

FEWER HUNTERS, FISHERMEN IN '54, SURVEY SHOWS

Not so many persons hunted and fished in Michigan during 1954 as did in 1953, but the difference was slight.

State conservation workers say there were about as many, and in some cases more, out-of-state hunters and fishermen in Michigan during the year, but that fewer residents went afield.

Final totals have not been recorded, but it is expected that both hunting and fishing license sales slumped probably less than two or three percent.

During the last several years, there has been a continuing trend of increase in license sales, believed to be in keeping with general population increases.

A complete summary is expected sometime in the spring.

Diphtheria Cases Soar In State

Fifty cases of diphtheria have been reported in Michigan for the first eleven months of 1954, according to Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the Division of Disease Control of the Michigan Department of Health.

This is a marked increase over 1953 when only 12 cases were reported for the full year.

"Although diphtheria is one of the old diseases that has been successfully controlled, we still cannot ignore it," Dr. Leeder said. "The low case rate in recent years has given people a false sense of security."

The tremendous reduction in diphtheria over the years has actually eliminated one of the most important factors in maintaining immunity. Dr. Leeder pointed out that when a person who has been immunized comes in contact with a diphtheria case or carrier, that contact serves to raise the immunized person's level of resistance to the disease.

With fewer cases of diphtheria, Dr. Leeder explained, "the possibilities of receiving such a 'booster' through contact are reduced and it becomes necessary for immunized persons to receive more shots."

"Although we have called diphtheria a childhood disease, it is becoming a problem of teen-agers and young adults," Dr. Leeder added. "The explanation is that infants receive diphtheria shots but then lose their immunity or protection as they get older and are not given these 'booster' doses."

Usually an infant receives the first dose of diphtheria toxoid at the age of three months, followed by a dose at four months, and finally the third dose at five months. Since the big drop-off in protection takes place at about three years of age, it is a good practice to give another dose at that time followed by an additional dose just prior to reaching school age.

Dr. Leeder emphasized, however, that we have arrived at the point where it is advisable to receive another booster dose at 10 years of age and we are probably approaching the time when booster doses will have to be given to adults.

"It is very important that we maintain a high level of immunity against diphtheria," Dr. Leeder said. "Failure to do so could mean the return of the disease as we have known it in the past."

RECORD NUMBER OF BABIES BORN IN STATE IN OCTOBER

More Michigan babies were born in October this year than in any other month on record since 1887, the first year of record in Michigan.

October's record-breaking total of 17,406 registered births was followed closely by the 17,130 births recorded in August this year. Babies are being born at the rate of 27 for every thousand persons in the state.

Populationwise, Michigan continues to be the most rapidly growing state among the North Central states. From 1950 to July, 1953, the state's population increased from 5,211,746 (U. S. Census), 5,852,000, an increase of 7.5 per cent.

This year Michigan's population passed the seven million mark. By 1960, the population of the state is expected to reach eight million.

Statistics of the Michigan Department of Health estimate that the total number of births in Michigan for 1954 will be 192,000, an increase of about 10,000 births over 1953, the record year to date for number of births registered in Michigan.

OFFERS TIPS ON PREDICTING COMING WEATHER

Anyone can predict fairly accurately the coming weather in Michigan, according to Dr. Everett R. Phelps, professor of physics and astronomy at Wayne University, the popular TV weatherman for WJMG-TV, Channel 2, Detroit.

Dr. Phelps says Michigan's weather today can usually be predicted by what Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and northern Illinois experienced the previous day. Conditions recorded on a weather map are good estimates of the coming weather.

Sudden pressure and temperature changes cause Michigan's frequent thunderstorms, according to Dr. Phelps. Occasionally rapid air circulation arises within a storm and becomes a tornado. Michigan tornadoes usually occur in the spring, particularly in May.

Low pressure areas and the passage of cold and warm weather "fronts" also bring storms. A weather front is the dividing line between two masses of air at different temperatures. A storm occurs 50 to 150 miles ahead of warm or cold fronts and often 100 miles behind a cold front.

favor of bingo during the campaign was:

"If Michigan can control legalized gambling at the horse tracks, why not if the same is bingo?"

Now that these election battles are past, one legislator is carrying the torch against all gambling. Rep. Willard I. Howerman (R-Lansing) said he would ask the legislature to outlaw "pork" by mutual betting at the race, wiping out a multi-million dollar operation.

Michigan gets up to $7,000,000 a year from the tracks in taxes. Howerman said:

"That's a paltry sum when morals of our citizens are involved."

PRISONS AND MENTAL HOSPITALS are both overcrowded in Michigan and a battle is brewing over who will get the 200-bed addition to the Jona State Hospital for the Criminal Institute.

"We want it all," said Corrections Director Gus Harrison.

He has a law on his side, one passed two years ago which said that the addition would be turned over to the use of the corrections Department. Mental Health Director Charles F. Wagg said:

"We also need more space, and we shall see."

Louis Graham of Mayfield Avenue is recuperating from a painful shaking up recently received when the car he was driving was rammed into by another vehicle and badly damaged.

HINTS ON HAIR CARE OFFERED BY U-M SKIN SPECIALIST

"Brunette or blond, curly or straight, hair is a constant problem," says a University of Michigan skin specialist.

In a recent medical talk, Dr. Thomas G. Jensen of the U-M Medical School, discussed "Problems in Care of Hair and Scalp." Dr. Jensen said that, contrary to popular belief, cutting or shaving of hair does not significantly alter its growth. "The only reason for cutting hair should be comfort and appearance."

The U-M doctor also had this to say about hair and scalp treatment:

"If you have noted any skin changes following the use of home waves or dyes, it would be wise not to use them again. Severe reactions could follow continued use."

On baldness, he said: Little can be done for hereditary baldness. Don't be misled by advertisements claiming a cure for this type of baldness. "Recognize the inevitable," declared the doctor, "and adjust accordingly."

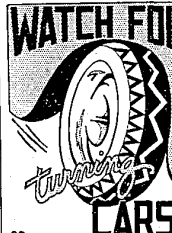

On temporary baldness: The sudden onset of baldness seems to be connected with emotional disturbance. But, said the U-M specialist, only in about one percent of these cases does the condition persist.

On dandruff: In simple cases, shampooing seems to be the best means of controlling the condition. It is wise, he stated, to shampoo your hair brush at the same time.

Nearby Lakes Prepare For Ice Skating Rinks

At Kensington Metropolitan Park near New Hudson, a new ice shaver to smooth the ice will be in use on the skating area in Kensington this winter. The rink is lighted and shelters are nearby. Thousands of fishermen are expected to dot the lake as soon as the ice is thick enough.

Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville will have two ice skating rinks this year. A second pond, below the one made last year, has been dammed and lighting for night use is being extended to this area. Hockey as well as free skating is popular in this park.

Streets these days are crowded with both carborne and walking holiday shoppers. Many accidents are caused by pedestrians walking into the path of turning cars. Due to the added street congestion, Automobile Club of Michigan urges all pedestrians to be extra watchful during December.

Persons With History Of Malaria Banned As Donors

Any person with a history of malaria at any time will be declined as a blood donor until further notice. This announcement was made by Dr. Ernest Bauer, chairman of the American Red Cross blood program of Oakland County, as a result of a letter from Dr. Earl R. Harris, director of the Detroit Regional Blood Center.

The reason for the order of effective immediately is that blood from such a person cannot be used as whole blood for transfusions. Dr. Bauer said that this rule will be in effect in Oakland County until further notice from the Detroit Regional Center.

Oakland County, at this time, is using large quantities of whole blood. According to Dr. Bauer, the rule may be lifted at a time when large amounts of blood are being broken down into blood fractions for civil defense work.
