Girl Scout News

The new Brownie Troop organized in the Clarenceville neighborhood has now held three meetings and already have completed making framed pictures of themselves. They are now working on costumes. Their leader is Mrs. Haas of Detroit and their co-leader is Mrs. Morans of Poinciana.

Troop 4 invested seven new Brownies this month. Mothers were present at the investiture. At the Troop's monthly birthday party Judy Russell's and Bonnie Marshall's birthdays were celebrated with ice cream and cake served. In April mothers of girls in the Troop are planning to taking their daughters to a movie in Detroit.

Brownie Troop 11 visited Arnold Home for the Aged when the girls sang for the patients and presented favors made by them. Other visits are now being planned with enthusiasm.

Older girls in the troop are concentrating on preparing to fly up into Intermediate Scout ranks. Younger girls are doing research on humming birds. Pictures and information gathered is being exchanged. The entire Troop made feeders for humming birds to encourage them to their yards this summer.

On April 7 the Troop took a guided tour conducted by a naturalist through Kensington Park. An investiture was conducted by Marsha Stumpf and Sandra Carly and welcomed Connie Aldrich, Alice Warren and Gay Taggart to their first meeting.

Intermediate Troop 12 accepted two new fly-ups from Brownie Troop 5. They are Barbara Weeks and Joan Koch. Carolyn Potter received her scout pin.

The Troop has adopted a needy family to help in every way possible.

Players Announce
Next Production

The Farmington Players have reached back into the gay nineties and have come up with a well-hoistered, clamorous comedy called "Strange Bedfellows" for their next production. The play revolves around woman suffrage, a hot political issue in the 90's, and develops into an uproarious battle of the sexes.

"Strange Bedfellows" was one of the most delightfully funny plays ever produced on Broadway.

The players are going all out in their search for authentic costumes and Victorian furniture and a lavish set has been built to provide a royal background for this tug of war between the sexes.

The play is being directed by Edward Moseman. The cast includes Dorothy Miller, Max Miller, Hope Nisholt, Howard Richards, Nina Orr, Charles Hannan, Jane Marshall, Norman Raupp, Jr., Geraldine Brock, Bessie Hannan, Lillian Richards, George Nisholt, Kay Cavanaugh, Leonard Stone, Mary Ann Perry, Betty Carter and June Quisenberry.

Presentations of the play will be given on May 11, 12, and 18 and 19. Curtain time will be 8:30 a.m. For ticket information call GR. 4-4666 or GR. 4-6388.

A cancer benefit card party will be given at the Novi Community Hall on Saturday evening, April 22. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served. Mrs. George Waite is chairman of the party.

Summer dresses may not have as many hooks, but they have plenty of eyes on them.

MEMBERS of the Farmington Chapter of the Marygrove College Alumnae Association will hold a get-acquainted tea for junior and senior Catholic High School students and their mothers on Sunday afternoon, April 15, at the home of Mrs. John Allen on Shilawasse Road. Gathering at the home of Mrs. C. M. King, publicity chairman, last week to make plans for the tea were, back row, left to right: Mrs. John Rogers, Mrs.

James Cavanaugh, hospitality, and Mrs. King. Seated are Mrs. George Sullivan, decorations; Mrs. Charles Bergeson, tea chairman; and Mrs. John Allen. Mrs. Charles Audette, in charge of refreshments, and Mrs. James Walsh, in charge of invitations, were not present at the gathering. At the tea color slides of Marygrove College will be shown.

Some of the antiques are being provided on consignment by Charity Crooks, Lyle Ballard and other well known dealers in the area. Some will be donated by Guild members and their friends.

Another feature of the affair will be a handiwork booth with aprons, crocheted and knitted items for sale. There will be a novel plant booth where plant slips will be sold. Home made doughnuts will be right on the spot will be an important part of the baked goods section.

Proceeds from the sales and auctions will be used by the Guild for providing new kitchen equipment for the church.

INSTRUMENTAL STUDENTS TO GET
CONCERT TICKETS

All children in the Farmington School District elementary, junior high and high school grades who are studying instrumental music will receive complimentary tickets to the April 22 Symphony concert to be presented by the Plymouth Symphony orchestra at the High School auditorium at 4:00 p.m.

Members of the Farmington Branch of the American Association of University Women are sponsoring this first Farmington concert for community entertainment. No financial gain is sought. The concert program has been planned to appeal to both adults and children.

To increase the children's enjoyment of the concert, records of the concert music to be played have been purchased and turned over to Mrs. Vineyard, music coordinator for the Farmington Schools. The records are being played for the children in their music classes so that they will be familiar with the music played at the concert.

Tickets have been priced so that all may attend. A special family ticket is being offered to encourage family attendance. Tickets may be secured by calling GR. 4-2326 or GR. 4-0291.
