

Farmington Soldier Now Serving In Korea

A Farmington soldier who is serving with a rear area unit gave his infantry buddies a hand in the recent fighting for Triangle Hill in Korea.

Pvt. Donald C. Turnquist, whose wife Hazel lives at 29597 Stockton Road, carried ammunition and supplies to front line foxholes and bunkers during the long, savage battle.

He is a mechanic in Service.

Company of the 7th Infantry Division's 32nd Regiment, which was holding one of the main positions on Triangle Hill.

Turnquist, a graduate of Farmington High School, was a conscript before entering the Army in January of this year.

Crop yields per acre have nearly doubled in the past 20 years.

does have not been properly tabulated and evaluated. It would appear that the conservation department has been right all along in its battle for discretionary powers to set seasons and bag limits according to the requirements of the individual areas.

When the doe season was announced a large wall went up about "those mother deer" and the large number of hunters who would be shot.

Despite good reports from Wisconsin which already had experimented with a doe season, the legislature was reluctant to give up its powers over the hunting laws.

This year 250,000 hunters took out 91,000 deer. The hunter kill was no larger than in other years despite the record number of men in the woods.

Michigan now has a larger deer herd than it had 50 years ago. For the first time in 50 years deer have been seen in northern Indiana. Yet the sobbing about shooting does and fawns has been echoing the length and breadth of the state.

For the last three years Michigan has had mild winters, with relatively little snow. The deer herd multiplies and few are killed by winter starvation. Last year only 10,000 deer died of winter kill. Year before that some 40,000 starved to death.

But remember the winter of 1917 and '18? That year 110,000 deer were counted dead in the woods.

If snow stays on, covering foliage, the animals take to eating poplar and brush leaves. The larger deer clean off the low hanging branches. The smaller does and fawns die.

The conservation department this year says 250,000 deer might have been taken without endangering the deer herd balance. Probably those does will look better on the table than as fox food in the thickets.
