sions and find their way around has always been a mystery. Even blindfolded, bats are perfectly confident on the wire.

But in flight, bats make continual sharp cries, of such high frequency that they are inaudible to the human ear. According to the film, these cries are the key to their "radar," for the furry little creatures are guided by echoes of their signal cries reflected from obstacles in their path.

Of even greater mystery, however, is how and why thousands in a cave can pick up his own signals without being "jammed" by the others.

Other miracles of animal and plant life are also depicted in the new film. The fantastic grunion of California, a small fish of the smelt family, are pictured as they come up on dry land to lay their eggs. Another sequence portrays the uncanny instinct of homing pigeons, and the non-stop migration of the American Plover from Labrador to Argentina.

"Extraordinary" is found in a series of feature productions showing the relationship between science and religion. According to Dr. Irwin A. Moon, director, this new film brings out that the incredible miracles of nature point to a Divine Intelligence behind the workings of the universe.

All men of the community are cordially invited to attend. Dinner will be served at 6:45 p.m.

Seals Of Approval Guide Consumer To Wise Buying

Seals Assure Product Quality

Homebuyers faced with the problem of choosing between the wide variety of goods available are guided by the seal of approval as a guide in buying.

The seal of approval is an exception, maintaining Dr. Irna H. Gross, head of Michigan State College department of home management and child development.

Buy the wise shopper will want to develop a careful judgment of these seals.

After all, a seal is no better than the authority behind it, points out Dr. Gross. (And some seals are meaningless.)

As an example, she cites a "camp-tested" seal found on a product. The seal fails to indicate what organization stands behind the seal. So the consumer has no way of knowing what tests were conducted or if they were adequate.

The practical value of a seal of approval depends upon several factors. The consumer needs to ask herself such questions as these:

What organization approves it? Does the organization have adequate test standards? What does the certificate include? What are the terms of guaranty? How long is it guaranteed?

Consumers can rely on the familiar U. S. government seals on food products.

Several professional and trade groups grant seals of approval to products meeting their standards. Some of these reliable seals are granted by the American Medical Association, the American Dietetic Association and the American Institute of Laundering.

The AIA seal of acceptance granted by the Council of Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association, may be displayed on packages and in advertising for food products. The seal is the Blue Star seal of the American Food Association Laboratories. This seal is affixed to most equipment indicating that the equipment meets requirements of performance, construction and safety.

When selecting small appliances, the consumer may look for the U. S. seal of the Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. That seal means that the equipment has been tested for fire, casualty and electrical safety.

FARMINGTON DAIRY BREAKS GROUND FOR NEW ADDITION

Plans for a 20 foot by 80 foot addition to the tract of Farmington Dairy on Grand River Road were in motion this week when work on the extension was started by the building contractor.

The extension will be a single-story, frame structure and will make the present building complex north to the sidewalk.

According to owner Joseph Himmelsbach, the added space will make possible the addition of a new room and kitchen facilities. The new area will be entirely air-conditioned, he said.

An announcement of further plans and details of the new building was made in the near future, Himmelsbach stated.

SURVEY REVEALS MANY PARSONAGES TO BE INADEQUATE

Pastor's wives, as a group, are the best educated women in the community and receive the least for their work. Four-fifths of them have attended college. One-third of them are trained teachers. One out of five was trained in the field of religious education. The average pastor's wife lives 32 years in a house she does not own and for which she does not pay rent. So she does not complain it is inconvenient.

The kitchen sink is inadequate in one parsonage out of six. Many parsonages were built long ago, and one-third of them there is not adequate storage space.

The pastor's wife may sing in the choir, teach a class in the Sunday school, go calling with her husband in the afternoon and visit in the front seat in the evening service. The people appreciate all she does and sometimes almost let her go. But the next morning, when she wakes up, she finds the parsonage she must lift the old wooden or galvanized iron tubs, because the parsonage does not have stationary tubs connected with hot and cold water.

When the old parsonage was built, clothes closets were not common in the bedrooms. In 21 per cent of our parsonages the bedrooms are still without clothes closets.

The Rural Church Department at Brew Seminary, Madison, New Jersey, has just completed an interdenominational study of parsonages or manse or rectories located in 47 different states. The printed report covers 112 pages and contains 70 photographs and is now being sent upon request.

The report lists the standard equipment a parsonage needs and indicates what things should be provided by the church and what the pastor usually provides.

of the bake sale. Persons interested in contributing baked items for the sale are requested to call Farmington 3057-W for additional information.

Plans are also being made for the annual March of Dimes bazaar on the final evening of the campaign. The Mothers' March or porchlight parade is the door-to-door solicitation phase of the drive. Further information on the program will be announced next week.

Various churches in the community are endorsing the March of Dimes campaign and are making appeals through sermon material.

No. 1 Watch Out For Sand Lot Ball Players

Whenever you spot a vacant lot with youngsters practicing football, look out for you and prepare for an emergency stop.

Unless you're a football star who dashes into the street to retrieve that long punt or pass may be too preoccupied to worry about traffic.

It's suddenly back in front of you it may be too late for a warning blast of your horn. Parked cars could limit your dodging.

Whether you hit him or not may depend entirely on how quickly you stop.

Unless you have slowed down to under 20 mph you may be in real trouble. Even then you may not be able to stop in time.

classroom space.

If the proposed program is put into effect, the $1,500,000 would require 4.5 interest on the bond issue annually. This would mean an additional tax levy of 2.6 mills on an estimated valuation as equalized of $20,000,000 for 1954 and would be required for 1954 and 1955.

The total debt levy for 1954 would be 2.6 mills on the proposed issue added to the 12.5 mills now being levied on the 1951 bond issue, or a total debt levy of 15.1 mills.

Once a legal reserve has been established for the debt, the 15.1 rate would be decreased annually in keeping with increased valuation, or approximately 25 mill for each $1,000 increase.

The proposed building program to be discussed next Monday evening would add 12 new classrooms in the District plus four rooms and an auditorium/gymnasium at the new high school.

$200 or more will become benefactors with their names inscribed on a permanent plaque which will be displayed in the hospital.

Hospital beds may be donated with a gift of $500. The form of recognition for such a contribution will be a plaque appended to the bed with the donor's name. Memorial gifts may still be given with contributions of $500 and up. These gifts will secure larger items for the hospital and will be marked with permanent plaques bearing the name or names of the donor.

Westerdale and Fred Wilkinson, who have filed petitions for the Democratic nomination in the February 11 special representative election, will attend the third Pro-Eve Square Dance on Saturday evening, January 16, at 9:00 o'clock in the West Bloomfield Township Hall, 4469 Orchard Lake Road.

Guests at the dance, which is sponsored by the Southwestern Oakland County Democratic Club, will have a opportunity to meet the three candidates informally during intermission.

The successful candidate at the January 21 primary election will be introduced at the club's annual meeting, scheduled for Saturday evening, January 23, at the Union Lake School by President George Heiker of Farmington. Club dance and meeting are open to the public.

RESULTS ON TESTS OF INTOXICATION DEVICES REPORTED

Conclusive results about the worth of lab tests to measure intoxication have been obtained in research at Michigan State College.

An important finding of the researchers is that closer definitions can be established - based on lab tests - between persons "hostily" or "probably" under the influence of alcohol and those definitely under the influence.

Under carefully controlled conditions approximately 1,700 analyses were obtained from 127 human subjects, none of them students. The research was conducted by a staff under the direction of Prof. R. F. Turner of MSC's Police Administration department. A grant was provided by the National Safety Council's Committee on Chemical Tests.

Conclusions reached by the research team included these:

1. Current literature delineates three zones of blood alcohol concentration or the guidance of law enforcement officials: 0.00 to 0.05 per cent, safe; 0.05 to 0.15 per cent, questionable; above 0.15 per cent, definitely under the influence. It is recommended that these lines of demarcation be amplified in the following manner: 0.00 to 0.05 per cent, safe; 0.05 to 0.10 per cent, possibly under the influence; 0.10 to 0.15 per cent, probably under the influence; and above 0.15 per cent, definitely under the influence.

2. In 127 subjects tested when the concentration of alcohol had reached or exceeded 0.15 per cent in the blood, as indicated by analysis of either the blood or the breath, impairment of some type was noted in every case. In most cases, impairment was evident far below this 0.15 per cent mark.

3. Three methods of blood alcohol determination by analysis of the breath were studied: Drunkometer, Intoximeter and Alcometer. When these devices were used in the manner recommended by their manufacturers the results obtained were in close agreement with those obtained by the direct analysis of the blood.

4. The methods of blood analysis and breath analysis by Drunkometer, Intoximeter and Alcometer may be used with confidence and the results so obtained will be reliable.

PLAN TO DISCUSS CHURCH AND STATE RELATIONSHIPS

On January 13, the University of Michigan's newly-established Center for Human Relations will begin a conference series on the question of the relationship between Church and State in the various fields of activity affecting the life of an individual. This series is being offered in conjunction with the Detroit Archdiocese Council of Catholic Men and Women and the Catholic Lawyers Society, and will be held on successive Wednesday evenings at 7:45 in the library on the Nichols Road campus.

Education, Medicine, Family Life, Science and Economic Production are some of the topics on which attention will be focused. Each topic will be introduced by a specialist from the University who will then get as discussion leader. The participants will discuss their views informally and have an opportunity for question-and-answer discussion.

Dr. Theodor Pappas, Director of the Center for Human Relations, is representing the University in this project. Vincent T. O'Leary, of the Archdiocese Council of Catholic Men; Mrs. Cyril P. Lundy of the Council of Catholic Women; and William D'Orme of the Catholic Lawyers Society are assisting him.

Each year we talk about changin' our advertising and we have a confab and then we go on in the same old way. Could be we are in a rut - but when we think it all over we decide it is kind of a nice rut to be in. But then that's just our idea - have you got any others? We got an idea that all the holiday baking is used up so maybe you'd like to stock up again. Fer that you can get a 3 lb. can of Crisco for 89c and a 25 lb. bag of Gold Medal flour for $2.09. With that you kinda got the start of a meat pie so how about 15 lbs. of Michigan potatoes for 45c and if yuh want steak in yer pie you can get U. S. choice round or sirloin steak for 89c a lb. If yuh need an onion or three there's a 10 lb. bag of 'em for 39c. Course if yer tired you can get a frozen Birds-Eye beef pie for 39c. While yer in the frozen department don't forget to get 2 cans of Treenwest orange juice for 35c. Somethin' else fer kind of a change fer breakfast is 3 pizk grapefruit for 25c. There's the old standby, tomato juice, and it's De-fiance in a 46 oz. can for 29c. Then there's Viasic butter for 69c a lb. yet. Guess that about takes care of everything this week. See yuh, huh?
