2 Are Honored For Law Essays

FARMINGTON — Young Mike McClintock of Farmington is $150 richer and has a plaque for display after capturing both state and district first prizes in the Michigan Law Day essay contest.

Mike is a seventh grader at East Junior High. He won the plaque and $100 in the state contest and $50 as winner of the organizational contest held by the West Oakland Hills Lawyers Wives.

Lynda J. Nodacher, an eighth grader and also from East Junior High, placed third in her grade group in the West Oakland Hills competition.

The Essay

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the award-winning Law Day essay.

By MIKE MCCLINTOCK

Justice is having fair dealings and having a sense of rightness, lawfulness and well founded reason. It is also the exercise of power and authority to maintain what is just and right. This is why our government has a Justice Department. This is also why we have local courts at the state, county and city level to administer the laws justly.

In some local governments we have men or women called a justice of the peace.

Now this is very well, but I'm 12 years old, and justice makes me think of peace in the world without wars, brotherhood in the city, not riots, a fair and equal education for everyone; keeping rules within my own school and being fair to others.

My definition of justice is being truthful, honest, and fair to everyone. There should be more love and not hate, and justice would come easy.

People could live wherever they pleased and do whatever type work they liked if everyone was treated equal or justly.

It is hard to always be fair and honest or just, but the harder we try the more peace there will be in the world.

The sign or symbol of justice has been the blindfolded lady with the scales. This is to indicate that everyone should be treated the same in the eyes of the law and through the courts of justice—rich or poor, old or young, black or white. If we can truly love and have brotherhood, we can then be just and we will have justice.

MIKE MCCLINTOCK of Farmington accepts a plaque and $100 savings bond awarded him as first place winner in Michigan's Law Day essay contest. Chief Justice, Thomas M. Kovanogich of the Michigan Supreme Court makes the presentation. Mike, 12, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McClintock of 30215 Wicklow Court.

Township Police Plan Open House

FARMINGTON — In celebration of law month, the Farmington Police Dept. will sponsor an open house May 14-18, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The public is invited to drop by the station and see how the township's finest operate. There also will be patrol cars stationed at the shopping centers on 12 Mile and Farmington; 11 Mile and Middle Belt; and 14 Mile and Orchard Lake. Patrolmen servicing the cars will be glad to answer all questions about police operations.

There will be bike registration from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the same week. Police officials encourage the registration of bicycles in case of theft.
