Juniors Present 'Pistol Pete'

Friday, May 6, the curtain rose on the Junior play, "Pistol Pete". Mr. Douglas Edlund, director of the play, stood nervously behind the scene, which consisted of an old log cabin. Two cots, a couch, a table, a bookcase, along with a deer head, antlers, and a pair of rifles, made up the interior of the ranch.

The play consisted of three acts with two scenes in the last act. In the first act Pistol Pete comes in to the play as a "buddy". The second act finds Pete dressed in real cowboy clothes and making confidences all the time. In the last act Pistol Pete captures a well-known bandit called Nebraska Ned, who is really Louis Renaldo, portrayed by James Seathorn.

During the entire play the audience met eleven characters. The first person the audience met was an Indian named tamed Starlight, who in real life dwells not in a tepee, but in a regular house on Orchard Lake Road. If you did not see the play, then I'd better tell you Starlight was played by Judy Wintz.

The rest of the cast went something like this: April Naylor, the young girl of the play, was portrayed by Margaret Bailey. Barbara Herberich played the woman sheriff, Sheriff Benecor was the maverick widow. Barkin Bess, Richard Godette played the ham cowboy, foreman of the "Crescent Ranch". Port Clifton, a peevish young man, was played by Carl Kulling. Sharon Moreland and Karen Russell played daughter and mother. They were a sophisticated pair of their way to Hollywood when the car is stolen. Joyce Timberlake played Acacia Fortman, a busy-body gossip who owned the ranch down the road.

Make-up for the play was done by Miss Betty Myers. Carol Armstrong, Fred Gault, Judy Harper, and Carol Pomeroy.

Promoters were Sally Hall and Carol Pomeroy.

"M" is for the million things she gave me, the many times she helped me, the much needed advice she offered me, the motherly way she cared for me when I was sick, and on it could go, long lists of things she has so unselfishly done for me. So it would go with each letter of that wonderful word.

"Mother," but you must know as well as I how much kindness, unselfishness, comfort and love this two-syllable word can represent.

If we really appreciate our mothers we should, we will remember them not only on Mother's Day but on every day of the year. Every day we live we should think of as Mother's Day and show how much we care for the person who brought us into the world.

I think that mothers of adopted children should deserve special recognition on Mother's Day also. Women who are willing to care for forgotten or neglected children and to love them as their own, certainly are worthy of remembrance on this day of days. They are willing to help someone to whom they owe nothing to get a better start in life, so I think it only fitting that we honor them especially on Mother's Day.

You don't really appreciate how much your mother means to you until she is not around any more, then you find out how much you miss her and how wonderful she was. So let's show our Mom how much we appreciate her before it is too late.

Clunk, clunk, clunk: Golly, I wonder what that sound is? I guess I'll go investigate. What a huge house. The sound is coming from this room. Oh! I see a young girl at the spinning wheel. Let's go in and see what she is spinning.

"Oh, hello, I'm Yvonne Jacob." "What are you doing, Yvonne?" "I'm spinning straw into gold. You see, my ambition is to have a million dollars by the time I'm twenty-one. This is just about the only way I can get it."

"I wish I had that touch. Tell me a little about yourself."

"I was born in Nashville, Tennessee on October 7, 1936. That makes me seventeen now. I have dark brown hair and greenish blue eyes. I'm 5' 7" tall, and I weigh 110. I can't tell that."

"Well, are your favorite male and female singers and movie stars?"

"Oh, I like Perry Como and Doris Day. I really like her and as for movie stars I like Doris Day, Alan Ladd, Jane Russell and Richard Widmark."

"I'd like to know more about you, such as your favorite teacher, subject, pet peeve and sports."

"I like shorthand with Mr. Young, teaching. I think he's tops, and as far as my pet peeve is concerned, it's my blushing. My favorite sport is bull fighting."

"Have you had any achievements and activities in school? By the way, what do you do for a pastime and what is your hobby?"

"Just about the only achievements I have in school are 'Quill and Scroll', and winning some writing contests. Quill and Scroll is my only activity, too. As for my hobby, I like to write themes for English. I read good books for a pastime."

"Just a little more about you and I'll leave you alone. I'd like to know what your favorite food, color and television shows are. Oh, by the way, I'd like to know your dislikes and your best friends."

"I just love ham! Baked, fried, any way, just as long as it is ham. Gray is my favorite color and as for television, I like 'Buck King' and Superman. My dislikes are Marilyn Monroe and most food. My best friends are: Grace Galt, Glenda Harrell, Jeanette Kennedy, Gloria Schumacher and Delores Wade."

"Thank you. Now I'll leave you to make your millions of dollars. Good Luck."

Pvt. Charles Edmonds, '52, left for Kentucky where he will be stationed during host camp.

Fred Grose, '49, is on his way to Bermuda with the Coast Guard. Pvt. Donald Grose, '51, is stationed in Germany.
