

50th ANNIVERSARY
OBSERVED SUNDAY
BY SCHELLENBERGS

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schellenberg of W. Ten Mile Road celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home on Sunday, February 22.

Some 30 of their relatives and friends gathered to celebrate the honored couple with cards, flowers, gifts and a colorful cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Schellenberg were married in Detroit where Mr. Schellenberg worked for Detroit Edison for many years.

Those present at the party on Sunday included guests from Detroit, Walled Lake, Birmingham, Plymouth and Dearborn.

Garden Club Plans
First Meeting March 2

The Farmington Garden Club will hold its first meeting on Monday, March 2, at the First Baptist Church.

Members of the club have planned dessert for 1:00 p.m. and a business meeting and payment of dues will take place afterwards.

The meeting will feature a talk by Mrs. Clarence Bickling on "All Purpose Gardening" and slides will be shown on "Roundside Beauty" by Mrs. Clarence Johnson.

Mrs. Philip Hensault will be in charge of the hostesses and she will be assisted by Mrs. S. S. Henry, Jr., Mrs. R. Hug, Mrs. E. Humphreys, Mrs. Harley Walters, Mrs. Henry Oils and Mrs. Austin Grant.

CURTAINS BLOCK LIGHT
When conventional draperies and glass curtains the light admitted through a window may be cut by as much as a third, warn Michigan State College home economists.

Solve the light-cutting problem by extending the draperies over the wall, rather than the window, they suggest.

A thought is often original, though you have uttered it a hundred times.

P.T.A. Group Appreciates
Talk by Prof. Sullivan

"How to help children help themselves," was the theme chosen by Professor John C. Sullivan for his speech to the Clarencville P. T. A. Tuesday, February 17.

Professor Sullivan teaches Educational Psychology at Wayne University, and has made a specialty of child psychology.

Some of the high lights of his remarks were as follows: The importance of a child's problems with him, keeping in mind that his world is not the same as that in which you grew up.

"Show the same consideration of his feelings as you do those of adults."

"Let him know that you are supporting him with loyalty and love."

On the subject of punishment, the professor believes that depriving a child of something that matters to him for a designated length of time, (a few days or a week or a month to a child) is more effective than repeated spankings.

He concluded his talk by urging parents to take time and enjoy their children, they will not be children long.

Following a short business meeting, the second grade mothers from Central School served pie and coffee to all.

Work Nears Completion
For Dance Class Recital

Costumes are nearly completed and a rehearsal is all that remains until the Betty Johnston Dance Studio gives its February program of tap, singing, ballet and Spanish dancing.

Children from Northville, Farmington, Livonia, Clarencville and Brighton will take part in the program, which will be given at the Clarencville High School on Saturday, February 28, at 8:00 p.m.

Everyone who attends is promised a fine evening of entertainment.

Troop 174 had its Valentine pot luck dinner at the home of Charlotte Bowden. They have also had a skating party at Judy Lange's home and their troop leader, Mrs. Hart, had a surprise party complete with cupcakes and punch.

Lots of activity in that troop.

Troop 400 was completely surprised when committee members Snyder and Mrs. Tinson had a Valentine party for the leaders and girls.

The leader, Mrs. Hupert, says plans for the booth on Switzerland, which is the international home for Girl Guides and Scouts, is well under way. Even the leaders and committee members will dress in costumes.

Our Lady of Sorrows really took on a project when they transported 120 Girl Scouts and Brownies to the Shrine Clinic. Leaders from all over the area were present.

Troop 175 from Our Lady of Sorrows made lemon pies and brought them to the teachers in order to pass their good wishes.

Troop 172, a senior troop, spent a week end in February at Camp Narin. The six girls worked from schedules — doing the cooking and camp chores.

Mrs. and Mrs. Regan and their girls did a lot of skating while getting credit toward the new Five Point Program.

Did you readers know that Mrs. Regan, Mrs. Charles Jones and Mrs. Charles Jones have a Tween High Troop in addition to Senior Scouts? Both meet on the same day.

The nine teens high had their Valentine party at Regan's home and gave square dancing and foot galore.

Troop 176 of Our Lady of Sorrows has a membership of 15 girls. They had a get-acquainted Valentine Tea for their mothers recently and last night Mrs. Walters was thrilled when ten mothers came to see the girls model New Zealand native costumes which will be seen at the Girl Scout Banquet celebration in March.

The girls brought the sandwiches and cookies — proving they were real hostesses to co-leaders Mrs. Thornton and Mrs. Reid.

Did you know Mrs. Snyder is taking the Red Cross First Aid Course? She is the second committee woman known to be taking Girl Scout courses.

ACCUSTOMED FAMILY
TO NEW ARRIVAL,
ADVISES EXPERT

When it is time for a second baby to arrive in a family, many parents begin to worry about the problem of jealousy in the older child.

The child psychiatrist, Miss Jean Foulkrod of the home management and child development department at Michigan State College.

Jealousy must always be expected when a new baby comes, she advises, but fortunately there are some things that can be done to help the older child accept a new brother or sister gradually.

Don't wait until the baby arrives to announce it to older children. Give them a few weeks to get accustomed to the idea. Let the child have some part in getting ready for the new baby by helping stack up the diapers and little new clothes. Another suggestion made by Miss Foulkrod is to let the child visit a new baby to be prepared and know what to expect when his "own" baby arrives.

To avoid his feeling like the bottom has dropped out of his world when his mother has gone to the hospital, the child development specialist urges the father to begin taking more care of the child in the weeks prior to the new baby's arrival. Other friendly adults like grandparents and aunts should be around the child more, too.

When mother does get home from the hospital, Miss Foulkrod advises her to take special pains to make the older child feel cherished and wanted in this strange situation. Give him a package of crayons or lollipops when someone brings a present for the new baby and take time to tell him about when he was a baby. Don't too much over the new baby, who probably won't need too much handling anyway. Those are suggestions made by Miss Foulkrod to ease an older child into the new role of being a brother or sister.

Originality is the one thing which unoriginal minds cannot feel the use of.

Quick Fruit Cake Pudding

A most appealing dessert for an autumn day is fruit cake pudding made the quick way with packaged fruit cake slices and pudding mix. It's a picture pudding with every bite of mellow fruit cake deliciously coated with smooth pudding — just the kind of hearty dessert we all look forward to in the fall. You'll like it for family meals, for drop-in guests to enjoy with coffee, and certainly for company dinner dessert.

Fruit cake slices are made from a famous cook book recipe. You'll find them at your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. They are cut by the baker from a loaf fruit cake and packaged individually for your convenience in buying just what you need. Each attractively wrapped five servings of pudding with one package of pudding mix, or about the same amount of your own delicious soft custard.

1 package vanilla pudding mix 2 1/2 cups milk
Five fruit cake slices

Prepare pudding mix as directed on the package, using 2 cups of milk. When cooled to room temperature, mix in the remaining half-cup milk. Cover and chill. Break fruit cake slices into marble-size pieces, add pudding, mix carefully, and pile into sherbet glasses. Keep chilled until ready to serve.

Student's Invention
Helps GI's In Korea

The combat-inspired invention of John V. Polomsky, Michigan State College, freshman from Cleveland, Ohio, is helping to keep the hands of American troops warm in sub-freezing Korean weather.

The 22-year-old mechanical engineering student, was a Marine sergeant in Korea during the winter of 1950. He found that a rifle working the trigger of his rifle while wearing heavy gloves. And if gloves were taken off in weather 30 below zero, frostbite struck, often disabling fingers permanently.

When winter came in 1951 Polomsky was ready. He had made a device from a discarded canteen cup handle which enabled him to work the trigger of his rifle without removing his gloves. His adapter was considered so important that most front-line troops were using a modification of it by January, 1952.

The Marine Corps, after studying several ideas for adapters, came up with its own version. The "Bell Crank" as it is now called, is standard cold weather equipment for all combat troops.

Polomsky's invention was a spring-lever which could be squeezed by a gloved hand, firing the trigger.
