

WATCH OUT!

Don't Slip Up In Bathroom Planning

The bathroom, which is the most truly American room in your home, has emerged in recent years from a merely utilitarian place to a status symbol.

As a result, what used to be bathroom "equipment" is now bath "furnishing," and a new profession has emerged -- that of bath designer.

Planning the bathroom in your new home or condominium carefully is more important than ever before. These dos and don'ts come from the Middle Atlantic Plumbing & Heating Council.

Do make sure it's big enough. Just a little more space will give you room enough for a more luxurious tub and a twin-bowl countertop lavatory that will double the bathroom's utility and quadruple its look of elegance.

Do get the best water closet available, a siphon jet. It's quietest, has the best flushing action and is easiest to keep clean. The off-the-floor type makes bathroom cleaning easier. Consider adding a bidet too, the ultimate in personal hygiene.

Don't cut corners on the quality of your faucets or shower equipment. The cheapies have parts that often corrode when they come in contact with water and lose their luster fast.

Don't skimp on the size and quality of the medicine cabinet. It's wonderful to have enough room for all your toiletries.

Do make sure you have enough bathrooms. One for every bedroom is ideal. It's already hard to sell a one-bath home in today's market. Installing enough baths now will enhance not only your family's convenience but your home's resale value as well.
