Plan On Building Picnic Table Now

Ever thought of building that picnic table yourself for the home, the cabin up north, or cottage on the lake?

There's no reason to go through another summer without a table, and now is the time to start planning for it, suggests Arthur T. Witcox. Michigan State College park management specialist. It know-how is the only reason for got building it, there's no cause to worry there.

Wilcox, in cooperation with the American Institute of Park Executives, has written a builetin on the design, construction and maintenance of picnic tables.

The publication shows how to choose materials and how to build it, so it will be safe, simple, pleasing and confortable.
