

New Courses Offered At Farmington YMCA

FARMINGTON A nationally recognized study skills and college adjustment course will be offered this summer by the Farmington YMCA.

Announcement of the course, to be known as "How to Study in College," was made by Gary L. Unruh, executive director of the "Y."

The program will be conducted at the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College and will run from June 18 through June 21. A fee of $30 has been set for members of the "Y" and $25 for non-members.

Unruh said, "Considering the high cost of college education and the low cost of the program, attending the program may turn out to be the best insurance a family can buy."

The instructor for the course will be Prof. Howard Murdock, author of the course.

Unruh stressed that "the program is open only to 1973 high school graduates and current college students."

The course is not remedial! In fact, a study conducted by

Y Girls Top Tourney

FARMINGTON The Farmington YMCA girls' gymnastic team swept the first place prizes at the final meet held by the girls' gymnastics league. Besides winning the first place trophy for team competition, the Farmington Y won first place awards in the three age divisions in the all-round competition.

In the all-round competition, which consists of four events - the floor exercise, balance beam, uneven bars and vault - Kathy Temple of Farmington won first place in the nine and under age class, winning each of the separate events.

In the 10-12 age group, Kathy Purcell also won first place in each of the events,
