ORGANIZE NEW SKY WATCH POST IN CITY OF LIVONIA

A new Ground Observer Post is being activated in this area by Jack Hickox, who will serve as supervisor. The new Sky Watch is to be located at the Five Mile-Middlebelt section of Livonia. It is hoped that Hickox will be given the support necessary to make this around-the-clock protectorate at our way of life.

A recent text in Kentucky points up the need of more and more volunteers for this important work. Louisville was theoretically demolished because many of its posts lacked the manpower for a continuous vigil.

The entire country depends on the alertness of the Ground Observer Corps in the northern states for its very survival. Planes from the potential enemy must be stopped short of their targets, and as the northern states lie directly in their path, it is the responsibility of residents in those states to sacrifice the little time it actually takes to be Americanism an established part of everyday life. Veterans' groups, civic organizations and individuals can all afford the time now. The United States can no longer afford to lose a war, even a cold one. Hope, faith and sacrifice are a country's greatest weapons; despair and apathy on the part of local citizens are the enemy's greatest weapons.

Volunteers for Ground Observer duty are asked to contact Vern Willard, Farmington Post, Maynoir 6-1081; or Jack Hickox, Livonia Post, Livonia 4178.

We can't all be heroes, for someone has to sit on the curb and clap as they go by.

Tamm, Lasich Speak' Nuptial Vows Saturday

The Salem Evangelical Church in Farmington was the setting Saturday evening, February 19, for the candlelight wedding ceremony of Helen Lucille Tamm and Edward N. Lasich. The ceremony was performed by Reverend Carl Schultz.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tamm of Thirteen Mile Road and the groom is the son of George Lasich of Farmington and Mrs. Beatrice Marsh of Moundsville.

A gown designed with lace over satin forming a short train was worn by the bride. The skirt was fast with side panels of pleated net and her fingertip veil was held in place by a tiam of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white Chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Lasich was matron of honor. She wore a gown of aqua net and lace and carried a bouquet of yellow roses with a small replica of the bride's bouquet. Her bridesmaids, Viola and Wilma Tamm, sisters of the bride, wore the bridesmaids. They wore gowns matching that of the matron of honor in blue and salmon colors respectively, carried matching bouquets, and wore head pieces of red roses.

Jack Lasich, brother of the groom, was best man, with James Lasich, Theodore Nutter, Richard Bowers and Matthew Staman acting as ushers.

Mrs. Lasich and palms adorned the altar of the church. George Harpans sang "Oh, Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding Tamm wore a dusty rose lace over taffeta dress with navy accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was decorated with white ribbons and bells. Mrs. John Drury, a neighbor, baked and decorated the wedding cake which adorned the table.

After the reception the bride changed to a navy blue suit with navy accessories for her wedding trip.

Fuel Oil Truck Ends Up In Ditch

This is not quite the place to be delivering oil, but it is where the fuel oil truck owned by Gulf Products distributor Fred Curcio ended up last Thursday morning after tangling with a car. The truck, driven by Harold White of 20835 Orchard Lake Road, was proceeding north on Orchard Lake Road when it collided with a car driven by Bertha Lou Oliver of Detroit, who, according to police, was making a left turn onto Lumar Street in the Bel-Aire Hills Subdivision. The truck went out of control after the collision. Fortunately, no one was injured.

Dear Sir:

There is a grim urgency behind the legislation now before the 84th Congress for the implementation of a sound National Security Training Program. That urgency is the pressure of the march of time. There is simply NO TIME TO LOSE in providing this country with an adequate non-veteran reserve of trained military manpower at this hour of crisis. Time is on the side of the Red aggressors. Every hour of delay on our part is an invitation to disaster.

We are in a period of uncertain world conditions and will be for some time to come. We need a good draft law. We need a short-service plan that is in keeping with the Democratic precepts of equality. We need a law that will give us the maximum amount of protection at the least cost, for a stable economy is as vital to our defense as is the jet interceptor or the Nike.

Local American Commander Joseph DeVriendt and the National Security Chairman Clee Violette have urged strongly that the public support this bill in a letter-writing campaign to the state's two Senators and the Congressman from your district. The bill is labeled S2 in the Senate and HR 1530 in the House of Representatives.

William LeBlanc, Farmington American Legion

Dear Sirs:

In view of the rapidly increasing traffic it seems strange that the parking situation in the city is not attacked with more gusto. Anyone who actually realizes the situation will agree that it is bad now in Farmington, and will get worse.

The site east of Farmington Road, between Thomas and Oakland Roads, is the only logical place for a parking lot on the north side of Grand River Avenue. It is true that some residents may have objections, and they have a right to air what grievances they have concerning such a proposal in their neighborhood. However, this parking problem is something to settle right now, as those who look ahead will agree. It has been done elsewhere, to the benefit of all, and we are sure it will benefit Farmington. There are at least twenty business places directly opposite the proposed site who will benefit, to say nothing of numerous other businesses nearby.

The objections to the proposed lot did not come from the owners of the property where the lot is to be, we understand. Why not bring everybody concerned into the picture?

As to cost, it should not be too great, and the lot can be made to pay for itself. Farmington will have everything to gain and nothing to lose by having the lot, so let's get going and recapture some lost business. In Business Too

INCREASED EFFICIENCY

Electric utilities continue to increase the efficiency with which they burn coal, according to the Federal Power Commission which reports that the average October rate of consumption was down to .07 pound of coal to one kilowatt of electricity, a record low. In October, 1953, a year earlier, it was .12 pounds per kilowatt. In 1920, the rate was three pounds of coal to one kilowatt of electricity.
