

Seniors Give Creditable Performance At Annual Play On January 21

Senior Player Ellis Grace, as Mr. Archer, looks pained as Corliss Archer's boy friend, Dexter, played by Jim Galloway. (In front at the right) offers "expert" advice. Looking on in the background are, left to right, Corliss, played by Mary Cashman, and her friend Mildred, played by Elyn Grace. The play was the senior class presentation at Clarenceville High School on Thursday, January 21.

On Thursday, January 21, the senior class presented "Meet Corliss Archer" in the Clarenceville High School gym. As the curtain opened on the first act, Corliss (Mary Cashman) is talking about her boring life, cluttered with nothing but homework and Dexter Franklin (James Galloway). Corliss has a date with Dexter but has to break it because her mother (Diane Giaziozzi) is expecting Cousin Agnes (Joyce Paul). This also infuriates her father (Ellis Grace) and the maid Louise (Rose Edmonds) because she was a cranky, narrow-minded snooty old maid. When Mildred (Elyn Grace) comes to the Archer residence expecting to go to the show with Corliss, Dexter and Betty Campbell (Nadine Clifford), she discovers Corliss can't go and decides to take advantage of the situation by going with Dexter. While waiting for Dexter on the

STUDENT COUNCIL NAMES PERSONNEL FOR SALES WORK
On Wednesday, January 20, a Student Council meeting was held in the Clarenceville Homecoming Room. Meeting was called to order by Ellis Grace.
Student Council members elected committees for selling programs and refreshments at the two basketball games for January 26 and January 29. The motion was made and passed that amendments of the Council be that Student Council members be elected from September until June, instead of from January to January.
The motion was made that Student Council members be suspended from the organization due to bad grades at citizenship.
Executive members of Student Council are going to buy records and donate them for dances.
All members are to sell programs and refreshments at the coming game on February 13.
The meeting was then dismissed by Ellis Grace, president. S. D.

Editorial
This is a true story and many of you have probably heard it.
It was about 9:00 and a figure stepped off the bus and started down the dark street that led to her home. As she was halfway to her house, a black car raced its motor and four figures were inside, driving toward the girl. She was scared, because she thought they were going to run over her. She walked faster, faster, and fought to keep from stumbling on the icy road.
As she hurried on her way, trying her best to ignore the incoming car, she was feeling badly, and terribly scared. Her heart was beating faster. Just then, one of the figures jumped out of the car and ran toward her. He was quite tall, she said, and wore a white handkerchief over his face.
As he approached her, her face stared blank into the dark from the sight of him. Now if you were this girl, what would your immediate thoughts be? Would you run, scream, or just what would you do in her place? Well, this girl screamed as he came closer, she backed away and fell in the snow.
The car came toward her and she was so scared and nervous that she couldn't get up and consequently she was still lying there jawing frantically in the snow trying to regain her control so she could get on her feet and run. Did you think anyone would turn on a porch light when she screamed? No, not one person seemed interested. When the boys saw the girl trying to get up they laughed and jumped in the car and raced down the road as fast as they could go.
Well, the girl happened to be very nervous and she was so upset from the horrible terrifying experience and she was unable to attend school the following day.

FACULTY SENIOR GAME SCHEDULED AT CLARENCEVILLE

On February 2, at 8:00 p.m. in the gym, the faculty and seniors will meet in their annual basketball classic. The game is sponsored by the Clarenceville High School Athletic Department to raise funds for athletic equipment for all sports.
Preliminaries will begin at 7:15 p.m. and will feature a game between two junior high groups. Interest has been high in this event during the past years, and it is hoped that the community and school will turn out to cheer their favorites on to victory.

Asking Mildred to the show.
Meanwhile, Aunt Agnes is still trying to cause friction between the two families and she brings the diary out and tries to get everyone upset. Then Mr. Franklin (Hilford Hoppes) also learns the truth. When Corliss discovers from Mildred that it was just a big joke, The Archers and Franklins are friends again and she forgives Dexter.
Congratulations to the senior play cast for a performance done well. S. D.

A quart of homogenized milk and a loaf of Tatee bread please. That'll be 48 cents. This healthy looking clerk, whose name is Nathan Marlowe Farrar, Jr., but better known as Fatty stands at the height of 5'9" and weighs 150 pounds.
"Hey, Fatty, if you've got time to get away from the store how about some facts for the paper?" "Sure thing. Hey, Pop, take over! Let's go over here and listen to some records while we're yakkin'. Here's my favorite, Les Paul and Mary Ford in "Gad About".
"So you like Gad about huh, well, what record don't you like?" "Oh, that 'Gad About'!"
"Getting off the subject of music, how about cars? Do you have a special one?"
"Do I have a special one? Why, there's only one car on the road fit to drive, and that's the Chevy!"
"Let's get back to you in general. Let's see - eyes are blue, hair brown, with a brush cut, naturally, favorite color is blue by the looks. How about food, Fatty, anything special?"
"Now, anything, I like it all." "Well then, what about a class and teacher?"
"I do have a class I like a little more, that's typing with Mr. Young teaching. Talking about favorites, I've just gotten started on a new hobby."
"Well, what is it?"
"Photography, it sure gets interesting. You would never know it. P. S. there was so much to taking and
