'Fawn Dropping' Season Begins This Week

"Fawn dropping" time begins generally over the state this week, the conservation department notes, and again asks that woodland visitors leave the cute and spotted youngsters strictly alone.

Does will be giving birth to their young during the last week of May and through the first two weeks of June.

Often left unattended during daylight hours, fawns are sometimes found in the open, apparently lonesome and abandoned. Such is not the case; Mother Deer is either close by or will return at night to nurse her offspring.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

A Little Headwork Saves a Lot of Footwork

"I don't ever aim to give up fishing," Pappy Hayes said one day. "But the older I get the less I like hiking over to Pike's Creek. Guess I'll have to bring the fish nearer to me."

So Pappy got his nephew to bulldoze down about three acres of bottom land. Then he dammed up the little stream there.

He wrote the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in Washington, and got some "blue gills" and bass to stock it—free. Pappy's idea wound up giving him (and us) just about the best fishing pond in the county ... right in his own back yard.

From where I sit, Pappy may be older than some of us but his mind is active—and open. He's ready to listen to anybody with an idea. That's why he and I can talk on any subject—sometimes about his preference for battermilk and mine for beer. And though we disagree, we respect each other's opinion. That's a neighborliness without a "catch" to it.

It can set you a tangle with thrill. It can move from zero to legal speed quicker and quieter than any Buick before it—and with the utter smoothness of a gull in glide—because this is a 1953 Buick with the spectacular getaway of Twin-Turbine Dynaflo. It can loaf easily up a long steep hill—swoop instantly ahead when there's safe passing to be done—or whisper along at highway pace with throttle barely open—because this is the Buick powered with the world's most advanced V8 engine, with record-high compression of 8.5 to 1.

It can surround you with comfort, luxury, restful ease.

It can velvet a rough road with its even softer all-coil-spring cushioning—track true on curves with its solid torque-tube steadiness—handle like a flyer with its Power Steering—gentle to a precise halt with its Power Brakes.

And it can seat you in the superb comfort of true spaciousness—because this big and brawny beauty is the Buick SUPER Riviera Sedan—roomiest six-passenger sedan made in America.

Above all, this car can give you supreme value—more room, comfort, power and thrill for the money than you can find elsewhere.
