

Some Legal Game Exists For Michigan Hunters

Hunters still have plenty of sport waiting for them any time they want to load up the old cannon and venture afield, game workers point out.

Cottontail rabbits and snowshoe hares, for example, are head game to the upper and northern lower peninsulas through March 1, and in the southern lower peninsula through January 21.

Woodchucks can be taken at any time in the upper peninsula and are open to hunting in the lower peninsula until February 1.

Several species of fur-bearing are still on the open to hunting list and, of course, foxes, bobcats, coyotes, and wolves are open to both hunters and trappers.

For further details of seasons and regulations, hunters may consult the game law digest of conservation officers.

Steam-electric power plants in Pennsylvania, with the exception of a few in northeastern Philadelphia, burned nothing but coal in their boilers last year.

Northbrook, Sunshine Sisters met at the home of Mrs. Howard Palmer on Shadydale Avenue last Wednesday afternoon and showered Gregory, month-old youngest son of the Palmer, with dainty additions to his wardrobe. About a dozen ladies participated. As a diversion and causing much amusement, each one read aloud her fortune from a "Fortune-Telling Birthday Book." By way of refreshments, home made cranberry sauce was greatly enjoyed.

The next meeting of the Neighborhood Sunshine Sisters will be held Wednesday, January 20, at 2:00 p.m. Place will be the Neighborhood Church unless another arrangement follows.

During the last ten days Secret Sunshine Pal gifts have been flying fast and furiously over the Neighborhood Church area. Those who could not make proper contacts at Christmas time did so at New Year's, and in some instances there were birthday remembrances as well. All told, about 150 parcels were floating around. In an attempt to disguise the identity of the senders, they traveled from street to street and from house to house, thus passing through many hands until finally the person-addressee was reached.

Secret Sunshine Pals will have their name-disclosure party in the Neighborhood Church on Wednesday, February 2, at 2:00 p.m. Pals should begin planning a note, card or small gift with which to identify themselves, to the one whose name they have had in mind during the past year. At this time there will also be a drawing of new names for the coming year.

Secret Sunshine Pals will then take part in sending valentines.

Fred Ault of Norfolk Avenue was visiting Mrs. Nelson Cameron in Redford Thursday.

Salute William Varhol, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Varhol of Shadydale Avenue, will spend the next six weeks in Cuba. He expects to be home for another visit at the end of that time.
