bout is now over and the feature event is about to begin. If past experience means anything, it will be a real battle right up to the final gong.

No one can predict just how the fight will come out, but the preliminary looked mighty encouraging. There is more than just a title on the line. The voice and the determination of a free community is at stake. The strength of that voice will be the true measure of victory. Will it be strong and resolute or weak and inconclusive The answer is up to you!

The big battle for ballots is now on. Not just the fight between parties and candidates but the all-out offensive to build up a new record vote on November offensive to build up a new record vote on November 2. It isn't an easy fight as history has proved, but many hope this year will be different. They have found encouragement in the unusually heavy registration period just completed. They have found hope in the growing interest being shown in this coming election.

the growing interest being shown in this coming election.

The battle for ballots . . . the appeals, the pleas and, yes, even the threats, seem so unnecessary in a freedom-loving nation such as ours. Yet, it seems essential in order to protect and preserve the rights and privileges of all the people. This is an individual responsibility which should be as much a part of our lives as eating and sleeping. However, every election sees thousands of registered voters in the Farmington area staying at home or sitting on their hands. As a result, the minority make the decisions and the majority have to take it whether they like it or not. This is not democracy in action.

The difference between an American and a citizen of most any other country is individuality.

The difference between an American and a citizen of most any other country is individuality. You are important as a person, not just a cog in a complicated machine. This can best be exemplified when you step inside that voting booth. Your vote counts just as much and your voice is just as loud as any man or woman in this country. The only time you forsake yourself... the only time you are insignificant... is when you choose to sit it out and let George do your talking for you.

A Lot Of People . . .

missed a lot of show last Thursday evening at the 'ick-off of the Farmington Area United Fund and Community Chest. It is unfortunate that more solicitors did not take advantage of the fine entertainment displayed at the Farmington High School gym.

One thing is certain, if the balance of the drive is conducted with the same enthusiasm as was shown on the stage Thursday evening, success is assurred. Bob Maxwell, the Michigan Barn Dancers and Phil Grard and His Jubilaires, all of WWJ-TV, were terrific, not to mention our own Farmington High School Band. They really got the 1954 campaign off to a flying start.

They really got the 1954 campaign off to a flying start.

We sincerely hope, for the good of the Farmington community, that it will stay that way. Your contributions are needed right here at home, as they have never been needed before. This year, because of the growth of the Farmington area, more money will be required to operate the various agencies from which we all benefit. This is not just a propaganda device ... it's a cold, hard fact. If we are to continue to enjoy better recreation, improved youth activities, and more complete health facilities, we must support our United Fund and Community Chest.

an original conclusion by any means. It has baffled many people for many years.

In an effort to eliminate some of the confusion, both major political parties signed a document that they wouldn't cloud the scene with a lot of mud. But if this seems to be a strange twist, it is only a minor one to say the least. A greater oddity is the current running battle between Vice-President Nixon, Republican, and former presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson, Democrat, neither of whom, incidentally, is a current candidate. The personal blasts fired by and at the two gentlemen have little, if anything, to do with the candidates and the issues involved in the forthcoming election.

with the candidates and the pissues involved in the forthcoming election.

The voters are not interested at the present time in the virtues and the faults of Mr. Nixon and Mr. Stevenson. They want the facts and they want them straight. But this isn't strange or bewildering enough for the great game of politics.

Tax author in the legislature already are planning to extend $32,000,000 business activities tax beyond its June 15 deadline.

Senator Carlion H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), considered a tax exsect of some taled, figures it's the way out because nobody has comulained and the money is very nice, indeed.

"Where elsekan we get $32,000,000 a year so easily?" he asked.

The tax started as an unwanted child two years ago when the legislature was frightened by the deflect of $85,000,000. Gor. Williams pouted that it might help the state's financial position, but let groups are (1) becoming readyit become law without his signature. AHEAD

Many schools throughout America have begun to piace in proper perspective the responsibility they owe to the preservation of our great nation and the political and economic structure which has made it great. An encouraging report on such action has just come to my desk. It is worthy of passing along the control of the preserved on the preserved of the preserved on the preserved announced as the theme for ear: Human Freedom — the End of Education in Our Century.

"At no time in the history of the world," Superintendent Caldwell said, "was there ever a crisis as far-reacing and destructive as the current atrugic between communism and freedom. The current crisis includes more people;
it comprehends more vital issues; t will determine whether the peo de of the world are to be free o ple of the world are to be free or slaves.

"The place of the United States among the peoples of the world makes it imperative for American education to take a long, careful look ahead. Let it be repeated, again and again, that the education and training of this generation of children and youth now in our schools could determine the outcome for the freedom of mankind. The big question is: Can American schools educate and train a generation of men and women who will keep the United States the strongest nation in the world in resources and character? "Can there be any doubt that freedom is the supreme same to see our services and character?

"Can there be any doubt that freedom is the engreme issue of education, into the end of the education into the education and the education into the education and train for atrong character and well-informed, trustworthy citizan-ship?" Superintendent Caldwell, pointed out 'some things we can do better than we have been dolong them."
