Identical issue which was refused last month without a guarantee of maintenance could have been sold in January. Several similar issues from other states were brought up, but the abundance of such bonds on the national market forced sellers to make their deals better. The state must now agree to maintain the bridge during the retirement of the bonds (to the tune of an estimated $419,000 per year). If the bonds are to be sold, arguments on both sides of this question may lead to some interesting battles.

Senate approval for the Mackinac Bridge maintenance bill was predicted by Sen. William A. Ellis, worth, one of its sponsors. But he made no such predictions about the House. Decision on this matter seems to be left down to the committee that will study the bill. If it is reported out, Representatives will have a chance to vote it through. If not, it will die. Tough luck has dogged Bridge financing. Bond salesmen say the

SCOUT CIRCLE NOW DIVIDED INTO TWO GROUPS

More than 150 persons attended the recent annual meeting of the Oakland Circle District at the Community Activities Building in Waterford. This meeting was characterized as the last annual meeting for the District, which because of its size, has been divided into two new districts for more effective operation.

The invocation was delivered by the Rev. Charles Ritchey of the Millford Presbyterian Church. William VanderVen led in the Pledge of Allegiance and in group singing. He also pleased the audience with two solo numbers.

Kenneth Sanderson, District chairman, reviewed the history of Oakland Circle, recalling that it became a part of the council in 1922, but became a fully organized district in 1946 with a total membership at that time of 1,451 Scouts and leaders. The present membership of the district is 3,523, showing a growth in the past eight years of 143%.

Next on the program was a showing of a new film, "One A Scout," after which the group broke up into two sections representing the new districts. Francis Collom acted as chairman of the committee for the northern division, and Nick Lup acted as chairman for the southern division. The southern division of the old Oakland Circle District, comprised of Farmington, Novi, West Bloomfield, Lyon, Commerce, Milford, Highland, and parts of White Lake and Waterford Townships, selected the name "Ottawa" for their new district. The northern division is to be known as the "Manito" district. These Chippewa Indian names are in keeping with the rich Indian tradition of this section of the country.

Officers elected for the Ottawa District are: District Chairman, Kenneth Sanderson of Westacres; vice-chairman, Nick Lup of Dublin; District Commissioner, William Bureau of Farmington.

About 175 continuous mining machines, which cut and load coal in one operation, are in use in the nation's coal mines.

Resorters and cottagers expressed happiness earlier in the session with a bill which controlled the speed of motor boats on lakes and rivers. The bill passed almost unanimously in the House and was sent to the Senate. There it died in committee. Reason given is from a proposed waterways commission for the use of lake bottom to build docks or wharves. An offer to remove this section of the bill did not convince members of the committee the speed control portion should be approved for Senate vote.

Michigan's Supreme Court elections have taken to the limelight lately. Chief Justice John R. Dehms recently attacked the present system of selecting judges, asking "Can judicial officials be expected to hand down impartial decisions when those decisions may affect their re-election?" He also cited instances where organizations worked in elections to defeat judges who had ruled unfavorably in litigation affecting the group.

The Chief Justice supports a plan currently advanced by the Michigan Bar Association where judges would be appointed rather than elected.

Justice Dehms won the recent election for his position over Justice Clark J. Adams by only 2,054 votes and many people expected the loser to ask for a recount. Although this may seem close, it's a wide margin compared to the spring of 1943 when Emerson R. Boyes of Charlotte defeated Bert D. Chandler of Adrian 173,228 to 173,226. Despite the slim two-vote margin, Chandler did not ask for a recount. Adams followed this precedent, holding that the integrity of the Supreme Court should be above the questioning of a vote of the people.

Before entering the Army in August, 1951, Farrell graduated from Farmington High School and Wayne University in Detroit.

HOW HE LOST HIS PARDON

Sam Holmes was in jail in Frankfort, Kentucky, under charge of murder. He was visited one day by an old schoolfriend, Lucien Young.

Some years before this visit, Lucien Young had been cited by the Kentucky legislature for bravery in the rescue of several persons from a wrecked ship. So it was not strange that Governor Blackburn consented to let Sam Holmes' case when Lucien Young asked him to do so. The governor granted and signed a pardon.

The pardon papers sat in his pocket, Lucien Young returned to the prison to give Sam the good news. Before discussing the presence of so important a document, Young began conversing on several topics, with this final question:

"Sam, if you were turned loose and fully pardoned, what would be the first thing you would do?"

The convict very quickly responded, "I would go to Lancaster, and kill Judge Owsley and a man who was a witness against me."

Young turned mournfully away, went outside the prison wall, took the pardon from his pocket, and tore it into bits.

The governor did not grant a pardon because of a change of Sam Holmes' character. It was issued solely for the sake of this heroic friend. Though Lucien Young carried an unconditional forgiveness to the cell of the prisoner, Sam remained unforgotten and under condemnation, in spite of the governor's pardon, because he would not forgive. He had no pentience or sorrow with which to meet pardon and accept mercy.

God has granted a pardon to all mankind, not upon merits or character, but solely for Christ's sake. God has offered you pardon from sin through the death of His Son, Jesus Christ. But mankind remains unforgotten and condemned as long as it refuses to repent and accept God's offer of forgiveness.

Friend, remember that if you die in your sins it is because you would not live. Christ offers you salvation. Receive Him now while the grace and mercy of God still extend a pardon to you.

"God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil."—John 3:17-19
