It's Our Opinion

The Decision . . .

of the Farmington Township Board to investigate the possibility of imposing tighter restrictions on the development of new subdivisions is, we believe, symbolic of the type of foresight that is needed now and in the years to come.

What the results of this investigation will be, no one knows as yet, but it is definitely a step in the right direction. The need for greater protection has been clearly illustrated in recent months throughout many sections of the township. It is essential to the present and future health and welfare of the community.

Proof of the existence or establishment of adequate sewer and water facilities as well as proper roads in new subdivisions before a plat is approved is not only sound protection to the prospective home owner but to the entire township as well. Such a program will go a long way toward eliminating future problems. Fortunately, the majority of the developments are already complying with the desired standards. But there have been some in the past who have not been as anxious to construct progressive and healthful communities.

The establishment of tighter restrictions need not retard the growth of the community or extend home ownership beyond the reach of the average citizen. It would, however, eliminate in the future many of the serious problems which exist in the township today.

This is but a part of the planning procedure which must be adopted if present and future residents are to be protected and if the Farmington community is to be the kind of a home that we all want it to be.

It Is Gratifying . . .

to receive comments from time to time on the subject of improvement of the Farmington community and particularly Farmington's Home Community Newspaper.

When a citizen takes the time to sit down and spell out a large number of constructive suggestions, we know he is definitely interested, and we appreciate it. This type of participation is what makes better communities and, along with it, better newspapers. It is impossible to over-emphasize the importance of citizen participation in all activities. This is particularly true in a suburban community where there are so many interests and so many diversions. In turn, it is impossible to over-emphasize the relationship between the newspaper and the community.

One must have the support of the other if the team is to move forward. Both must have moral and financial support if they are to grow and prosper. This can come from only one source, . . . citizen participation. In order to secure this participation, we must seek it individually and collectively. This, The Enterprise has attempted to do from time to time without too much success. However, in recent months we have received a number of constructive suggestions, which we will attempt to put into effect.

Only through your comments can we determine what you want and how you want it . . . so we sincerely hope that you will keep them coming. The speed with which these suggestions are carried out will depend to some extent upon the amount of cooperation received. The receipt of information about groups and individuals in the community, requests for facts on various community subjects, suggestions for local feature material, and encouragement of greater merchant participation is essential to the building of a better newspaper and a better community.

Most of us have made a sizeable investment in Farmington . . . it is up to all of us to protect and strengthen it.

The Man From Wisconsin . . .

seems to be having a little trouble staying in his chair since the hot lights and equally hot charges have switched over to his side of the table.

Senator McCarthy is used to the lights and the charges, but not from this new angle. A public censure hearing against himself is something uncomfortably different to the man from Wisconsin. It is so different, in fact, that once last week he did what many of his disgruntled principal subjects would have liked to do many times . . . namely turned his back on the investigators.

This does show, among other things, that the Senator can be moved even if it is from a witness chair, and adds considerable meaning to the old saying about tasting your own medicine.

Who'll We Send In Next?

Death of a Michigan child, whose need of attention, emphasizes a basic state.

It is a problem that takes up tremendous personal significance, engendering both anxiety and anger in the individual who is faced with the need for a doctor and is unable to engage one.

Investigation by the State Board of Registrations in Medicine in the case of the Hazel Park four-year-old indicated that the parents had delayed so long in calling a doctor that it's questionable whether she could have been saved; that a doctor who was called instructed the parents to take the child to a hospital.

The important point is that no doctor could be found to attend the little girl.

There are fewer medical doctors in Michigan now than in 1912, a war year, according to the federal Public Health Service. Latest figures for the state show that in 1942 there were 131 doctors for every 100,000 people. In 1949 there were only 111. Another table shows that there was one doctor for every 331 people in 1945; in 1949 one doctor was available for every 394 people.

An editorial in the Ingham County News in Mason pointed out that there are fewer doctors per capita in Michigan than in Ohio, Detroit Free Press stated editorially: "The shortage of doctors was cited repeatedly at the National Governors' Conference on Mental Health as one of the main reasons proper care for the mentally ill is lacking."

"It seems obvious to me," says Dr. A. C. Furstenberg, dean of medical school at University of Michigan, "that we need more doctors. If you can't find one when you're sick, the law of supply and demand is fundamental and easily understood by anyone. If a doctor is not available when his services are needed, it's a tragedy."

There are two facts in our world today which, I feel, must be given high priority in the minds of every American, young and old. Our survival depends upon it. The facts are: (1) The world-wide Communist conspiracy, whose primary objective is to conquer the world by conquering the world. (2) Communism's Fifth Column force in America is more powerful and a greater menace today than ever before. During the next few weeks this column will discuss these two facts and what American citizens can do about them.

First, let's document our facts. FACT NO. 1 - Communism is conquering the world:

A special sub-committee of the U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee has officially charted the world-wide growth of Communism, from a handful of Bolsheviks in 1917 to the enslavement today of more than $10,000,000 people in 11 countries, and the perfection of a Fifth Column of 5,000,000 hardened, disciplined conspirators working inside the U. S. to overthrow the government.

In the few months since the Senate Committee published its report, Communism, aided by its Fifth Column inside the government of France, has taken over half of Indo-China and is expected to gobble up the remaining half as it consolidates its newest conquest. With the vast manpower of Red China and with a Red Indo-China flanking southeast Asia, the huge nation of India, with its millions, becomes vulnerable, and with it is the whole of Asia.

In Europe, meantime, the major nations show definite signs of weakening before the rising might of the Communist giant. This weakening has been achieved by infiltration of Reds in the European nations, their cunning propaganda, and their insidious seizure of political power. The U. S. Senate committee reports there are 450,000 Communist conspirators in France with less than 100,000 actually holding seats in the French Assembly; that in Italy there are 1,700,000 card-carrying Reds, with 218 congressmen in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies. As this column is written, the leaders of England's Socialist-Labor Party - Aileen, Heran and others - are on a good-will tour to China, now being towed to Communist's new strong man, Red Dictator Mao Tse-tung.

Now let's examine FACT NO. 2 - the Communist Fifth Column in America is more powerful and a greater menace today than ever before: Attorney General Herbert Brownell was interviewed by editors of the U. S. News and World Report. They asked: "Is the Communist Party (within our country) more or less active. Mr. Attorney General, what do you say, a year ago? What does the FBI find on that?" The Attorney General replied: "They think it is a greater menace now than at any time in the past. (Communist conspirators) are better organized and detection is more difficult."

And Attorney General Brownell could have added a fact which Philipbrick, who was an FBI counteragent in the Communist underground for nine years, always emphasizes whenever he is asked to get people to listen: "The truth of the matter is, we have not yet begun to win. We have not turned the tide. We are still losing."

Making preparations for the signal for internal revolution or for the big Soviet strike against the U. S. A., are the Fifth Columns in South and Central America. (Continued on Page 3A)

Quickest remedy seems apparent at Wayne University. "At the present moment, we have physical facilities for taking 100 students per class," states (Continued on Page 3A)

Looking Back Through The Enterprise Files

Twenty-five years ago, (September 10, 1929) Tax For Farmington Drain
Probable amount of assessment for the proposed Farmington Storm Sewer was revealed to members of the City Commission Monday evening by the County Drain Commissioner and two assistants. According to calculations, an assessment of $8 per lot each year for a one year period would be necessary for construction. This is based on figures for an average 20 x 100 foot city lot. These amounts are for construction only. Interest on the bonds would, on a 30-year basis, about equal the construction cost. The total cost would thus be about $18 per lot per year in the city and about $700 an acre within the drainage area in the township of Farmington.

Battle Sanitary Ordinance
A vigorous struggle in court against enforcement of the City of Farmington's sanitary ordinance, passed last year, is anticipated. Four property owners against whom complaints have been made state that they plan to contest. The property owners, all living near the center of town, will contest on the grounds that the city itself does not have facilities enough to enable compliance with the ordinance.

TEN YEARS AGO (September 21, 1944)
Clarenceville Schools
Due to a continuing sharp yearly rise in the Clarenceville School District, more classroom space is needed. According to M. J. Teiser, Superintendent of Schools, a total of 1,120 pupils are now enrolled. This is an increase for this year of approximately 160 students. An election, at the request of the Federal Government, has now been set for October 11 for the purpose of authorizing the School District to issue bonds to provide for the District's share to make a six room addition to the present school at 26210 Middlebelt.

Farmington P. T. A. News
A very large crowd greeted the old and new teachers as they were introduced at the first meeting of the Farmington Parent Teachers Association held Tuesday evening in the high school cafeteria. After an introduction of teachers, a report on the summer recreation program was given. The one-day school made plans after noon engineers another summer program next year.

FIVE YEARS AGO (September 22, 1949)
Township Bonds
Immediate action will be taken by the Farmington Township Board to speed emergency repair of roads in the township not already accepted by the Oakland County Road Commission, the Board announced at its regular meeting Tuesday evening. No definite promises were made on when work would be done nor how extensive the project would be. Statements will not be made until after road engineers now investigating the situation have completed their cost estimates.
