It's Our Opinion

protection in Farmington Township is becoming an ever-increasing necessity. Growth in population, increases in total property value and emphasis on more strict law enforcement demands additional policemen.

This is not just another scheme to spend tax dollars but rather an attempt to provide badly needed service. At the present time the township has one police officer for an estimated 15,000 population. He must attempt to patrol the 36 sections of the township, make periodic checks on the bars and taverns in the area and be available for emergency call on a 24-hour basis. This is quite an order for one man. Obviously he can not possibly perform all these duties all the time.

As time goes on demands for service will become even greater. New laws are being enacted regularly and they must be enforced. Patrolling of the township roads and highways is also becoming an important necessity. Emergency calls for service are continuing to increase as the township develops. State police and sheriff's officers are unable to give the close-in protection because of personnel and broader demands for their services.

The Township Board has, on several occasions, considered the addition of another policeman. The Enterprise believes that the time for action is now.

The Drafting . . .

of a proposed ordinance establishing requirements for off-street parking on future commercial and industrial property in the city is the first and probably most important step in the development of our shopping center.

We do not know what the final draft of the proposal will contain, but the basic idea is sound. Before any constructive program of commercial development can be started the essential facilities must be provided. Experts in the field of commerce know the necessity of off-street parking and they will not make an investment unless facilities are available, not only in connection with their business but the businesses of others around them.

The adoption of a practical off-street parking ordinance supplemented by municipal parking facilities will do much to add to the attractiveness of Farmington as a shopping center. It is essential if we are to meet the competition being provided by communities all around us. As soon as we have the necessary tools to work with, the job of building can and must be accelerated. The shortage of parking facilities and the limitations of our commercial center are today denying our schools, our local government and our merchants unmeasurable sums.

Let's hope that this is the first step in a non-stop hike to the top!

Digging Out Communists . . .

in the government is not the best way in the world to become universally popular, as Senator Joseph McCarthy can testify.

But there is far more to McCarthy's unpopularity than his crusade against Communism in the United States. Most Americans distaste Communism as much as the Wisconsin Senator does and they are as anxious to expose it. Unfortunately McCarthy apparently doesn't see it that way. As a result he has created heated controversy at home and abroad. We do not mean to infer that his campaign against Communism has been useless or that it should not be continued. Any threat against the basic principles of our democracy should be exposed and eliminated wherever and whenever it is found.

However, to make blanket accusations against organizations, religious groups and government agencies based on the activities of a few members is not only irresponsible but extremely dangerous. If we are to deal with Communism swiftly and effectively, the aid and the confidence of all true Americans are needed. General charges against the schools, the churches, or a specific governmental department only creates animosity. We must seek out the individual traitors and expose them rather than condemn an entire group because of a few.

Nor should any public official be above honest and constructive criticism. Yet a criticism of McCarthy is too often the forerunner of an investigation of the critic.

Let's not get lost up a dark alley someplace. . . let's remember what we are trying to do and then do it. . . namely expose Communists!

Michigan Mirror
INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Chances to bag a deer are about as good as last year. And pleasant hunters can figure to shoot about the same number of birds as in 1957.

That's the prediction of Gerald E. Eddy, director of Michigan's Conservation Department, whose job it is to know such things. Maintaining a wildlife census is only one of the responsibilities of the Conservation Department. Most of its duties, usually taken on by the public, have a direct effect on every Michigan citizen.

"To give the people the maximum benefit from natural resources is the aim of the modern conservation department," explains the director. "The old idea was to conserve by many restrictions," he continues. "But now we know that by careful planning, we can use more and have more left."

Illustrations of this are studies which show that short fishing seasons can actually result in overpopulation of fish in inland lakes. Deer, it was learned, multiply "nearly as rapidly as rabbits." Six were released in a protected area under ideal conditions. In six years, the same area contained 130!

This season will include one day when any deer, doe or buck, can be taken. The day is December 1; the area is limited to the territory north of M-55 in the lower peninsula.

A double problem is created for Conservation officials by the rapid expansion of Michigan's population. More people in the state mean more fishermen, more hunters, more campers. And living space for more people leaves increasingly less of Michigan's $7 million acres to devote to outdoor activities.

"What our department needs, says director Eddy, is some organized support." He was referring to support which could lobby on behalf of conservation interests with the state Legislature. "Nearly everyone benefits from parks and other activities of the department," the director said. "But lack of organized pressure results in appropriations too small for park expansion which we think necessary."

The Conservation Department is proud of its system of state parks. Figures show that more than 13,250,000 picnickers and bathers will make use of them this season. Camping in park sites has been increasing for several years; it is now at an all time high. "We could do and should do much more," states Mr. Eddy.

Pride is also taken by the department in its record of reducing loss from forest fires. Its program (Continued on Page Three)

LOOKING AHEAD
By GEORGE S. BENSON
President - Reading Club
Sturgis, Michigan

During the last 25 years the teaching of sociology in our high schools and colleges has become one of the most influential educational forces in the country. The student of millions of youth is being shaped by what he studies in sociology textbooks. Dr. A. H. Hobbs, professor of sociology at the University of Pennsylvania, has made an exhaustive study of 83 widely used textbooks. He declares that instead of giving unbiased presentations of scientific facts some of the textbooks are promoting the viewpoint of leaving "liberalism."

"Severe criticism appears justified," Dr. Hobbs declares, "because textbook authors continue to mock the fundamental rules of scientific presentation and persist in flaunting their 'objectivity' under a scientific banner under which they parade their prejudices. The presentation of 'sociological emphasis' (special 'liberal' pleading) becomes stronger in more recent texts and is particularly pronounced in high school texts."

"This increased emphasis," says Professor Hobbs significantly, "occurs as courses in sociology become more popular in colleges and spread into schools where teachers lack necessary qualifications for evaluation, and where the immaturity of students may lead to uncritical acceptance."

Dr. Hobbs' findings are published in his book, "The Claims of Sociology: A Critique of Textbooks" (The Stackpole Company, Harrisburg, Pa.). The book is a scholarly, restrained analysis of textbook sociology. Dr. Hobbs undertook the tedious task of carefully examining the 83 textbooks with the hope that his analysis would lead to improvement of textbook materials and thus strengthen the relatively new field of sociology. The work has had little publicity outside the sociology fraternity. It is a highly readable book for laymen. As an educator, a parent and a citizen I hope it reaches every educational association, school and college board and PTA group in the country.

Dr. Hobbs' study was confined to the three most popular courses in sociology, Introductory Sociology, Marriage and the Family, and Social Problems. The 83 texts examined were used in these three courses. Their subject matter deals with personality formation, educational methods and goals, economic systems, government, marriage and the family, social controls, social disorganization, war, and social change.

In last week's column we listed certain "conclusions" which Dr. Hobbs claimed were being fostered in these textbooks — such as: "religion should discard supernaturalism (belief in God)"; a socialist economic system is better than a competitive one; a welfare state government is desirable, etc. Dr. Hobbs carefully points out that some of the 83 are exceptions but that the majority devotely undermine traditional American principles and beliefs.

In examining the viewpoint fostered by the textbooks in the realm of economics, Dr. Hobbs reports: "Most texts criticize private competitive enterprise as it functions in a capitalist economy. Criticisms are in the form of sweeping generalizations regarding harmful effects of the economic system. Few texts attempt a realistic comparison with earlier (Continued on Page Three)

Looking Back Through The Enterprise Files

Twenty-five Years Ago (August 30, 1928)

Golf Championship

Members of the Farmington Exchange Club during the past week completed the second round of the club's golf tournament, four members being left in the running for the championship. The four Exchangees who won in the second flight are Dr. Z. R. Aschenbrenner, Harley Warner, Dr. G. F. Weaver and Howard Warner.

Parachute Drops

One of the cleverest advertising "stunts" seen in this section for some time was carried out Monday in Farmington when a parachute about two feet square, with a bag of sand as its "passenger," was dropped from an airplane. Inside the bag was an envelope which awarded the finder with a ticket for a free airplane ride. Marguerite Doebler was the lucky finder.

Postpone School

The opening of Farmington Public Schools for the new term, scheduled for next Tuesday, will be delayed until Wednesday, and perhaps Thursday, it is announced by school officials. The action is caused by the additional time required for finishing floors in the buildings.

Ten Years Ago (September 2, 1943)

Fire Damage

Fire was discovered early Thursday morning at Conroy's Market and Locker Plant. Smoke was pouring out the doors at the back and as soon as they were opened the flames leaped out. Although the fire department was immediately on the job as soon as the alarm was turned in, little fire had quite started, and the back part of the store will need considerable repair.

Garden Award

With metropolitan papers all reporting winners of garden contests in their various cities, Farmington, too, can boast its winner. Mr. and Mrs. Karl Ritter of 28800 Baseline Road received an award for their gardens in a special contest for Horticultural Society members. At total of ten gardens were entered in the contest from the Farmington area.

Five Years Ago (August 26, 1948)

Junior Olympics

Approximately 72 boys and girls from the Farmington area attended the Junior Olympic Track and Field Meet held Friday afternoon at the Farmington Athletic Field. Bill Nuse, Farmington High School instructor and coach, was director of the program and Audrey Lathrup, Lois and Velma Ganssmeister Nuse at the affair.

Legion Election

New officers of Groves - Walker Post 346, the American Legion, will be installed at public ceremonies on Thursday evening at the Memorial Home. The installation will begin at 8:00 p.m. and all Legionnaires will be present to see James Nourfian take the office of Commander of the Post. He succeeds Leon L. Church.

Blue Ribbon

Mrs. Leo Gansmeier, who has long been recognized in our community for her fine work with the Palette and Brush Club, and for many interesting book reviews, has developed a new interest. Her latest hobby is in the field of article arrangement. She recently won the first prize at the Gladiolus Show held recently at the J. L. Hudson Company. She won another the very next day at Battle Creek.

AMERICAN BANKING IN ACTION

IT'S YOUR MONEY

You have the right to boss your own money. You can spend it all, give it away, or bank some of it for the future. But you make your own decision. Maybe you take for granted this right to spend or save. Some people do. But let's remember that it's a right we enjoy because we live under the free enterprise system—the American way. In a communistic country, you would have to spend every cent to keep alive.
