

RETIRING MEMBERS AT BOYS REPUBLIC HONORED SUNDAY

An open house was held at Boys Republic for five retiring staff members Sunday, June 6, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Retiring members honored by fellow staff workers and officials at the school were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Colbank, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perry and Earl Haxtreger.

Mrs. Colbank, dean of boys, boasted the longest term of service of the group, starting in 1912. Mr. Colbank, maintenance superintendent, served one year less, starting in 1913. Mrs. Perry, a remedial teacher, and Mr. Perry, business manager, have been in the employ of the school since 1924. Follow-up Boy Counselor Earl Haxtreger has rendered his services at the school since 1926.

All were given silver trays in recognition of their fine service over the years. A lunch was served those present at the open house.

Pvt. Faulkner Serving As Tank Crewman In Korea

Army Pvt. Richard A. Faulkner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Faulkner of 24311 Novi Road, is serving with the Third Infantry Division in Korea, an Army release disclosed this week.

Private Faulkner is a tank crewman. He entered the Army last November and took his basic training at Fort Knox, Kentucky. Prior to entering the service, he worked at Gordon's Grocery.

Miss Jones majored in English and Physical Education at Central. She was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree.

To Graduate

JAMES H. BOWMAN

James H. Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Bowman of 22824 Maple, will graduate from the University of Detroit June 16. He will be awarded a Bachelor of Civil Engineering degree.

As an undergraduate Bowman was a member of Sigma Rho Tau and Chi Epsilon fraternities.

Locally Bowman is a member of Our Lady of Sorrows parish and active in the Catholic Youth Organization and the Holy Name Society.

Looking Ahead

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON

Real government could be ended entirely or performed at less cost by the states. Some tax sources now claimed by the federal government should be transferred to the states. And at the state level, decentralization of government toward local governmental units would further strengthen our nation.

Along with this organic reform must also come a reform in the philosophy of taxation as now practiced. We are operating on an income tax philosophy conceived and advocated by the Socialists. This is a matter of historical fact. A reasonable limit on the percentage of tax which the federal government can levy on income should be established, and a start made toward abolishing the inequity of a 91 per cent tax on John Smith, a 22 per cent tax on Jim Jones, and no tax at all on Joe Bookie.

plated by two Princeton tax experts.

Classic example is Kalkaska which is listed as receiving $716 in state aid for every $100 raised by local taxation. Wayne County residents, who compare that figure with the $53 they receive from Lansing for every $100 they send, are anxious to revise things in their favor.

"The unhealthy, destructive conditions," says Brown's letter, "is largely traceable to the alarming and fantastic dispersion of state tax collections through uncontrolled and unneeded grants-in-aid and other payments for the benefit of local governments and schools."

"The sales tax provides ample money. Presently there is no semblance of rhyme or reason as to who gets what or why. A more equitable distribution will result in better schools and equal education for all Michigan children. This redistribution of state aid is so glaringly faulty and unacceptably costly to the individual taxpayer that the Congress of Industrial Organization (C. I. O.), women's groups and other organizations are giving their active support."

The Conlin plan makes sales tax diversion more sound financially by requiring that current returns be used as a basis for payment rather than totals from previous years. It changes the present breakdown only slightly: a flat two cents of every three collected is earmarked for schools. Local cities and townships would receive, say they do now, one-half of the remaining penny, minus collection costs. The other half cent goes to the treasury.

Room for honest difference of opinion exists under the American system of government. Whether voters of Michigan will decide in favor of the Conlin plan, the proposals of the Better Schools Committee, or neither is something that they themselves will decide.

TOWNLINE NEWS

Mrs. Frazer Hults
28450 HAGERSTY FARM, 1322-R4

Newcomers to our community are Mr. and Mrs. James Reid and children. They are residing on the farm known to most locally as the Jay Button place.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Hush and children spent Sunday at Inlay City with Mrs. Hush's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hibbler.

Mr. and Mrs. Frazer Hults received word of the serious illness of a former Farmington resident, Mrs. Freeman Butler. The Butlers now live at Roscommon.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Regis spent Sunday at Howell with their uncle, Charles Rogencamp, who is in very poor health. On Thursday evening the Regis will go to Lake Orion for the graduation of their granddaughter, Julie Green. The dates of June 3 through 10 have been set for the Tenth Annual Camp for the Farm Bureau Women. This camp is organized by the women of the Northwest Michigan Farm Bureau and is held at the 4-H Camp at Twin Lakes. The camp is open to all Farm Bureau women.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bidwell, Jr., have sold their home on Lone Lane and will leave soon for the West, stopping off in Colorado.

It requires about 8 tons of coal in the production of each ton of magnesium.

YWCA Golf Tournaments To Go On 'Rain Or Shine'

Rain or shine, YWCA golf students plan to hold their annual tournaments June 13 and 20 at Warren Valley Golf Club.

The annual event is a "field trip under supervision," according to Harriet Howe, YWCA education class coordinator.

"With their golf pros stationed at strategic spots to give them tips on playing, the students will learn the etiquette of the golf course and how to be 'at home' on the greens and fairway," she said.

Around 150 persons who have taken the YWCA golf classes at Central, Norwica and Dearborn branches and Northwest Center YW, are expected to participate in the tournaments.

Play begins at 3 p.m., with the students teeing off in foursomes at intervals of every ten minutes.

Horse Racing Gets Big Assist from Cameras

No sport in the state gets as much assistance from photography as does thoroughbred racing at the Detroit Race Course. Cameras are used to decide the winner of all close finishes.

Eight motion picture cameras film every step of every race and films are ready two minutes after the finish in case the stewards want to decide on a foul or protest.

Horse identification is particularly established by photographs. TV and newsmen use the movie camera for regular coverage.

Newspapers shoot uncounted dozens of still pictures, and the Detroit Race Course itself is making a colored, sound promotional movie.

Almost 80 million tons of coke from coal was produced last year, a 16% increase over 1952.
