

REMEMBER BLACK TUESDAY?—Hundreds of dark-suited men and cortege-like lines of autos jammed Wall Street 25 years ago October 29, as bewildered investors witnessed the beginning of the disastrous stock market crash which was to usher in the biggest U. S. depression in history. While stock tickers lagged hours behind, a record 16,000,000 shares changed hands at the beginning of the financial debacle which was to eventually effect 25,000,000 people, and involve an estimated loss of some $50,000,000,000 in 1929-31.

Labels On Rayons Give Care Guide

Stop being disappointed in color changes when washing rayons; Look for labels when you buy; Then listen to them. Acetates and rayons carry new labels which show how they are to be laundered, says Mary Ellen Carlson of the Michigan State College department of textiles and clothing. L22 is the name for the new specifications on labels of fabrics or ready-made apparel containing 50 per cent or more rayon or acetate. But L22 is voluntary, cautions Miss Carlson. You, the buyer, will have to look for and ask for the labels and they will be put on.

When you buy a fabric you want to know if it will shrink, if it's colorfast, if it must be dry cleaned, or if it's weak when wet. L22 will answer these questions. These labels are traffic-light colors. Green means go-ahead washing in hot water — up to 160 degrees F. Amber cautions you: warm water — up to 103 degrees F. Stop when you see the red label — dry or wet clean only.

L22 is based on performance rather than how the clothing is made. You are more interested in the colorfastness to sunlight in a fabric used for bathing suits than one used for pajamas.

Success of L22 is up to you, warns Miss Carlson. Ask for it when you buy rayon or acetate
