Sue Andrews Enrolled At Taylor University

Among the 105 students from Michigan enrolled at Taylor University at Upland, Indiana, the middle of last month for the beginning of the fall semester was Jane Andrews of 20925 Metrolview, Farmington.

College officials indicated that enrollment this year had reached a capacity of 553 with all available housing facilities on or near the campus in use. According to President Evan H. Bergwall several applications for admittance had to be turned down. Completion of a men's dormitory and food service center, to start sometime during this academic year, will greatly help the college in handling more students, he pointed out.

Eagle PTA Holds First Meeting

The first meeting of the Eagle School PTA for this year was held on Monday, October 1.

It was a "get acquainted" meeting, but could have been called a "membership drive" since 119 members were signed up that evening.

After the business session, Miss Cottrill, principal, introduced the teachers, many of whom are new to the school this year.

Miss Minnie Zietke, elementary co-ordinator, presented facts regarding "double sessions". She pointed out the fact that actual instruction time for classes on double sessions has been reduced by only a few minutes.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting under the direction of the Mother Vice-President, Room Mother Chairman, Mrs. Carl Monje, while parents chatted with the teachers.

A new trophy will soon grace the walls at Eldon College, advertising art studio. While in Acapulco, Mexico, recently, he caught the largest fish of the month, a 138-pound sailfin that was 10 feet, 8 inches long. He also caught a 125-pounder, and some dolphin and tuna.

The Colters flew to Mexico and divided their 17 days' vacation between the Colleta hotel and the El Mirador, where the natives specialized in exhibition dives from cliffs more than 100 feet high.

Fred and Zella Missal had planned on doing the usual things at the Tax Executives Convention held at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles, California, but their attractive locale proved to be too much for them, so they found themselves visiting Disneyland twice, admiring the 484-45 foot painting of the crucifixion at Forest Lawn cemetery, and spending three days and nights in Las Vegas.

They shared meals with Dinah Shore and husband, George Montgomery, and Edgar Bergen on the way to Las Vegas. While Fred enjoyed seeing Zsa Zsa Gabor, Pearl Bailey, Spike Jones and Guy Lombardo, Zella was more enthusiastic about the million dollars she saw in bank notes, tucked in a golden horseshoe and nicely glassed in, and the steady flow of silver dollars and chips from patron to croupier, and occasionally vice-versa.

Dinner at the Coconut Grove twice, once when the convention was in session and once when a small party enjoyed Hawaiian night, complete with leis for all, and swimming in the Ambassador pool, rounded out their two weeks vacation.

After making a trip to Calumet in the copper country, to visit Jack's mother, Mrs. Clara Richards, who is quite ill, the Richards flew to Fort Worth, Texas, to attend the Public Works Congress.

In Dallas, the Richards visited Jack's niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Townley, Jr., and their two-year-old daughter, Sally. Florence was away by the gold appointments, gold carpet and gold glaze in the First National Bank at Dallas, and found shopping at Neiman-Marcus exciting. Jack became enamored of cowboy hats, and came home with a complete outfit.

Arriving home Sunday evening, September 30, they immediately left for Toledo, Ohio, to pick up their chihuahua, Chi Chi, who had been staying with Florence's sister, Mrs. Robert Warren, and to watch their 19-year-old nephew, Bob Warren, perform his acrobatic tap dance on Ted Mack's amateur hour.

Shirley Smith of Wellington had an inspiration. Watch column for details, and expect your invitation soon. Shirley's mother, Mrs. Garry Parker, arrived here from New York last Wednesday, and is "in" on the surprise.

Please call in news, personal, social or organizational, the early part of the week, if possible? Thank you.

The Woodcreek P.T.A. club had its last fall meal at the home of the Bill Weightmans two weeks ago and is now back on snack rations. Ruth McCarthy made the snack very appetizing, though, serving the gals pink angel food cake topped with rosebuds and the guys chocolate cake topped with fall leaves.

Guests last Thursday were Harry and Ginny Lang from Woodcreek and the Paul Calteys from Maple Road in Bloomfield.

The Norm Szeys entertained 40 couples at a square dancing party, Saturday evening, September 29, including the J. D. Downens and the Robert Swifts, from Woodcreek. Daughter Denise, 11 years old, was the belle of the ball, holding her own with the adults.

Local Junior Chamber Of Commerce To Sponsor Dale Carnegie Course

Sponsored as a public service by the Farmington Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Dale Carnegie Course in leadership, effective speaking and human relations will be offered this fall in Farmington.

As a preliminary to the organization of the new class, a demonstration of the course will be conducted Thursday night, October 25, starting at 7:30 o'clock, at the Farmington High School, it was announced by R. Lewis Brown, local organization's chairman in charge of the activity.

Men and women of Farmington and environs interested in self-improvement are cordially invited to attend the demonstration, without obligation, Mr. Brown said. They will witness an entertaining demonstration of Dale Carnegie's unique effective training methods put on by John C. Tod, regional director for the Carnegie courses.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the course in Farmington because of the need for developing local leadership - a need which exists throughout the country, it was explained by Mr. Brown. "The Dale Carnegie Course," he said, "is aimed at developing in men and women the highest-potentialities in business and the professions - those of getting along with and handling people and of expressing ideas clearly and effectively."

"Business men everywhere are gravely concerned with the shortage of capable executives, particularly junior executives. There are tremendous opportunities for the man or woman who possesses the essential qualities of a good executive."

The Farmington class, according to Mr. Brown, will be taught by the same faculty that teaches General Motors classes in this area.

Mr. Brown said the Farmington Junior Chamber of Commerce is looking forward to a large turnout of ambitious men and women at the local demonstration late this month. Whether or not a man or woman enrolls at this time, he will enjoy a most rewarding evening, he concluded.
