of toys if he is old enough to play simple guessing games. That holds true on an automobile trip when games can be devised using the countryside as a basis.

Probably the largest fleet of motor vehicles in the world, except for government agencies, is operated by American Telephone and Telegraph Company — 65,700 trucks, trailers and cars.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schuler and children of Illinois spent the week end visiting the Chester Landings on Eight Mile Road before leaving for the Pacific coast last Monday.
