

Schoolcraft To Register

Registration for the spring session at Schoolcraft College will be held on Monday, April 30, for both day and evening students. Classes begin the following day.

Students who will complete their studies during the eight-week session may register in the auxiliary gym starting at 8:30 a.m.

Day students whose last names begin with the letters A through L are taken from 9 to 10. Those with last names from M to Z register between 1 and 3:30 in the afternoon.

Evening students will register between 6:30 and 9, also in the auxiliary gym.

Schoolcraft is offering more than 200 on-campus classes in 30 different subject areas this spring. In addition, classes in advertising, real estate, English, business math, government and psychology are being offered in Garden City.

Persons wishing additional information may call the college.

OCC Graduation Features Milliken

Gov. William Milliken will speak at the seventh annual commencement exercises for Oakland Community College on Sunday, April 29.

Nearly 900 students will be awarded degrees and certificates of completion during exercises in Royal Oak Kimball High School, 1500 Lexington.

The OCC Community Band, under the direction of Walter Mison, will play the processional and Rev. Ronald H. Guttler, of St. Paul Lutheran Church in Royal Oak, will give the invocation.

Dr. S. James Manilla, provost of the Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington, will be among the campus provosts presenting degrees.

Foundation Offering Scholarships

Dr. Donald L. Golden, founder and director of the Detroit Optometric Centers, has announced that applications are now being accepted for the Golden Foundation college scholarship awards.

This is the fifth year in which the foundation has made $500 single grant awards to one winner in each of three counties: Wayne, Oakland and Macomb.

Twelfth grade students in both public and parochial schools are eligible and applications are available from school principals and counselors. Deadline is May 30 and winners will be announced June 10.

Serving her 10th term in Congress, Mrs. Griffiths is a member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee and chairs the Joint Economic Committee's Fiscal Policy Subcommittee.

She sponsored the equal rights amendment and has introduced a major health insurance proposal designed to Local residents as well as students are invited to participate in the first annual creative writing contest on the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College.

Sponsored by the English department, the contest is in short stories and poetry. Winners will be announced May 31 and will receive $25 prizes. A panel of five judges, including published writers from the college, will make the selections.

Contest rules are available from George F. Keith, department chairman and contest coordinator, at the campus, 27555 Orchard Lake Rd., Farmington.

An entrance fee of $1 will be charged. Proceeds will go to the child play center where mothers may leave their children while attending class.

"We're hoping that by offering such a competition we can provide an appropriate community forum for non-professional writers, especially for those writers who have not published previously," Keith said.
