Fingerweaving

it's new...it's fun...it's easy

Fingerweaving line includes various project kits & fine components

Fingerweaving is just what it says! You weave (through specially woven nylon grid) with your fingers. Whether a belt or bag or any number of project ideas -- Sol Collins brings a new innovation to all age groups that find using a needle too tedious and time-consuming; so now this is all simplified by using one's fingers only -- whether you use Fingercraft's special dimensional lacing, nylon cord or yarn, and you get the hang of weaving -- you can just about create any kind of designs that come to mind. The specially designed snap-on clasp buckle unit allows one to make a fine custom sized belt; or a conventional belt that is beautifully closed off with a metal end tip and a snap-on tongue buckle set. These "make it yourself" kits reflect two years of working with handcrafters who helped us by telling us what they thought was lacking in products already offered on the market. Since Fingercraft organization is dedicated to helping people develop their creative skills by bringing a collection of fine quality easy-to-make products for beginners or experienced crafters, it only makes sense that we want them to prefer Fingercraft products as their choice for other project and "lesson plans." That's really what Fingercraft is all about -- getting people involved in a way that will allow them to express themselves -- the easy way that keeps people interested.
