

First Federal To Continue Open House Thru Nov. 10

So many people have responded to First Federal's 20th anniversary open house that it has been decided to continue the celebration through Wednesday, November 10, it was announced by Mr. Russell M. Mayhew, manager of the Redford branch at Grand River at Michigan.

Since the anniversary open house began October 10, people visiting First Federal offices have been presented with a complimentary copy of Edict A. Guava's favorite verses. First Federal reports that 25,000 copies of this 32-page book were given out in a hurry, thru 40,000 more, and a third printing of books has been needed to accommodate a steady flow of visitors to all First Federal offices.

The people at First Federal's seven offices feel that they are doing a mighty worthwhile job in encouraging the public to save. During the anniversary celebration, the rates on all savings accounts are being held at their lowest.

BIRTHSTONE FOR NOVEMBER IS GOLDEN TOPAZ

November's birthstone, the golden topaz, is a clear, glowing emblem of fidelity and true friendship. Sifting this month's birthstones are distinguished persons from both past and present — poet Robert Louis Stevenson, explorer and colonizer Daniel Boone, and beloved New England author Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Today most of the stones the jeweler knows as topaz actually are members of the quartz family, according to the Jewelry Industry Council. Chemically, this stone is a combination of oxygen and silicon and the cause of its color is unknown.

Quartz topaz ranges in color from the palest yellow to deep sherry brown. Adaptable to many types of jewelry designs for both men and women, the topaz is particularly effective when set in modern multi-colored gold mountings. A handsome ring stone, it can be carved into cameo and intaglios. Combinations of two shades are particularly effective.

LEADING ARTISTS TO EXHIBIT WORKS AT CRANBROOK

A double-barreled design exhibition presenting works by two of the world's leading artists will open Saturday, November 6, in the lower gallery of the museum of Cranbrook Academy of Art, curator Eva I. Gatling has announced.

The show, to be on view through December 15, will display ceramics, flatware, furniture, hardware, photographs, paintings and photographs by George Kepner and Gio Ponti. It is being circulated nationally by the Institute of Contemporary Art, Boston.

A little fact is worth a whole jumbo of dreams.

Speak At Democratic Rally

Strolling Around In The Southeast

"Serving the Area Between 8 and 0 Mile From Tuck to Inkster Road"

The Opti-Mrs. Club of Clareville will sponsor a hard line square dance on Friday, November 5, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall at Seven Mile and Grand River. Everyone is invited. Refreshments will be served.

Danny Courtney, the son of Mrs. Ronald Courtney of Waldron Street, was a happy little fellow last week. Danny was able to return to his classes at Edgewood School where he is in his first grade. He has been suffering from rheumatic fever since the early part of last July, but is now fully recovered.

The Mary - Martha Circle of Clareville Methodist Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ruth Robertson on York Street. Plans were made for a chili supper to be sponsored at a later date.

Joan Doyle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Doyle of Rensselaer Street, left on October 26 for the war training center at Fort McClellan, Alabama. Joan is a graduate of Clareville High School.

The Brownies of Troop 5 held a Halloween party on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Edw. J. Gertrude Weak of Elford Street. Games were played and refreshments were served to the 18 Brownies who were present.

Visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Gross of Tuck Road, is Mrs. Cora Han of Hoopston, Illinois.

The Esther Circle of Clareville Methodist Church met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Wilma Arnesman. There were 17 members present and plans were made for a "penny supper" to be given in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shaw received word from their daughter, Marion, saying that she had arrived safely in Korea. Marion is a Methodist missionary and will be in charge of the Korean Orphanage.

The Explorer Scout Troop 109 enjoyed a hay ride last Saturday night. Following the ride, they had a picnic and the remainder of the evening dancing. On Sunday afternoon they held a bicycle race covering approximately 12 miles.

Just a reminder. Bring the kiddies to the Clareville High School to see "Wixie of Wixie Wonderland" on November 5 and to enjoy the carnival.

The Little Caneel Choir of Clareville Methodist Church had a Halloween party on Wednesday afternoon. Prizes for best costumes were won by Carol Ann Gay and Brian Lovell. It was also Wilma Arnesman's birthday and the boys and girls of the choir surprised her with a big birthday cake, cards and presents.

Several friends and relatives dropped in on Mattie Spies, who lives on Rensselaer Street, Saturday night to help her celebrate her birthday.

LESS DAYLIGHT, NEW SKY SIGNS MEAN WINTER IS COMING

The rapid shortening of the days from now until the middle of December will be the astronomical feature during November, according to Hazel M. Losh, University of Michigan associate professor of astronomy.

The sun will be moving south this month, causing a decrease in the daylight hours. By the end of the month the day will have shortened to about nine hours and 20 minutes and the sun will be swinging in a very short arc across the sky in its daily path.

In the evening sky, Mars will still be with us. Moving steadily eastward among the stars it will be on the meridian around sunset and with no other bright objects in view, it may be easily identified by its orange color. Jupiter will be rising at about 10 p.m. and will be a bright object for the rest of the night.

The sky will be liberally dotted with familiar constellations during the evenings. Orion will dominate the eastern horizon, but when he comes up at 9:00 p.m. Always easily recognizable by the unmistakable three "Belt Stars" arranged like clasp in the sky, Orion points upward through these stars to Aldebaran, bright orange star denoting the eye of Taurus the Bull, which also points downward to the Dog Star, Sirius, brightest star in the whole sky, rising at about 10 o'clock.

Another well-known constellation will appear in the eastern sky is Gemini, the Heavenly Twins. Two almost parallel lines of stars make up this constellation. High above the two bright stars of Castor, blue-white, and Pollux, faintly yellow.

Do It Yourself Hanging Large Wall Mirror Easy, Inexpensive

It used to be that the cost of installing a large wall mirror was as much as the mirror itself, but now you can hang one yourself in less than an hour with no call for special skills or tools.

By using special brackets, you can install any mirror up to 50 inches wide with the aid of a yardstick, level and screwdriver. And all the manual help you'll need is in fitting it into place if it's too heavy.

There's one thing you ought to watch. See that you position the mirror just right so it will hang straight.

First, figure out where you want the mirror. Using a yardstick and pencil, indicate on the wall the approximate mirror location. To set up the bottom bracket, use a level and make a guide line on the wall where the lower edge of the mirror will hang.

Then place the lower edge of the bracket (with non-adjustable clips) along the guide line. Arrange the bracket so clips will be equidistant from the edges of the mirror. Now re-check position with a level and fasten the bracket with screws or toggle bolts.

To set top bracket, measure upward from the lower edge of the bottom bracket the height of the mirror. Mark the height and place the top bracket one-half inch below this line. Check the level and install, lining up the ratchet clips with the bottom-bracket clips.

The fourth step is where you can use help — especially if handling a large mirror. With the top ratchet clips raised, place mirror in lower, felt-padded, clips. Hold top of mirror against upper bracket, slide ratchet clips down in place. That's all.

HIT ANOTHER GOOD OIL WELL IN NEW NORTHVILLE FIELD

Oil began flowing recently from another "good" well in the 10-month old Northville field.

State geologists reported the well producing a restricted flow of 14 barrels per hour and a total of 200 barrels per day.

Six wells are now producing oil in the field, two are producing gas, three are closed but capable of producing gas whenever production burdies can be cleared and two are "testing" and expected to produce oil in the near future.

Since the discovery well was completed in January, 44 drilling permits have been issued for work in the field. Out of the total, 11 wells are now being drilled and 12 have been completed as dry holes. Work has not yet started on the remaining eight.

Wins Spot On Army JV Cross Country Team

Cadet G. L. Jagrowski, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon H. Jagrowski of 28570 Ten Mile Road, recently won a place on the U. S. Military Academy's Junior varsity cross country squad on the basis of his time in running the academy's difficult five-mile course.

His squad, which represents a highly competitive sport at the academy, will participate in seven cross country meets this season.

Jagrowski, a cadet private, was graduated from the University of Detroit High School and attended the University of Detroit. He was appointed to West Point by the Honorable George A. Dondoro, 16th District of Michigan.

Turnout Good For Halloween Parties

Over 550 boys and girls from the Farmington area took part in two Halloween parties held at the Farmington High School gymnasium on Friday and Saturday evening, October 29 and 30. High school students were entertained on Friday evening and Junior High students on Saturday evening.

The students attending consumed nearly 200 dozen doughnuts and over 100 gallons of cider, according to George Weysing, general chairman of the Kiwanis - Student Council sponsored project. Refreshments and funds for decorating the gymnasium were provided by the Kiwanis Club. All plans for the parties, however, were made by the Student Council with Kiwanians and their wives on hand both evenings to help with the activities.

Students at both parties seemed to enjoy themselves, Weysing said.

October 23 week end guests of Mrs. Louis Jennings of Norfolk Avenue were her two sisters, Mrs. Ralph Eisenmann, with her daughter Lois, and Mrs. George Schepfer, with her son and daughter, David and Diane, from Lambertville, Michigan.
