

Pvt. John Funni Helps 40th Division Celebrate

Pvt. John C. Funni, 31, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Funni of 29771 Dunkirk, helped to celebrate the 40th Infantry Division's second anniversary in Korea this month.

The former California National Guard Division, which distinguished itself at Sandbag Castle, The Punchbowl, and at Heartbreak Ridge, arrived on the peninsula in January, 1952.

Private Funni, a member of the 40th Quartermaster Company, arrived overseas last November from Camp Rucker, Alabama.

A 1951 graduate of Catholic Central High School in Detroit, he was a shipping clerk with the Star Cutter Company before entering the Army last March.

MacKenzie Students Enjoy Week End Outing

Five bushbuds of students and their chaperones from MacKenzie High School made good use of snowy slopes at Silver Valley last week end. East Tawas state park manager James Gentry reports.

Gentry says the group frolicked on the slopes, held a dance in the evening, and departed wearily for home.

The area has grown increasingly popular this winter and a marked increase in winter sports attendance has been registered over last year.

Ball bearing nut and screw assemblies, as produced by the Saginaw Steering Gear Division of General Motors, are now being used for the erection of large storage tanks in a way that eliminates scaffolding.

ALMANAC READY AT MICHIGAN BELL OFFICE

Time again for the Telephone Almanac. Now available in the local business office of Michigan Bell Telephone Company, the Almanac for 1954 deals with the vast contributions made by business and trade to the building of civilization and to the part played by communication. A picture series goes back to the time when business depended on mud-pies — or baked brick — records of transactions.

It also covers the work that is done in colonial counting houses, in telegraph offices in America, calling attention to Betsy Lucas, later Mrs. Pinckney of Charleston, S.C., an outstanding candidate for the title of first woman office manager on this continent.

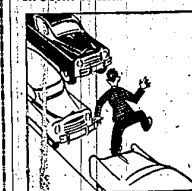

Of course, the Almanac includes times for the sun and moon and chronicles some historical events for each day, all in true almanac tradition.

(Continued from Page 2A) Politics and more than 50 other national organizations. In the world today a majority of the nations have Communist or Socialist governments, and their representatives on U. N. commissions are likely to be Communists or Socialists. We are overwhelmingly outvoted. These people write and propose "treaties" which contain new laws and which could drastically alter our way of life, and which, under present conditions could be made the supreme law of our land upon the action of only a few senators.

More than 500 "treaties" are being drafted by U. N. commissions and other international bodies. The Bricker Amendment is needed as a safeguard against any provisions of these "treaties," or executive "agreements" which may conflict with our Constitution.

No. 4: Don't Surprise a Motorist By Jumping In Front of Him.

Here, it's a long way down to the corner when you are in the middle of the block and you want to cut across the street. And it looks like such a short jump straight across. But, that short jump is likely to scare two people and to death — the driver of that car you thought was a long ways off — and yourself.

Mixing two-footed lightweight and four-wheeled heavyweights in the same traffic ring is an unfair battle at best. That's why crosswalks are painted at intersections to give the pedestrian his own place to cross.

When you cross in the middle of the block the motorist is not expecting you — and you may be hidden by a parked car. Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police Michigan State Safety Commission Automobile Club of Michigan

Matters like a large state police force, increases in unemployment and workman's compensation, new prison facilities, a fair employment practice law, etc. take time. In an election year when every lawmaker is anxious that his actions be understood and approved by the voters, lawmakers are especially careful.

This is particularly true at this session because of redistricting which takes place before the next election. Reapportionment means that many people will be voting in different districts than previously. They are likely to be less familiar with candidates. Incumbents are anxious to gain as much advantage as possible during the legislative term.

Reapportionment is expected to benefit the Republican party according to Senator Charles S. Brady, Detroit Democrat. District new in Wayne County were arranged in such a manner, he claims, as to reduce the number of Democrats that can be elected, he points out, while other traditionally Republican sections were joined to borderline Democratic areas.

Official figures from the Auditor General's office show that Michigan's income for the fiscal year ending June 30 was $735,992,517. Expenditures amounted to $710,545,682. Surplus in the general fund was $24,003,591. Applied against the previous deficit of $65,341,200, the state is left over $41,337,518. This is expected to be paid off by the end of this year from returns from the business receipts tax.

Biggest portions of the budget were spent for education: 34% or $244.5 million; for highways, 22% or $152.5 million; for welfare, 8% or $107 million.

Only 2% was required to operate the state government; 3% was returned to local units of government. Expenditures for mental health took 7% or $49.5 million. Safety and corrections with 4%, public health with 2%, conservation and agriculture with 2%, took up most of the remaining portion of the budget.

Disaster plans to care for thousands who would be left homeless should Detroit ever suffer enemy air attack are now being made in Livonia, a suburb of the metropolis. All Livonia homes and commercial buildings have been surveyed as to suitability for emergency shelters, and plans have been made to convert a new high school into an emergency hospital.

The Michigan Office of Civil Defense reports that 700 Livonians have been trained as auxiliary police, fire and medical assistants, and that Livonia air raid alarm sirens will soon be connected directly with those of Detroit.

"Unprecedented success of Michigan's tourist business in 1953 means an even greater selling effort will be necessary in 1954 if the state's vacation business is to continue to prosper," said Robert V. Budd, chairman of the Michigan Tourist Council.

The trend toward a buyers' market with increased competition from other states, makes it imperative that we re-examine our advertising and promotion program," he continued.

Plans for 1954's promotion are already laid out and include a series of movies featuring Michigan's spring, summer, fall and winter attractions. Films will be made available to television stations, service clubs, etc., according to Robert Furlong, executive secretary of the Council.

Plan Additional Tests On Northville Oil Well

Additional tests of the expected flow of a recently-discovered oil well west of Northville are under way, the conservation department reports.

The well first produced 50 barrels of oil in 15 minutes but had to be capped in until transport methods could be worked out. In an unusually thick vein, the oil was discovered in or near the Trenton rock formation at a depth of 4400 feet.

Oakland County Health Notes

Good housekeeping in restaurants pays dividends.

This applies not only to the dining room area which is visible to the customer, but also in the food preparation room and storage areas. While it is human nature for us to want to eat in a clean, pleasant room, it is of equal importance from a health standpoint to know that the kitchen is as clean as the dining room.

Working in a clean atmosphere helps to promote a clean and wholesome food. Insects and rodents, dangerous contaminants of food, cannot possibly establish themselves in an establishment where cleanliness is a fact and not merely a thought.

Cleanliness of the physical facilities of a food handling establishment does not occur by chance. It can only be accomplished by a methodical and constant effort on the part of each employee to carry out his assignment to the best of his ability. There is no doubt that the efficiency of employees can mean the difference between failure and success in such an establishment.

It is the aim of the Oakland County Department of Health to assist management, whenever and wherever possible. Our service includes recommendation of necessary pieces of equipment, assistance in setting up of kitchens to provide better operational and cleaning procedures, assist in working up cleaning schedules, and pointing out those facilities in the establishments which are in need of closer attention.

A conscientious proprietor will from time to time make an unbiased appraisal of the usefulness and cleanliness of the facilities of his establishment. The information he collects from such an appraisal is then used as a basis for an improvement program of his establishment. Such a program can only result in a finer eating place for the customer and a rewarding increase in the number of customers for the establishment. How well is your restaurant doing?
