Principal, Coaches Attend Banquet

Max Miller, William Waters, Nick Lane, William Horle, and Arthur Orloske were guests of Dr. John Vos at the annual Athletic Banquet of the Wayne County Association of Physicians and Surgeons of Osteopathic Medicine held at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel December 7.

Van Patrick, local sportscaster, served as toastmaster for the occasion. Present were many high school coaches, and representatives of the Detroit Lions, the Detroit Tigers, and the Detroit Red Wings. Awards were presented to several notables in the sports world.

The program consisted of a fencing demonstration by Mr. and Mrs. Bela DeTuscan, and the showing of films taken from various sports activity in the Detroit area.

Falcon J.V.'s Crumble Under Berkley Attack

The Farmington J. V. team was smothered last Friday by a much stronger Berkley cage team, 64-25.

The J. V. squad found it difficult to keep control of the ball. At the end of the first half the score was 33 to 11 in Berkley's favor.

Berkley scored 21 points to Farmington's 13 in the second half. Bob Berk led the Bears' scoring with 15 points.

Farmington's scoring was paced by Dave Warriner, who had seven points, followed by Louis McClellan, who had six.

Don Schriener and Jerry Flick both had four points while Bob Brewbaker, Dave Byrne, and Tom Smith each had two. Ed Andrews had one.

Captains, Teams Named For G.A.A. Basketball

Captains and teams for the '54-'55 Girls' Athletic Association basketball season were chosen at the meeting of the organization held on December 8.

The seniors are divided into two teams with Joan Packard and Pat Kolar as captains.

Karen Kullgren was chosen to head the Junior team.

The Sophomores have three teams, with Judy Hoonfagle and Mary Urdin being two of them and Mary Ann Ohman and Marilyn Martin co-captaining the other.

The Freshmen also have three teams, with Sue Hynes and Georgiana Brown.

Referee tests were also taken by several girls.

NEW FISH FOOD SPEEDS GROWTH, REDUCES COST

Science is helping Michigan anglers with a happier ending to the fish stories. And at the same time the tax bill for fish hatchery fees is dropping.

Although the trout will be just as hard to catch, he may be bigger, better colored and better tasting. Providing the science in this case is E. G. Grassl, Marshallfield, Wis., chairman, who is working jointly with Michigan State College and the Michigan Conservation Department.

Grassl developed a pellet of grain and vegetable material that takes the place of the old liver and meat ration, standard hatchery feed for the past decade.

"Grassl is a full time employee of the state and is doing additional work towards his doctor's degree in nutrition.

"The new feed works mainly with trout; he also has experimented with feeding pellets to bass minnows and warm-water fish.

"Not only has the new pellet-like the kind you feed to rabbits and livestock - given trout better gains, but it cut the fish division's hatchery food bill $50,000 in a year.

"Grassl fed the food out cut, the new pellet doesn't need the refrigeration, thawing, and trimming, as does the old meat ration. Some ingredients of the new pellet are still secret, but Grassl hints that their use may cut down on cereal grain surpluses.

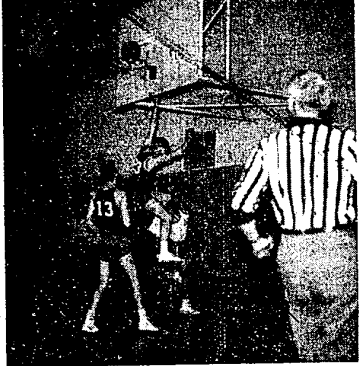

"So when you pull that beautiful, extra-long trout from the stream next year and slip him in the frying pan, compare that better taste - just like the difference between corn and grass-fed beef."

Ice Fishing Activities Begin At Houghton Lake

Ice fishing started on Houghton Lake early last week.

Conservation workers said that by mid-week ice on the popular northern lake was about four inches thick a mile from shore. The entire surface is frozen, and the ice is generally clear of snow and cracks.

Attempt To Block Shot Fails

A Berkley player goes high in an attempt to block a Falcon shot early in the second period of play Friday evening.

The Falcon's effort was in vain. The ball can be seen in the picture above rolling over the hoop and about to descend through the net for another two points for Farmington. After building a substantial lead in the first half, the Falcons slipped back in the second half to drop their first conference game of the season.

Falcons Fall Apart After Strong First Half, Lose To Berkley 61-53

Staging a terrific second-half scoring spree, the Berkley Bears humbled the defending champions, Farmington eagles Friday evening, 61-53.

The Falcons started off fast in the contest and with good offensive play laid built up a substantial lead through the first and second quarters. They left the floor at half-time with a comfortable 33-21 lead.

On their return in the second half, however, they were met and surprised by an inspired Berkley quintet. Paced by the sharp shooting artistry of Louis Lemak and ringer center Dick Haines, the Bears put on a show on one point of the Falcons in a torrid third period. They racked up a total of 22 points while holding the local club to a slim 10.

The fourth period found the Bears getting an even faster pace and completely outplaying a sluggish Falcon team in every department. The Bears pumped in a total of 20 points in a blazing fourth period of action while holding the Falcons to seven.

The loss of Jerry Rice, who went out on fouls in the second half of the game, proved a big hurt to the Falcons. He had kept the Bears' big center, Radatz, well bottled up while in the contest. The absence of John Fawcett, a high scorer for the Falcons, throughout most of the game due to an ankle injury suffered in play against Wayne, also hampered the Farmington offense.

Bruce Shogquist led the Farmington scoring attack with 13 points, followed by Don Robinson with 11 to his credit. Bud Jones collected 9, Ron Donaghue and Jerry Rice, 5 each, and Don Nicholas, 2.

Radatz paced his Bear teammates in scoring with 12 points.

COULDN'T BEAR TO BRING BACK FAWN, SAYS DEER HUNTER

Ralph MacMullan, in charge of the conservation department's Houghton Lake wildlife station, was working at a checking station in special deer season when a hunter drove in with a deer on his fence bearing six-inch antlers.

"Nice young buck," commented MacMullan, prying the animal's mouth open to check its age.

The tooth, however, showed the deer could not have antlers. The animal had fawn teeth, and deer do not grow antlers until their second year.

MacMullan, puzzled, checked again. No retreat, the teeth showed the animal was still a fawn. MacMullan then checked the hunter, who stood about whistling. Still no answer.

Just at the base of the antlers, however, was the key. The hunter had somewhere equipped a pair of antlers and skull plate and had served them neatly into the head of his fawn.

Sheepishly, he explained he just could not bring himself to carry a fawn home on a feeder.

"What would the youngsters say?" he wondered.

Your son is starting to grow up when he stops thinking kissing is for sissies and starts thinking it's for boys and girls.

Trojans Downed By Keego Harbor Quintet, 34-30

In a tight contest Friday evening, the Clarenceville Trojan cagers went down in defeat at the hands of Keego Harbor, 34-30.

After setting a fast pace in the first quarter and outscoring the Keego Harbor quintet 14-6, the Trojan offensive attack began to lose its spark. In the second period they were able to pick up only one more point over the foes in a low-scoring 7-6 canto.

Their good first quarter performance, however, allowed the Trojans to walk off the floor at half-time in possession of a 9-point edge. The score read 21 to 12 in favor of the Trojans.

In the third quarter, the scoring tide turned and Keego went on a rampage to push ahead. It was not until the closing minutes of the game that the Trojan made an attempt to come back. Both Reed and Hanaford racked in two free buckets and Todd added a free throw but it was too little too late and the Trojans went down in defeat.

Glen Reed was top scorer for the Trojans with 12 points, followed by Bob Soop with eight and Dave Hanford with seven.

This Friday the Trojans will journey to Brighton for a contest.

TOP LIGHT-HEAVIES TO BATTLE AT OLYMPIA DEC. 22

Marty Marshall, the sensational Detroit light heavyweight, faces the biggest opportunity, and the toughest test, of his fist career when he battles Harold Johnson at the Olympia Stadium Wednesday, December 22.

This is the first match offered at the Olympia under a new plan of frequent shows at reduced prices. Officials have drastically slashed the price of all tickets for the Olympia's big-time fight shows.

Johnson is an established contender who has met all comers and beaten most of them. Marshall is the talk of fight fans everywhere as a consequence of his explosive out-bout and knockout of Bob Satterfield late last month.

Johnson, at 25, is a veteran of proven excellence. In 55 bouts, he has scored 45 victories, including 23 knockouts. He has beaten lightweight champion Archie Moore, former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles, Nino Valdes, Clarence Henry, Paul Anderson, Ben Lott, Jimmy Byrnes, Arturo Godoy, Chuck Hunter, Elkins Brothers and Satterfield.

Marshall has won 25 out of 36 starts, mostly as a crowd-pleasing prizefighter. His record includes 17 wins on points, and 11 kayos. He has fought two draws and lost six.

Johnson is currently rated No. 1 on the list of challengers for Moore's light heavyweight title, while Marshall is No. 10. These ratings were issued before Marshall stopped Satterfield, who had been ranked No. 7. Marshall will undoubtedly move up on the list of contenders as a result of that triumph.

FARMINGTON FROSH PUT UP STIFF FIGHT, LOSE OUT 38-34

The freshmen lost their first game of the season to Berkley, 38 to 34.

Throughout the whole game it was a terrific battle between the teams. In the first quarter Berkley outscored Farmington 12-8.

In the second quarter Farmington came from behind to take the lead of 17-16, with Fulton making four points. Catterman making three and Nichols making two.

In the third quarter, Farmington made six points, four by Nichols and two by Fulton, but lost the lead, 27-23.

The fourth quarter was a regular scoring spree for both teams. Farmington, narrowed Berkley's lead but lost by four points.

The high point man was Catterman with 10 points.

INTRA-MURAL TEAMS SWING INTO ACTION ON F. H. S. COURTS

The intramural league got off with a bang last Thursday, December 9, with six of the 10 teams in the league taking part.

The league has been divided into two parts. The freshmen and sophomores are in the four-team Red League, the juniors and seniors are in the six-team White League.

In the Red League, Team One defeated Team Four by the score of 40-15. Porter and Waters were high point men for the victors with 17 and 14 points respectively.

In the White League, Team Three walked Team Two 40-6, with Bob Byrne scoring 14 points. Gary Best scored 5 of his team's 6 points and made the only field goal that his team scored, on a basket that was 93% half the distance of the court.

Team Five beat Team One in the remaining game, 20-17. Platz and Landauer scored 6 points a piece for the victors and Oldfield had 11 points for the losers.

The teams that did not play last week will see action tonight.

ICE FISHING TIME IS NOW AT HAND, AUTHORITIES SAY

The ice-fishing brigade, as many a crew of anglers as ever batted a book, will soon slide into action. Last year, first ice fishing in Michigan was reported on December 24, but this year the federal weather bureau reports temperatures during the first week of December were much lower than in 1953. The average low for the first six days of 1953 was 32 degrees at Marquette and 36 degrees at Alpena. This year, the average low at both Marquette and Alpena during December was 22 degrees.

So tip-ups and shanties and ice-ice noses and ice-cold feet will soon again be in vogue.

The conservation department reports no important change in regulations from last year. Bass will be legal until December 31, as usual, and spearing without lights is again legal on muskellunge in January and February. The usual limit of two lines per angler prevails.

CLARENCEVILLE JV TEAM DOWNS KEEGO HARBOR FIVE 36-31

The Junior Varsity Trojan cagers recorded a 36-31 victory over the Keego Harbor J.V.'s Friday night in a rough and tumble contest.

A fast pace was set in the opening minutes of play and was maintained throughout most of the game. Speed and control of the ball in using the fast break proved a big asset to the Trojans and they walked off the floor at half-time leading 19-16 over the strong Keego Harbor team.

Following a similar pattern of play throughout the second half, the Trojans continued to hold a slight edge throughout the game.

Dave Deultt paced his Trojan teammates and was high scorer in the game. He was followed in scoring by Harold Dorman.

Faculty - Alumni To Meet In Cage Battle At Cville

At 8:00 p.m. Saturday the Clarenceville High School teachers and recent alumni of the school will meet in a basketball contest at the school gymnasium.

The public is invited to the contest, which should prove to be quite an enjoyable and interesting affair. Funds raised will be turned over to the Athletic Department for equipment at the school.

Sports Flash!

In a tough area rivalry contest Tuesday evening, the Farmington Falcons dumped the Clarenceville Trojans basketball team 56-39. The game was a non-conference tilt.

Jerry Rice and Bud Jones paced the Falcons' quintet, each pouring in 15 points to almost equal the efforts of the entire Trojan team.
