Once Upon A Time . . .

not too long ago, there lived a nation of people in a beautiful rolling valley. They were happy, freedom-loving people who worked hard to advance themselves and improve their little country. But suddenly they were seized upon and before they could even open their eyes, their freedom was gone. No, this is not a fairy story . . . it is real . . . and though it may still have a happy ending, the important warning has been sounded.

These people were like you and I, they had their trials and their joys, they enjoyed their customs and traditions, and they were proud of their history. But they forgot one thing . . . their responsibility as citizens! They had the freedom their forefathers had fought and died for . . . but that was years ago. It was sure now, no one could take it from them. So they relaxed their vigilance, they became complacent and indifferent to their rights and obligations as citizens. They forgot that freedom is no handout. It is not a fixed, sure thing that can be put in a strong-box and stored away. It is something that must be used and developed if it is to remain strong.

Once upon a time we, too, secured freedom and with it certain rights and obligations. Yet that was also years ago. In the meantime we have come to take our rights for granted and have minimized the equally important obligations that have been entrusted to us. We can not enjoy one without ardently practicing the other. They are inseparable!

Next Tuesday, August 5, you and I will have an opportunity to vote. It is a right few of us in this world still enjoy, but even more important, it is an obligation none of us who call ourselves Americans can ignore. You will be naming nominees to the various political parties for candidacy in the November Presidential Election. Yes, you, a housewife, a grocer, a doctor, a painter, a teacher . . . all of you individual Americans. But you will also be voting to strengthen your freedom. You will be serving justice to the world that democracy in America is still alive.

Vote on August 5 for Democracy's sake . . . for your sake!

City Planning . . .

got buried last Monday night under a multitude of problems brought before the Council in a long and active session.

It finally found its way to the top of the agenda shortly before 2:00 a.m. and was wisely tabled until the next meeting. The problems which did come before the Council were important and deserved the discussion and consideration they received. However, it is unfortunate that some time could not have been spent on the proposed planning commission question.

In view of the tremendous increase in work at the monthly City Council meetings, The Enterprise believes that the discussion and possible action on planning should be considered at a special meeting (called solely for that purpose). The entire question deserves careful examination if it is to be handled properly, and it should be taken up at an early date. The very activity of the Council meeting itself, which resulted in a tabling of the question, is symbolic of the growing need of planning. A large number of questions and problems brought to the Council table last Monday night were related to planning.

The question of planning is of the utmost importance if we are to meet the problems and the challenges of a growing community. Yet the creation of a planning commission is not a matter that can be rushed through, it requires planning, too. It should be objectively considered and thoroughly discussed by the Council, free from the activities of a regular meeting. Our future depends upon it!

Not All Rhubarb . . .

grows in the garden. A lot of it has been flourishing in Chicago in the past few weeks.

The Republicans nurtured some pretty good stems three weeks ago and the Democrats turned them into nice, juicy stalks last week. This strange political horticulture happens every four years and in no way resembles the art of the shovel and the hoe.

Unlike the garden variety, the larger size of the political rhubarb, the greater the scorn. But, like the garden variety, it doesn't pay to boost too much when the seed is planted, it may just grow and grow.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

BOOBY TRAP BILLS

Congress was in such a hurry to pack up and go to the conventions that legislation was ground out in wholesale lots without investigation or debate. Most senators and congressmen had no idea what they were voting on. As a result, several sleepers slipped through, as follows:

Tax Grabby — Senator George of Georgia introduced a complicated amendment to the excess-profits tax supposed to adjust the rates for factories of strategic metals. Significantly, however, the amendment was tailor-made to reduce the taxes of one brass company of Bridgeport, Connecticut, whose owner happens to be Herman Steinkraus, outgoing president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. George has long been close to Ellsworth Alford, tax advisor of the Chamber of Commerce.

Chiefs Gray — Congressman Beall of Maryland tried to slip through a bill, authorizing the Willmore Engineering company of Baltimore to collect a $244,000 fine. It so happens that the claim already has been turned down by the Court of Claims and the U. S. District Court. In fact, the claim was so fantastic that the court ordered a FBI investigation of the Willmore company for alleged fraud. Yet Congressman Beall tried to get congress to pay the claim that the FBI is now investigating as fraudulent. Fortunately he failed.

G. I. BONUS
In contrast to the way private bills benefiting a few people were sneaked through congress, here is the play-by-play story of a tough, two-year battle to secure a combat bonus for G. I.'s in Korea.

Almost two years ago, September, 1950, this columnist pointed to the unfairness of a service pay system which gave extra risk bonuses to pilots and submarine crews but none to the boys in the fox-holes. Sen. Tom Connally of Texas took the cudgels by inserting the column in the Congressional Record, following which Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia introduced a bill giving a $50-a-month combat bonus. Russell did his best to push it through.

New G. I. Bill To Help Vets

The President recently signed into law a new GI Bill for veterans who served in the armed forces any place in the world since the start of the Korean conflict on June 27, 1950.

The new law provides five benefits, all designed to assist veterans in their return to civilian life. Included are education and training; guaranteed or insured loans for homes, farms and businesses; unemployment compensa t i o n ; m e s t e r i n g - o u t p a y , a n d j o b - f i n d i n g h e l p .

The education and training provisions allow a veteran one and one-half days of training for each day in service after the outbreak of the Korean fighting — regardless of where the service was performed — up to a maximum of 36 months.

However, veterans who have previously trained under earlier veterans' training laws — the World War II GI Bill or Public Laws 16 or 894 for the disabled — may get up to 48 months, minus whatever time they've already spent in training under those earlier programs.

A veteran may train in school or college, on-the-job or on-the-farm, so long as the school or training establishment has been approved by an appropriate State Approving Agency and meets other qualifications of the law. Only one change of course program is allowed, except under certain conditions determined by the Veterans Administration.

Further information on the law may be obtained by writing the Veterans Administration Information Service at 310 E. Jefferson Avenue, Detroit 22, or phoning Woodward 3-4900.

STATE POLICE ACTIVITY DOWN, BUT IS GAINING

With a detail of officers still on duty at Jackson prison, field activities of the Michigan State Police again showed a sharp reduction in June, but not as great as in the preceding month.

According to the departmental monthly activity analysis, officers available for patrol and general police work made 6,522 arrests in June, 20 per cent below the 8,166 in June of 1951. This included 5,770 arrests for traffic offenses, a 21 per cent decrease under the 7,323 last year.

A report showed, however, that a number of officers had been released from the prison detail since the outbreak of the riot April 20. This additional manpower accounted to a large extent for a 26 per cent increase over the 5,176 arrests made during May.

Department vehicles traveled 790,898 miles in all activities. The 17,052 property inspections made in June were 28 per cent below last year and the 2,321 liquor inspections represented a 16 per cent decrease.

The East Lansing headquarters identification bureau received 7,640 sets of fingerprints. This brought the total on file to 3,642,439, of which 1,837,586 are in the criminal section and 1,705,853 in the non-criminal.

Through fingerprints the bureau identified 25 persons wanted by police as fugitives from justice. In handling 457 sets of fingerprints in connection with applications for licenses to carry concealed weapons, 51 applicants were found to have criminal records.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO (August 5, 1927)

Plans School Building
A new school building is to be erected in Novi. Plans for purchasing a site and construction of the building were formulated at a meeting Monday night. Five acres of land are considered necessary for the building and grounds. The action was taken by the Novi District after a plan to consolidate Novi, East Novi, Bassett, Yerkes, Chapman, Putnam, West Novi and Bentley Districts was turned down at an election. The building will cost $60,000. Three school officials were elected Monday night. They are Archie Atkinson, William Mairs and Blanche Conklin.

To Establish Agency

A Bulck Agency will be opened in Farmington within a few months, according to an unofficial announcement by George Chicketts. The project, backed by General Motors, will include a new building. Two sites are being considered for the building.

Fall Short Of Quota

Farmington failed to meet its sale of Defense Bonds and Stamps by $4,692.65 for the month of July, according to figures released by Chairman Joseph Himmelspach. The quota was set at $31,000 while purchases ran $26,307.35. The August quota for Oakland County has been set at $3,261,000.

Make Dressings

Twenty-two persons attended the first bandage session at the Town Hall Tuesday night. Mrs. W. Allen Nelson, chairman of the Red Cross unit, reported. Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Frederick Bagnall and Mrs. O. E. Dunclek, leaders of the unit, attended a two-day school in Pontiac preceding the first session.

Plan Gas Change

Consumers Power Company plans to change over from artificial gas to natural gas. Belle Smith, district manager, reported this week. Further information on the change is to be available in two or three weeks, Smith stated.

Elect Board President

F. E. Labadie was elected president of the Board of Education of the Farmington Township School District at the organization meeting Monday evening at the Farmington High School. Labadie, former secretary of the Board, will serve as its president for the coming year. Ray D. Eichler, newly elected member of the Board, was named treasurer and D. Gerald Domes, also a newcomer, was elected treasurer.

To Vote

The qualified electors of the Clarenceville School District will go to the polls Monday, August 4, in a special election called by the Board of Education to determine whether or not a new gymnasium will be built for Clarenceville. The Board placed the motion before the voters by action at the last regular meeting. The action was in response to a petition by the Clarenceville Parent Teachers Association calling for a new gymnasium.
