Of Play, "Arsenic And Old Lace"

The Junior Class gave an adequate performance of the one-act Broadway hit, "Arsenic and Old Lace", Saturday, April 18, in the high school auditorium.

As a whole, the play ran smoothly despite slow cues, some poor sound effects, and some late curtains.

The two old maid sisters, Abby and Martha Brewster, portrayed respectively by Joan Rosenbloom and Marlene Sampson, did a fine job, for the most part, with two very difficult parts. However, they were frequently out of character, especially with their voices sounding quite young.

President Roosevelt or Teddy Brewster, in the play enacted by Paul Kosmowsky, was excellent in his interpretation of the character, but Paul mumbled occasionally and at these times was hard to understand.

Richard Goulet, as the play critic Mortimer Brewster, had to carry the main thrust of the story. This was a big assignment. To this reviewer he, at first, was too casual but finally got into the swing of the story and did a bit of acting which he can be proud of.

Arthur Schaldenbrand as Jonathan Brewster, the quite dangerous brother, was especially convincing in his brooding of Alan Alexander, as Dr. Einstein, who with his German accent provoked many laughs. Al, at times, was not as meek as the character seemed to call for.

Kathryn Gardner in the supporting role of Elaine Harper did especially well in scenes opposite Jonathan Brewster.

There were many other minor roles, some of which were excellently done. Joe Petty, as Officer O'Hara, seemed as if he had come straight from Ireland to play the role of a typical Irish city policeman. Rooney, portrayed by Gordon Ayres, with his roars, represented perfectly the audience's conception of the hierarchy of the police force.

Mr. Gibbs, who wanted to rent a room, was played by Roger Goers who seemed to wait for cues, but he still provided many laughs for the short time he was on the stage.

The policemen, Brophy and Klein, played by June Brakke and Sharon Burke, respectively, were a good addition to the cast.

The "super" of Happydale Sanitarium proved that Tom Isley could pantomime as well as deliver his lines.

Don Ross played the part of the minister.

Wayne Blakely, who was the corpse, was not mentioned in the program. He should be congratulated for staying in the window box for most of the second act.

The play was directed by Mr. Raymond Sherpliss with the aid of student directors Lenore Gilde-meister and Patricia Cox. Prompters were Carole Jones and Carol Aho.

Michigan's last coal mine, operated near Swan Creek in Allegan County, closed down early in 1952, bringing an end to a colorful era in the state's history.

A FEATURE:

SENIORS TO GIVE ANNUAL PROM THIS SATURDAY

It smells these fragrant roses —

You will, if you come to the Farmington High gym about 9:00 p.m. Saturday, April 25, for the annual Senior Prom. At that time, Farmington High students and their dates will dance "Neath the Roses" to the music of Danny Baker.

The seniors have been working hard for several weeks to give the gym an authentic air of roseland. Whatever your favorite color or type of rose may be, you are certain to find it blooming there.

Refreshments, consisting of the usual punch and cookies, will be served from beneath a rose arbor in one end of the gym.

Another rose arbor will shelter the orchestra at the opposite end. In addition, other arbors will provide booths for some couples.

Choreographed spot lights, suspended from the ceiling, will also add to the gay atmosphere.

Tickets may be purchased that evening at the door or now from the following seniors: B. Tyler, P. Black, B. Calhoun, J. Bryan, A. Brown, J. Garley, J. Moss, J. Seitz, P. Kestel, and J. Egner.

SENIORS WIN TWO FIRSTS IN COMPETITION

LOU DOWLING

Two Farmington Seniors won first places in the District Forensic contest held at Westacres Golf Club, April 15.

Lou Dowling won first place in the extemporaneous division. The title of her speech was "More A-Bomb Tests". Lou also received the only perfect score of the day, a 300.

Bill Kingsley placed first in the Original Orator with his speech entitled "The Plastic Cause".

Maxine Kudia and Elizabeth Mershenk also entered the contest.

Plymouth, Walled Lake and Waterford were the other competing schools.

Mr. Raymond Sherpliss, the contestants' coach, accompanied the group.

On April 28, Bill and Lou will compete in the regionals at Waterford.

College Night Plans Under Way For Next Fall

The College night plans for next fall were made at a meeting at Northville High, April 16. Miss Jacqueline Duck, MaryJo Goers, and Bob Isley were the representatives from Farmington.

Plans are under way for the event to be held at Waterford High November 11.

Representatives from several colleges will be present for the night. Different military men will represent the R. O. T. C. and other military organizations.

There will also be a representative from the draft board.

Next fall all the schools in the Interlakes League plan to take a survey of the seniors' choice of colleges they might like to attend.

A FEATURE:
PERMITS ISSUED TO F.H.S. STUDENTS FOR PART TIME JOBS

There have been 118 working permits issued to Farmington High students from July 2, 1952, to April 14, 1953.

These permits are given to students who work part time, to be filled out by their employer and parents.

Working minors from the ages of 14 to 17 should obtain permits from the superintendent's office.

Students working part time hold various types of jobs. One very popular one is pinsetting at bowling alleys. Other jobs are:

Shoeing shoes, clerking in grocery stores, caryouts in stores, waiters in theaters, waitresses and dishwashers at school, Horticultural distributors, telephone operators, clerking in jewelry stores, counter girls at dairy bars, dime store clerks, caddies at golf courses, and Boy Scout Camp Counselors.

Working permits are also issued to people who have quit school or graduated. L.E.G.

Editor And Top Writer Named At Assembly

The editor of the next year's school paper and the outstanding journalist of the year were named at the Publications Assembly on April 18.

Paul Kosmowsky was named the editor of next year's paper, which will be printed on the new school press.

Dorothy Cant was given the outstanding journalist award. An assistant copy editor of the Blue and White, she has published over 200 inches of copy in the Blue and White. Dorothy made a very complete coverage of the Carnival, writing twelve stories in all.

What's new about
"TT" DYNAFLOW?

The TAKE-OFF'S TERRIFIC!

It's only fair to warn you.

When you try a new Buick with the sensational Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive,* you'll tingle all over with thrill.

You'll sweep your speedometer needle from zero to 30 mph so quickly, you won't have time to breathe but twice. You'll move from a standing start to legal speed so quietly, you'll practically hear your heart beat. You'll experience such complete and utter smoothness every step of the way, you'll be wholly relaxed, refreshed, and ready for more.

This is not dream stuff. This is real.

This is what actually happens when you're at the wheel of a new 1953 Buick with TT Dynaflow.

Twin Turbines in the Dynaflow unit, instead of just a single one—in addition to other engineering advances—make the tremendous difference.

So you feel a firmer and more immediate "take hold"—get far faster getaway, new quiet and efficiency, plus infinite smoothness to and through every speed range.

There's a lot more to be had, of course, in these great new Buicks. Higher horsepower and compression ratios. A still finer ride. Easier handling. Improved visibility. More comfort and richer interiors.

But start with take-off—the greatest in Buick's fifty great years—and learn the rest of the story from there. Can you drop in on us this week?
