Dear Editor:

In Woodbine Subdivision hunting goes on all the time. Not only little birds and animals, also expensive window panes are the targets of these trigger happy hunters. Yesterday I found one of my front window panes shattered by a bullet and it's not even the hunting season. I think it would be a wonderful thing to take all these happy hunters and send them to Korea and age should be no barrier. If they are old enough or young enough to shoulder a gun they are just the right age for Korea. Let's close hunting in Farmington Township before someone gets killed - it's too late after a human life is taken. And let's do something about police protection. One lone policeman can hardly take care of the whole township. This is important to everyone. Let's get together and make Farmington Township a good place to live.

Sincerely yours,
Elise P. Avery

Unexpected Vacancy As Yet Unfilled

An unexpected vacancy at a popular group camp in the Waterloo Recreation area will leave the site unoccupied from August 16 through Labor Day unless another group applies for its use, the conservation department notes. A group withdrew its reservation of the area recently after purchasing its own camping site. The popular Cedar Lake camp in the Waterloo area will accommodate 72 campers and 15 staff members. The camp is equipped with dishes and all utensils except linens and personal effects. Interested groups may apply to the department's parks division in Lansing for use of the site.

YOUTH SECTION OF COMPETITION

Any boy or girl, living in a metropolitan area, will no longer have to compete with parents for prizes in the home arts department at the Michigan State Fair, September 4 through 13.

A new section has been set up for youngsters under 14 years of age who are not qualified to make entries in the Junior show home-making department. Entries in this department must be through the county extension agent or high school vocational instructor, which eliminates the would-be contestant living in an urban area, according to Mrs. Polly Luera, home arts director.

The top 50 coal companies accounted for one-half of total bituminous coal production in 1952.
