

To Wed In Spring

William Greens Feted
On Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hazen and their son Charles attended the silver wedding dinner of Mr. and Mrs. William Green on Delaware recently.

Guests from out of town included: Mrs. Green's Cousins, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clouse Patrick; Mr. Green's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Fletcher from Maine.

Many friends spent the happy day with the Greens and all wished them many more happy years together.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fletcher will be returning home to Maine this week. All who met them at the dinner have wished them a safe trip home and hope that they return to Michigan again next year.

Extension Members
Meet At Kensington

The Farmington Eight Mile Extension Group met at Kensington Park for its annual picnic on August 6 with eleven members and four guests present.

Patricia Russell, as chief fireman, acted competently and the members and their guests soon had hot coffee, sweet corn and hamburgers aplenty — and everyone ate too much. Later the children went swimming while their mothers played canasta and pinocle.

Mr. and Mrs. Elward Aho of 29705 Edgell in Farmington announce the engagement of their daughter, Arlene, to Carl Dryden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dryden of 21008 Roosevelt. Both of the young people are 1952 graduates of Farmington High School. They have planned a spring wedding.

IT'S A BOY!

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sechler of Middlebelt Road, formerly Mrs. Elizabeth Weaver, announce the birth of an eight pound five ounce son, born at Art Centre Hospital.

Proper Beach Wear for That Trim Look

BY EDNA MILES

LOOKING pretty at the beach takes work in the form of beforehand planning. Even casual observation of beach get-ups leads to the suspicion that seventy-five per cent of all women at the beach have never so much as glanced at themselves in the mirror before they left the house.

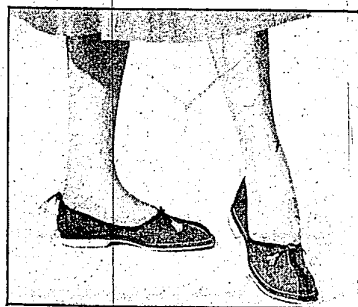

Full length appraisal is essential. The swim suit to cut down figure faults has been on the market for sometime now and is no rarity. The sand or slitting suit that performs similarly is designed to be kind to too-heavy thighs, upper arms and bust.

A good many women continue to cram themselves into that hardest of all suits to wear: white. This demands the absolute in figure perfection. Or, women with large derrieres bounce about in blommer suits with completely covered backs. They are fond of pink which is definitely enlarging.

Another failing is that of "wearing out" and house-dresses or just plain old clothes at the beach. This is fooling yourself, just like eating that last piece of pie "to keep from wasting it."

Halter top for shorts or skirts in white or black plique. This Dorothy Korby design is ideal for beach or summertime evening.

Casual summer shoe that takes readily to sand is this Desco design in gray denim with black leather trim. Light crepe sole is flexible; whole shoe can roll up into the palm of a hand.

You're in the public eye at the beach so look your very best.

Sleep top for a pair of trim shorts is Dorothy Korby's little molded plique halter in black or white with a single big shiny black button. Bring along a skirt for cover-up and you're ready to go on from the beach to dinner.

We've picked a sandshoe with denim upper and crinkly crepe sole as a likely beach candidate. It's light, very flexible and comes in gray denim with black kid trim.

RULES GIVEN FOR SCALDING VEGETABLES

An important rule to remember during the home freezing season for vegetables is that all must be scalded (blanched) according to direction and cooled before freezing.

Boiling water is the surest method for scalding, according to foods and nutrition specialists at Michigan State College.

Use a large kettle holding at least four quarts of water. Scald only one pound of the prepared vegetable at one time so the temperature of the water will not be lowered too much when the vegetable is added.

Scalding time varies with each vegetable. Use a reliable guide for the time ranges for each vegetable. One such guide is the bulletin entitled "Freezing Foods for Michigan Homes," which may be obtained through your nearest extension office or agent.

Time for scalding depends on the size, age and variety. Be sure that the product has been heated to the center. Place the vegetable in a wire basket, colander or cheesecloth. After the water has reached a rolling boil, place the product into it. Count the time from the instant the vegetable is immersed. Stir occasionally to get uniform heating. Bring the water to a vigorous boil between each batch.

Cool the product immediately after removing it from the boiling water. Use cold running water or ice water. Quick, effective cooling makes better frozen products. Leave in the cold water only long enough to cool the product to the center. Drain excess water from product.

Joyce Lydia Gunnett Repeats
Marriage Vows On July 25

The Reverend Russell Suraw of Farmington Methodist Church performed the double ring ceremony on Saturday, July 25, when Miss Joyce Lydia Gunnett exchanged vows with Mr. Bernard Harris.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brown of 24517 Westwood Drive and Mr. Harris is the son of Mrs. Vera Harris and the late Mr. Harris of 2225 Middlebelt Road.

As she marched down the aisle for the 7:30 p.m. candlelight ceremony, the bride carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis, which gave accent to her beautiful gown of white rose-patterned Chantilly lace. She wore an undershirt of white summer satin which was completely covered with three layers of nylon tulle.

The bride's gown featured a scalloped neckline and full-length illusion sleeves. Her headpiece consisted of an illusion duch cap, completely covered with tiny seed pearls, which held a fingertip veil.

Mrs. Ernest L. Mechem, a friend of the bride, served in the capacity of matron of honor. Her gown was made of lavender-colored taffeta, which was covered by two layers of white net. She carried a bouquet of split yellow gladioli.

Mrs. Douglas Atkins and Miss Betty Lou Moore were bridesmaids and their gowns were of seafoam green and yellow taffeta and both were covered with white net. Both wore corded caps to match their dresses and carried yellow gladioli.

Gordon Harris served as best man for his brother and groomsmen were Mr. James LaPrese and William H. Brown. Guests were ushered into the church by Donald Youles and Robert Gostley.

Appropriate musical music was sung by Mrs. Dorothy Miller.

Other participants in the ceremony included Miss Kaye Lynn Moore, who served as flower girl, and Master Ricky Pentecost, who was ring-bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brown wore a street-length dress of beige colored shantung and white accessories. Her corsage was composed of dark red roses.

Mrs. Harris chose a street-length gown of aqua crepe with lace trim. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of pink roses.

A reception was held at the Farmington American Legion Home following the ceremony.

The bride is a 1951 graduate of Farmington High School and Mr. Harris received his diploma from the same school in 1948.

A. A. U. W. To Sponsor Book Sale In October

CANNING PEACHES

When you're ready to can peaches this season, figure on one bushel of peaches (48 pounds) providing from 18 to 24 quarts, says Robert Hershey, foods and nutrition extension specialist at Michigan State College.

Two and one-half pounds of peaches will yield one quart. Whether you leave the seeds in or remove them naturally makes a difference in the number of jars you'll need for the same amount of peaches.
